WRITS LIST 136, ONE OF CAPITAL, IN LIQUOR PLOT

Edward O'Connell, District Man, Is Among Those Indicted by U. S.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED AGAINST ALL NAMED

Distributing Organization Extending Over Nation Is Bared in Papers.

14 STATES INCLUDED IN TERRITORY, CLAIM

Brooklyn Company Is Alleged Center of Activities of Accused Group.

New York, June 21 (U.P.).—Federal authorities published today the names of 136 individuals and firms indicted Tuesday in what was claimed to be a gigantic conspiracy to violate prohibition laws.

One District of Columbia man, Edward O'Connell, is among those named in the indictments.

Conspiracy is charged against all those named. In some cases, the Government contends, use of spurious revenue stamps, manufacture of "counterfeit" liquor bottles, labels and corks, and selling and receiving the goods involved, enters into the case.

The extent of the operations charged is gathered from the contention that cases and bottles were prepared to make it appear that rye and Scotch whiskies, rum, brandies and other liquirs had been imported from England, Holland, France, Cuba, Canada and other countries.

Some Names Doubtful.

In some cases names of individuals were not known definitely when the indictments were returned, and they are placed in quotation marks in the list.

Glickstein & Terner, Inc., of Brooklyn, was named by the Government as the pivotal point of the conspiracy which is charged. It is alleged the firm bought equipment from one set of firms and distributed it to other firms throughout the country.

Firms and individuals in fourteen States and the District of Columbia are named. The States are California, Connecticut, Florida, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Texas and Wisconsin.

Among those indicted for selling goods to the alleged central firm—bottles, cases, barrels and so forth—are:

Maryland—Sherwood Distilling Co., Baltimore, and Louis Mann, as active manager.

Pennsylvanians are Named.

Pennsylvania — Overholt Distilling Corporation, Broadford, and "Joseph" W. Parker as superintendent. Brockway Sales Co., Inc., Brockway, and "George" A. Mengle, "Arthur" L. McLaughlin, Fred Marshall and "Joseph" Masbach, as officers. Isadore Sukonik, Philadelphia, dealing as Sukonik Cooperage Co. Diamond Glass Co., Royersford, and "Frank" I. Peterman, "Henry" B. Kastle, "Martin" L. Latchaw and William T. Graff, as officers.

In the second half of the indictments, the following were named as purchasers of materials:

Florida—East Coast Distributing Co., Inc., Miami, and Max Kupferstein and Bertha Kupferstein as managers.

Pennsylvania—Morris Honickman, alias John Jones, alias Samuel Honickman, trading as Aldine Bottling Co., Philadelphia. Samuel Mallinger and Frank Mallinger, Pittsburgh. Joseph Weisberg, trading as Standard Glass & Supply Co., Scranton. "Michael" J. Schreiber, trading as Tri City Malt Products Co., Scranton (formerly in Binghamton, N. Y.).

As stated, in cases where the name was not known definitely at the time, it was inclosed in quotation marks.

Sewer Trench Cave-In Kills 3 Young Boys

Anderson, Ind., June 21 (A.P.).—Three boys, ranging from 7 to 11 years old, were killed here this afternoon when a cave-in of one side of an open sewer trench buried them alive.

The dead are: Eugene Snyder, 11; Frederick Walter Haney, 7, and Charles William Jones, 8. Harold Roselle, acting coroner, said he believed young Haney was crushed to death, while the other two were smothered. The trench was 10 feet deep.

Official Dies, Pilot Hurt In St. Louis Plane Crash

St. Louis, June 21 (A.P.).—Sidney Crutcher, chief inspector for the Curtiss-Robertson Aviation Co., was killed and Alfred Dunlap, 18, a transport pilot, was injured when a plane in which they were making a "maiden trip" crashed near Lambert-St. Louis Field here late today.

The plane had reached a height of about 100 feet when, according to witnesses, the motor "cut-out" the craft overturned and crashed.

Col. J. C. Roop Named U. S. Budget Director

Hoover Choice of Former Dawes Aid Surprise in Capital.

COL. JAMES C. ROOP.

Col. James C. Roop, of Pennsylvania, has been selected as director of the Bureau of the Budget, it was announced at the White House late yesterday.

The office will not be a strange one to Roop, for he is a former assistant budget director, having served from December 21, 1921, to June 23, 1922, when the bureau was young and Gen. Charles G. Dawes, now Ambassador to Great Britain, was the director.

In leaving his private business to become budget director it was said at the White House Col. Roop is making a great personal sacrifice. In other words, he joins the ranks of those self-sacrificing officials whom the President calls the "new patriots."

Recently Col. Roop went to Santo Domingo with Gen. Dawes to establish a budget system in that little republic, and he still is there. It is understood at the White House that he will not be able to come to Washington for three months.

Hence, it is probable that President Hoover, instead of giving Roop a recess appointment, will wait until August, when the Senate returns, and then send his nomination to the Capitol in the regular way.

In the World War Roop first served as a lieutenant colonel in the Engineer Corps. Toward the latter part of the war, however, he was associated with Gen. Dawes in the great task of purchasing supplies for the A. E. F.

When President Harding appointed Dawes the first director of the budget, the latter persuaded Roop to become one of his assistants. He served until the budget machinery had been well organized, and then went back to his private business.

The task of selecting a Director of the Budgte has been one of the most difficult that has confronted President Hoover. Brig. Gen. Herbert M. Lord, the last director, resigned May 31, and since then the office has been in the charge of R. O. Kloeber, assistant director.

Roop's name was never mentioned in the gossip as to who might be appointed. Among those whose names were most prominently mentioned were Herbert D. Brown, director of the Bureau of Efficiency, and Rufus Dawes, brother of Ambassador Dawes.

BUSINESS MAN TO HAVE PLACE IN FARM BOARD

Poll Proves to Hoover That Farmers Want Trade Hints.

PROPOSALS POURING IN FOR GROUP PERSONNEL

Friends Waging Campaign for Their Candidates; De Vault Urged.

NONAGRICULTURALIST MIGHT BE CHAIRMAN

Julius Barnes Is Looming as Likely Member; Grain Scheme Favored.

By CARLISLE BARGERON.

There will be an outstanding business man or banker on the new Farm Board, it was definitely made known yesterday. President Hoover, it was learned, polled the several hundred farm organizations and farm publications throughout the country on the advisability of having such a member, and of the some 100 replies that have been received, all were heartily in favor of it.

The President, it was learned, is taking hardly any steps without consultation with the farm organizations and publications. Agricultural college presidents are also being sought for an expression of their views, especially as regards membership of the board.

It is probably because of this that there have been perhaps more recommendations for membership on the board than any governmental agency ever set up. Several days ago it was made known that more than 200 names have been received.

Dr. De Vault Proposed.

An active campaign is being carried on in behalf of any number of candidates, the most recent one being Dr. S. H. DeVault, head of the department of agricultural economics of the University of Maryland. His supporters are circulating his photograph along with arguments of his qualifications.

The definite statement that a business man or banker of outstanding qualifications will be named to the board immediately suggests the names of Julius H. Barnes and Henry M. Robinson, the latter of Los Angeles. Both of these men are close personal friends of the President.

Barnes, former head of the United States Chamber of Commerce, is an outstanding figure of the grain industry. He served as head of the United States Grain Corporation during the war. Robinson, a lawyer and a banker, served as a member of the Supreme Economic Council at the Paris Peace Conference.

The question about him is as to whether he is yet available for service. Mr. Hoover wanted him to go into his Cabinet, but Robinson had some work back home that he could not leave for some time. It is doubtful if the time has yet arrived when he can join the "new patriots," as Mr. Hoover calls those who are making financial sacrifices to serve him. The general impression has been that Robinson will be about ready when Secretary of the Treasury Mellon leaves.

May Use Grain Corporation Idea.

It is Barnes' Grain Corporation, though, that Mr. Hoover has in mind to bring the farmer out of the rough; or rather, something very much like it. The operations of the grain corporation were highly successful, notwithstanding that about the first howl the farmers let out after the war had to do with the fact that it was so successful even after the tide had turned against them. This was based on envy, how-

RUM WAR, SAYS HOOVER, IS NOT TO EXCEED LAW

International Falls City Council Gets Reply From President.

U. S. PATROL RIDDLES YACHT OF CANADIAN

SLAYING DENOUNCED BY LUTHERAN LEADER

"Savor Too Much of Executions," Writes Dr. Kohn, Head of College.

International Falls, Minn., June 21 (A.P.).—Appeals to President Hoover from the local city council for relief from what was described as "an unbearable situation," resulting from prohibition enforcement activities in this section, brought a reply from the White House today that the Federal Government does not intend in any way to transgress the limits of the law.

The letter from the President, under date of June 18, was in reply to a telegram dispatched by the city council after the slaying of Henry Virkkula, Big Falls confectioner, by a Federal border patrol agent in search of liquor runners.

"I have your telegram of today's date," the President's letter said. "The matter has been referred to the Treasury Department. You may rest assured there is no intention on the part of the Federal Governent in any way to transgress the limits of law."

Another reply was received today from a resolution adopted by the council deploring actions of border patrol agents in this section. It came from Senator Thomas D. Schall, who received a copy of the resolution. Senator Schall's letter characterized the Virkkula shooting as "a most terrible thing," and said that "some means should be found to prohibit a repetition."

Canadian Yacht Riddled.

Windsor, Ont., June 21 (A.P.).—Riddling of a Canadian pleasure craft a few days ago by machine gun fire of a United States Customs Guard boat on the Detroit River was the object of investigation today by Ontario provincial authorities.

Alfred E. Cuddy, deputy commissioner of the provincial police, has been detailed by W. H. Price, attorney general of Ontario, to investigate the incident with a view toward lodging a protest with the Dominion government at Ontario if circumstances warrant.

The boat said to have been fired upon by the United States officers was shown to Cuddy this morning by the owner, who refused to allow his name to be made public. Cuddy said, however, that it was certain the craft never had been used in rum smuggling.

Along with his inquiry into details of that incident, Cuddy is conducting an investigation of the gun battle Wednesday between a rum craft and a speed boat of the customs patrol. If he can determine identity of the rum-runners, Cuddy said, they will be prosecuted for attempted murder in Ontario courts. The rum boat escaped into Canadian waters after disabling the customs boat with revolver fire.

U. S. to Demand Prisoners.

Walter S. Petty, acting collector of customs at Detroit, said today that if rumrunners who fired on the customs boat should be captured in Canada, the Dominion government would be asked to surrender them to the United States.

Petty said extradition of the rum-runners would be demanded on

PRESIDENT OF MEXICO AND CATHOLIC CHURCH END RELIGIOUS STRIFE

Emilio Portes Gil (right), provisional President of Mexico, and Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz Flores (left), papal delegate, who have announced an agreement reopening the Catholic churches in the Southern republic.

Agreement Is Announced by Portes Gil and Papal Delegate.

PRIESTS GIVEN RIGHT TO RESUME SERVICES

WOMEN ARE FREED FROM PENAL COLONY.

Schools Not Permitted, but Door to Relief in the Near Future Is Opened.

Mexico City, June 21 (A.P.).—Simultaneous announcements tonight by President Emilio Portes Gil and Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz, senior member of the Catholic hierarchy in Mexico, informed the country which has been at strife for three years that the long-standing controversy between church and state was at an end.

The archbishop, who was papal delegate for the negotiations, told the children of the church that the priests would resume services in the churches, as they have not done since August 1, 1926. He called on them "to cooperate with all moral efforts made for the benefit of all people of our fatherland."

Women Prisoners Freed.

All women held at the prison colony on the Islands of Las Tres Marias, off the west coast, for violations of the religious laws were ordered released tonight by the department of the interior.

The order did not include Mother Superior Concepcion, who is serving 20 years as "intellectual author" of the assassination of Gen. Obregon, or any others convicted of offences other than violations of laws governing religious activities. There were said to be nearly 100 women at the penal colony who would benefit by the order.

The statement of the president, which the church delegates had seen and approved at a final conference this evening, gave the basis on which agreement was reached on the three principal issues.

Rights Given to Church.

The terms give the church the right to specify those ministers in charge of property who should register under the laws, give it the right to instruct adults, or children within the precincts of the church, although not elsewhere in public or private schools, and stress that under the constitution any citizen may apply at any time for amendment, repeal or passage of any law.

The agreement was broad enough to permit reoccupation of the churches by priests although not a complete settlement of all differences between church and state. The way was left open for future discussion of these if Catholic subjects of Mexico desire to seek a change in the constitution.

The bishops did not state when regular services would begin but it was believed that the priests would begin to reoccupy the churches within a few days. In expectation of a favorable outcome of the negotiations people had thronged the churches of the capital for the past several days.

The president's statement said it was not the purpose of the constitution or the government to destroy the identity of the Catholic or any other church, or interfere in any way with their spiritual functions.

With reference to "provisions of the law which have been misunderstood" the president set forth three points.

Limit on Registering.

1. That the law requiring registration of the priests does not mean the government can register those who have not been named for that purpose by the church authorities.

2. While the constitution prohibits religious instruction in public and private schools, it does not prevent such

SUDDEN RAINSTORM DOES MUCH DAMAGE

Heat Wave Is Temporarily Lifted; Lightning and Water Harm Large.

STREET CARS ARE HALTED

A typical midsummer storm which broke over the city at midnight accompanied by torrential rain and vivid lightning flashes brought temporary relief from the heat wave which has held Washington in its grip for more than a week, but caused considerable property damage in widely scattered sections of the city.

Lightning struck in at least two places, and the rain, which for a time assumed cloud-burst proportions, fell so rapidly that surface sewers were unable to carry it off and as a result streets throughout the city were flooded. Street car traffic was at a standstill all over the city and automobiles were stalled wherever the streets were flooded.

No official figures on the rainfall could be obtained early this morning, but persons who were out in the storm variously estimated the fall as between 1 and 2 inches. The storm was over one hour after it began.

Firemen were kept busy during the height of the storm, answering more than 25 calls in less than that many minutes. At one time half the companies in the department were out, according to the fire board. Most of the calls resulted from flooded cellars, although several were for short circuits and other causes incident to the storm.

Beginning at Third street and Sheridan road southeast, every house for three blocks was flooded and the water was over tops of stranded automobiles.

Lightning struck the house at 15 Dupont Circle northwest, setting fire to the roof. No one was injured. Firemen extinguished the blaze.

Lightning also struck at Thirteenth and I streets northwest.

Water leaking through the roof of the house at 655 B street northwest

GIBSON TO PUT NAVY PLAN UP TO DAWES

Attitude of Congress on Seas' Freedom Factor; Borah-Howard Parley Issue.

STIMSON DENIAL SCANNED

By ALBERT W. FOX.

President Hoover's program for naval reduction, based on a new formula for measuring relative naval strength, has apparently won the support of Premier Ramsay MacDonald to the exclusion of the freedom of the seas plan advocated in the last cruiser bill by the United States Congress. It looks now as if general discussion of a new formula will feature the next Anglo-American discussions of the naval problem.

In line with this program the State Department yesterday announced that Hugh Gibson, American Ambassador to Belgium and chief American representative at the last Geneva preparatory conference, has been directed to go to London and confer with Ambassador Dawes. Mr. Gibson has completed the so-called American yardstick which he sought to have seriously considered at the Geneva conference. He will be in a position to explain the formula in detail to Ambassador Dawes and to assist in the work of persuading Ramsay MacDonald that the new plan offers the best opportunity to get the naval reduction program started.

Meanwhile, the freedom of the seas feature which MacDonald first supported and which would represent a sacrifice of traditional British naval policy, but meet the expressed will of the American Congress, has for the present been maneuvered out of the picture.

Whether it will remain out, or whether leaders in Congress will force its consideration as a necessary prerequisite to any real attempt at naval reduction, appeared yesterday to hang in the balance.

Widely published reports that Sir Esme Howard, the British Ambassador,

HEARING MONDAY SET AS SNOOK IS INDICTED

TRIAL SOON IS PREDICTED

Columbus, Ohio, June 21 (A.P.).—Indicted today on a charge of first-degree murder of Theora A. Hix, 24-year-old Ohio State coed, Dr. James H. Snook, who yesterday confessed he hammered her unconscious and then cut her throat with a penknife "to relieve her of suffering," was held without bond tonight awaiting his arraignment in criminal court here Monday.

The statement Dr. Snook made to authorities yesterday afternoon, confessing that he hammered the girl during a violent quarrel in his automobile on the outskirts of the city and then slashed her jugular vein to end her suffering, was presented to the grand jury by Prosecutor John J. Chester.

Curiosity, aroused by the mystery and the characters in one of the most notable murder cases that ever went on the records in Columbus, was not abated by Dr. Snook's confession. From 9 o'clock in the morning, when the grand jury went into session, until late in the day crowds milled around the courthouse and packed the corridors as close to the grand jury room as they were allowed.

Except during the afternoon when he was taken to city prison to have Bertillon records made, Dr. Snook remained in his cell in the county jail.

Although he had confessed the killing, he refused to signify today what he will plead on arraignment.

After the degree of the charge became know it was learned that Dr. Snook's attorney, former Judge John F. Seidel, his chief counsel, and Attorney E. O. Ricketts may build the defense in the trial upon a plea of temporary derangement.

Such a claim would be based upon the belief that Dr. Snook was not in full possession of his faculties when he drove Theora Hix out to the New York Central rifle range on the night of June 13 and slew her in the midst of a quarrel.

It is believed the date for a special trial will be fixed for some time during the summer.

2 FROM CONGRESS AT DEPRIEST PARTY

Gala Crowd of Colored Folk Attend Entertainment at Auditorium.

RECEPTION AFTER SHOW

Richard Yates and Oscar DePriest, representative at large from Illinois, and representative of the First Illinois District, respectively, were the two members of Congress who attended the musicale and reception at the Washington Auditorium last night given under auspices of a citizens' committee headed by DePriest. In the audience also was E. E. Jones, Register of the Treasury. Morris Lewis, secretary to the colored representative, refused to give out the names of other congressmen who responded to the invitation of DePriest to attend.

It was learned later from Joseph Johnson, veteran clerk in the House of Representatives and Senate, now with DePriest, that practically all of the members of Congress who had been invited had contributed to the cause of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People by purchase of admissions, and that a large number had promised to attend provided Congress did not recess before last night. Johnson stated that there were only two replies from congressmen to the DePriest invitation.

The gala crowd of colored citizens which turned out in support of the Nation-wide drive for a $200,000 fund for defense of the rights of the negro in the courts was estimated by S. W. Rutherford, chairman of the admissions committee, as between 4,000 and 4,500. He predicted that Washington's quota of $5,000 would be raised as a result of the entertainment.

In the box occupied by Representative DePriest were Mrs. DePriest, Mrs. Morris Lewis, Mrs. Mary Church Terrell, Mrs. Charles I. West, Mr. and Mrs. Charles I. West, jr., Mrs. Wilbur Strickland, James Weldon Johnson, Neval H. Thomas, Dr. and Mrs. Kelly Miller, Miss Ella E. Perry, Morris Lewis and Mrs. Clarence I. Smith. All of the other boxes were occupied by colored citizens except that of Col. R. N. Harper, in which three white guests of the management of the auditorium sat.

The evening's program began with the introduction of Neval H. Thomas,

3. Members of any church resident in Mexico may at any time avail themselves of the constitutional privilege of petitioning for amendment, repeal or passage of any law.

A simultaneously issued statement by Archbishop Ruiz as papal delegate, said merely the conversations with the president had been marked by a spirit of good will and respect and that as a consequence of the president's written public statement the Mexican clergy will resume religious services pursuant to the laws in force.

After holding conferences for an hour early this afternoon, the president, archbishop and Bishop Diaz met again at Chapultepec Palace at 4 p. m. to affix their signatures to the declarations prepared for the press. It was more than an hour later when these were finally distributed, and then with the restriction to publication in newspapers of Saturday, June 22, throughout the world.

Portes Gil's Statement.

The statement of the president said:

"I have had conversations with Archbishop Ruiz y Flores and Bishop Pascual Diaz. These conversations took place as the result of public statements made by Archbishop Ruiz on May 2, and a statement made by me on May 8.

"Archbishop Ruiz and Bishop Diaz informed me that the Mexican bishops have felt that the constitution and laws, particularly the provision which requires registration of ministers and the provision which grants separate states the right to determine the maximum number of ministers, threaten the identity of the church, giving the state the control of its spiritual offices.

"They assure me that the Mexican bishops are animated by sincere patriotism and that they desire to resume public worship if this can be done consistently with their loyalty to the Mexican republic and their consciences.

"They stated that it could be done if the church could enjoy the freedom within the law to live and to exercise its spiritual offices.

Will Hear Any Appeal.

"I am glad to take advantage of this opportunity to declare publicly and very clearly that it is not the purpose of the constitution, nor of the laws, nor of the government of the republic to destroy the identity of the Catholic Church, or of any other, or to interfere in any way with its spiritual functions.

"In accordance with the oath of office which I took when I assumed the provisional government of Mexico to observe and to cause to be observed the constitution of the republic and the laws derived therefrom, my purpose has been at all times to fulfill honestly that oath and see that the laws are applied without favor to any sect and without any bias whatever, my administration being disposed to hear from any person, be he dignitary of some church or merely a private individual, any complaints in regard to injustices arising from undue application of the laws.

Religious Schools Barred.

"With reference to certain provisions of the law which have been misunderstood, I also take advantage of this opportunity to declare, first, that the provision of the law which required the registration of ministers does not mean that the government can register those who have not been named by a hierarchical superior of the religious creed in question or in accordance with its regulations; second, with regard to religious instruction, the constitution and laws in force definitely prohibit it in primary or higher schools, whether public or private, but this does not prevent ministers of any religion from imparting its doctrines within the church confines to adults and their children, who may attend for that purpose; third, that the constitution as well as the laws of the country guarantee to all residents of the republic the right of petition and therefore the members of any church may apply to the appropriate authorities for amendment, repeal or passage of any law.

"President of the Republic,
"E. PORTES GIL."

Archbishop Ruiz's Statement.

The statement by Archbishop Ruiz said:

"Bishop Diaz and myself have had several conferences with the president, the results of which are set forth in the statement which he has issued today.

"I am glad to say that all conversations have been marked by a spirit of mutual good will and respect. As a consequence of the said statement made by the president, the Mexican clergy will resume religious services pursuant to the laws in force.

"I entertain the hope that resumption of religious services may lead the Mexican people, animated by a spirit of mutual good will, to cooperate in all moral efforts made for the benefit of all people of our fatherland.

"LEOPOLDO RUIZ,
"Archbishop of Morelia and Apostolic Delegate."

Archbishop Sees Church Solution as Peace Omen

Mexico City, June 21 (A.P.).—Archbishop Leopoldo Ruiz issued a second and less formal statement later tonight.

"I consider this settlement as the beginning of a real era of peace for the republic," he said, "which will feel, without doubt, the benedictions which come together with harmony and the close union of a whole nation with its government.

"Now, more than ever, I feel most deeply obliged to all those who have interested themselves in this solution and have helped us to reach this solution, which, if not complete, is a road by which to reach a complete one."

Heflin Will Stand By Son in Trouble

Senator Says Youth Will Conquer Rum and Be a Useful Man.

Senator Heflin, of Alabama, announced yesterday that he will do everything he can to help his son, James Thomas Heflin, jr., who was arrested here Monday on a charge of driving while under the influence of drugs.

"I am deeply pained and grieved to learn that my son has been drinking again," Heflin said in his statement. "I shall do my best to help him to see the folly and danger of such indulgence. I have a firm faith in him and in his future. I am confident that God is going to help him to become master of himself and make him what he is capable of making—a good and useful man. His mother died when he was 14 years old, and he is all I have. God helping me, I shall continue as a father who loves his son to help him in every way I can.

"My enemies who are willing to exploit my son in the newspapers and injure him in every way possible for the purpose of worrying and grieving me will yet see him resist the temptations and conquer the harmful forces that beset him and be what his mother prayed he would be and what I expect him to be—a fine and useful man to his day and generation."

WASHINGTON CLERGY PAVED PEACE'S WAY

Fathers Walsh and Burke Are Prime Movers in Ending Mexican Controversy.

RECONCILED DIE-HARDS

Mexico City, June 21 (A.P.).—Settlement of the three-year-old controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic Church in Mexico has been brought about to a large extent through the efforts of American Ambassador Dwight W. Morrow, who has worked tirelessly on the problem since he came to Mexico in an official capacity.

Others who have played prominent parts in the negotiations and whose labors have contributed greatly to their success, are Archbishop Ruiz y Flores, Mexican primate, who, as apostolic delegate, came to Mexico City early in June and approved the basis for the agreement, and Bishop Pascual Diaz, of Tabasco, who accompanied Archbishop Ruiz and shared his labors.

Two American Catholics had an important share in the work. They are the Rev. Dr. Edmund A. Walsh, vice president of Georgetown University, of Washington, who has been in Mexico for the past six weeks working on the problem, and Father John J. Burke, of the National Catholic Welfare Conference of Washington, sent to Mexico April 4, 1928, by Bishop Fumasoni Biondа, then apostolic delegate in Washington.

(EDITOR'S NOTE—The Washington Post on June 10 exclusively announced the presence of Father Walsh in Mexico City as a negotiator in connection with the controversy between the Mexican government and the Catholic Church. At that time his activity in this connection was generally denied.)

Aided by Former Ambassador.

Two Mexican presidents, Senor Portes Gil and Gen. Calles, were the principal negotiators for the Mexican government.

Senor Miguel Cruchaga Tocornal, former Chilean Ambassador in Washington, cooperated with Dr. Walsh throughout the work.

These men, with Pope Pius XI, were the leading actors in a series of negotiations which date back to 1927.

Ambassador Morrow has been a prime mover in the negotiations. He got to work on the problem soon after coming to Mexico two years ago, and through his efforts Father Burke became interested and came to Mexico in April, 1928. Mr. Morrow arranged a secret conference between Father Burke and President Calles.

There President Calles manifested his willingness to meet a member of the Mexican episcopate to discuss a way for settlement. A basis for a modus vivendi was outlined, which was discussed at San Antonio, Tex., by a meeting of Mexican bishops. Father Burke forthwith arranged for a secret trip to Mexico by Archbishop Ruiz, who had been expelled from the country after the outbreak of the controversy and had gone to reside in the United States.

Archbishop Ruiz came incognito to Mexico City and on May 27, 1928, conferred with President Calles. At this conference the modus vivendi was drawn up, and the archbishop went to Rome to seek approval by the Vatican.

While Archbishop Ruiz was in Rome the basis for the agreement gave rise to a difference of opinion among church groups in Mexico, some of which did not want a settlement.

Papal approval was delayed and the difference of opinion in Mexico was being investigated, when, on July 17, 1928, President-elect Obregon was assassinated in the Mexico City suburb of San Angel. His assassin was Jose de Leon Toral, a young caricaturist, who asserted his act was prompted by the state of religious affairs. Toral was executed.

The resulting situation precluded further action toward a settlement for the time being. The question remained dormant until early this year, when Ambassador Morrow again got his hand to the task.

During the recent revolution the church leaders succeeded in keeping the Catholic cause out of the warfare, hence the gap between the church and the government was not widened.

Near the end of the revolution Bishop Antonio Guizar Valencia, of Chihuahua, one of the Mexican liberal prelates, journeyed to Rome to urge upon the Vatican the desirability of a settlement.

Sent to Mexico by Pope.

Because of contrary opinion coming to him from other Mexican bishops, the Pope sent Father Walsh to Mexico, where he arrived at the beginning of May. Father Walsh had the Pope's confidence, having served him faithfully on other delicate missions, particularly in Russia. The particular value of Father Walsh's work lay in his close contact with strong elements of the Mexican Church which opposed the settlement.

Father Walsh, who is a Jesuit, is credited with having reconciled the church die-hards to the agreement.

Early in May Archbishop Ruiz declared to the press in Washington that "the religious conflict in Mexico was not motivated by any cause which may not be corrected by men of sincere good will." He suggested that the matter might be discussed at a meeting of authorized representatives of church and state.

Six days later, on May 8, Provisional President Portes Gil, on his side, expressed to the Mexico City press his pleasure over the declarations of Archbishop Ruiz and stated that "if Archbishop Ruiz should desire to discuss with me the way to bring about cooperation in the moral effort to better the Mexican people which he desires, I shall have no objection to talking with him on the subject."

Within a few weeks it was announced that Archbishop Ruiz had been appointed apostolic delegate to come to Mexico for a conference with President Portes Gil.

Dr. Walsh Sees Harmony.

Dr. Walsh tonight called the statement of the president "a welcome harbinger of eventual peace."

His statement said: "The simultaneous declarations issued today by the President of Mexico and the senior member of the Catholic hierarchy in that country is a welcome harbinger of eventual peace and domestic harmony so ardently desired by the broad masses of population and equally hoped for by all Americans both of the North and South.

"The language and spirit of these declarations place the relations of the church and state in Mexico on sure foundations of mutual respect, mutual cooperation and a common sharing of fundamental rights by all Mexican citizens. With the present removal of old misunderstandings and the joint acceptance of the great task of national reconstruction, both patriotism and religion will now have a fairer chance to solve the admittedly difficult problems that still confront civil and ecclesiastical authorities. The two documents constitute an organic whole and neither should be read nor interpreted without the other."

Indian Chief Bears Present to Hoover

Gift of Oldest Sioux, 80, to Nation's Head Pouch for His Tobacco.

Attired in war bonnet and other regalia, Chief Red Tomahawk, the oldest living member of the Sioux Tribe, visited the White House yesterday and presented President Hoover with a handsome beaded leather tobacco pouch.

The chieftain, who is 80 years old and credited with having killed Sitting Bull, nemesis of Gen. Custer and his famous troop of cavalry, was presented to the President by Senators Frazier and Nye (Republicans) of North Dakota.

Leaving the White House, the chief returned to the Carlton Hotel, where he is stopping, and was entertained at luncheon by High Star, an honorary brave of the Sioux Nation, who is better known to Washingtonians as Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of staff of the United States Army. Gen. Summerall was given honorary membership in the tribe when he visited Red Tomahawk at Fort Yates last year.

Chief Red Tomahawk will complete his visit to tthe Capital today, the first in 25 years.

PRAYER BOOK CLASH LOOMS IN ENGLAND

Majority of Bishops Urge Acquiescence in Use of Rejected Version.

OTHERS TO FIGHT MOVE

London, June 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Another row over the revised prayer book is threatening the internal peace of the Church of England and may again raise the question of disestablishment, it was revealed here today.

When the houses of convocation meet July 10 the majority of bishops will propose that no action be taken against any clergyman who uses the new prayer book, which was twice rejected by the House of Commons, the last time, a year ago, by a majority of 46.

Already opposition to such a resolution is lining up. "You can take it from me," said Dr. Barnes, Bishop of Birmingham, today, "that the Bishop of Norwich and I will stand resolutely opposed to any resolution which would authorize use of the prayer book rejected by Parliament."

The Bishop of Exeter, Lord William Gascoyne Cecil, also will be in opposition to the proposal. "All the clergy have taken an oath to use no other book than that of 1662 without authority of the church," he said. "They are bound by that oath. How can they then use the new prayer book which has been refused by Parliament? You can not get over these facts."

Sir William Joynson-Hicks and Sir Thomas Inskip, respectively home secretary and attorney general in the Baldwin government, who opposed the new book in Parliament, will also fight against the proposed resolution.

Dr. Ingram, Bishop of London, however, today voiced an opposite view. "Defying the House of Commons?" he demanded. "No such thing! There's no secret about it—we are simply carrying out the decision we came to last September."

At that time the bishops, meeting at Lambeth Palace, issued a statement to the effect that in view of the approval of the new prayer book by the house of convocation and the church assembly its use couldn't be considered in consistent with loyalty to the principles of the Church of England.

STRICTLY LEGAL WAR ON RUM, HOOVER PLAN

charges of attempted murder and not for violation of the prohibition laws.

From Brookville, Ontario, came a dispatch today telling of the capture last night at Oak Point, N. Y., of a motor boat alleged to have been carrying 80 cases of ale. Customs officers who took the boat and its crew of two men to Ogdensburg, N. Y., declined to reveal the identity of the latter.

Lutheran Leader Protests.

River Forest, Ill., June 21 (A.P.).—Dr. W. C. Kohn, president of Concordia College here and a high official in the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church, today denounced what he termed "the absolutely criminal practice of prohibition officers in shooting down innocent citizens" and declared that "we do not believe in the principles that underlie the Volstead laws."

Dr. Kohn, who is attending the thirty-fourth triennial conference of the Evangelical Lutherin Synod, expressed his views in a statement prepared for publication.

"The members of the Missouri Synod of the Lutheran Church believe that since the Volstead laws are in effect that they should be personally observed," Dr. Kohn said. "But we do not agree with the absolutely criminal practices of prohibition officers in shooting down innocent citizens. Nor do we believe in the principles that underly the Volstead laws.

"The Bible does not forbid the moderate use of beer and wines; why should a government or an individual?"

"Savor of Executions."

Dr. Kohn went on to say that while his church is not in sympathy with the Volstead law it believes that honest laws should be enforced.

"But such enforcement must be legal in itself," he said. "The dry shootings are sheer murder.

"Killing transgressors of the Volstead act without a fair trial is unbiblical, un-American and uncivilized," he said. "It is a criminal act to execute a man without a hearing. You may shoot a prisoner for trying to escape, but dry killings savor too much of execution. Such unlawful killings are equal to murder.'

IN RUM KILLING

Removed from two jails because of fears of mob violence, Deputy Sheriff George Johnson, Newport, Ark., is held in the State Penitentiary. It is charged he shot and killed Glen Quay, 22, who escaped after arrest for intoxication.

HOOVER RUM FIGHT IS ON LARGE SCALE

Armed Agents Concentrated Along Canadian Border; Office Force Swelled.

STIMSON DRAWN IN FRAY

The Hoover administration has put to work the greatest prohibition force in the country's history, concentrating armed agents along the 3,000-mile Canadian border to combat an expected rum rush, starting two official inquiries into prohibition enforcement and its resulting fatalities, adding eight Justice Department assistants and other office workers, and turning State Department officials toward international overtures.

Amid a national uproar over recent prohibition killings, Secretary of State Stimson received yesterday a requested preliminary report on the recent firing on a patrol boat near Detroit, finding nothing in it to throw light on an international angle. It is reported from Detroit that the customs men who were fired upon were close enough to identify their assailants as Americans.

May Seek Extradition.

Should this report be verified, the State Department contemplates the unprecedented action of asking Canada to extradite the men, who are said to have steered their boat into Canadian waters. This would involve the difficult feat of locating and identifying the shoot-and-run men.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman, in charge of prohibition and customs, admitted he was not enlightened by the preliminary report from Detroit and that from scattering unofficial reports on the incident he believed the assailants to be Americans. A full report will be submitted later.

Capital Staff Is Increased.

Behind the battle front to which men and arms are being rushed on Treasury Department orders, scattered Federal prohibition agencies are increasing the white-collar background work. In the peace zone of the Capital, the Justice Department yesterday started a Nation-wide survey to ascertain the number of local and national officers killed in enforcing the Volstead act and also violators.

At the same time the President's Law Enforcement Commission continued its executive sessions, preparatory to starting a two-year investigation into all law enforcement, dealing only with generalities and not specific incidents.

Already six special assistants for prohibition work have been added to the Attorney General's staff under provisions of a bill passed at the last session of Congress, and two more are soon to be appointed.

DRIVE TO BUY HOME FOR CANNON BARED

Friends Sought $25,000 for "Refuge" as Bishop Made Stock Profits, Claim.

GLASS WAS INVITED TO AID

New York, June 21.—The New York World tomorrow will print the following Washington dispatch:

About the time Bishop James Cannon, jr., was trying his luck with Kable & Co., friends were inviting Methodist churchmen and others to contribute to a fund for a home for him.

The appeal was made on the ground that he had worked hard all of his life for the church and devoted but little time to saving money for a rainy day. Senators Glass and Swanson and hundreds of others were asked to give to the cause. The place selected was on P street, Washington, and it was to be donated in the form of a testimonial, the cost to be approximately $25,000.

The Cannon home movement did not succeed, for many people considered it unwise. Asked today what became of the plan, Dr. Crawford, secretary to Bishop Cannon, said he knew of it, but was not one of its sponsors, and could not say what happened to it.

No one here today could say what had become of the movement to buy Cannon a home. The bishop was away. Senators Glass and Swanson are in Virginia.

Special to The Washington Post.

Lynchburg, Va., June 21.—Senator Carter Glass issued a statement here today relative to stock market trading by Bishop James Cannon, jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church South. The statement follows:

"I have no particular concern, political or otherwise, with Bishop Cannon's alleged stock gambling operations through the medium of an alleged disreputable bucket shop in New York City; and I am disposed to think that drawing me into this controversy is purely gratuitous and without excuse. It is a fact that about ten days before the recent presidential election certain affidavits were sent to me from New York setting forth some of the facts which appeared in Thursday's newspaper accounts of Bishop Cannon's transactions. I was not a little dismayed at the facts stated and immediately notified Bishop Cannon of the charges against him. He appeared to resent the information conveyed in my dispatch and gave a rather curt answer, to which I responded in kind.

"Naturally, I declined to use the charges against Bishop Cannon of gambling in stocks on margin with an obscure and allegedly unlawful bucket shop, wiring the parties who sent me the papers that, if they desired the episode to be made public, they could themselves give out the facts. The idea that I had any purpose to 'muzzle' Bishop Cannon ten days before the election will, I apprehend, be regarded by every intelligent person as pure nonsense. Aside from my unwillingness to be responsible for the disclosure, I knew perfectly well that it would have a bad political effect and enable Bishop Cannon to claim that he was being persecuted for opinion's sake.

"Recently I was told that publication of the Cannon episode was imminent and that the representative of a New York newspaper was in Washington to look into a reported attempt to bring certain influences to bear to have the indictments against the alleged bucket shop proprietors dismissed, the papers sealed and the whole thing suppressed. I at once foresaw, as anybody of ordinary good sense would have foreseen, that any such publication on the eve of an election in Virginia might be seized upon as a political attack on Bishop Cannon rather than a disclosure, in the usual run of events, of the illicit operations of a reputed New York bucket shop, the ledger accounts of which revealed that Bishop Cannon was a chief patron. For this reason alone, I deplored the publication at this time of Bishop Cannon's stock investment enterprise; but my remonstrance seems to have been totally disregarded."

When he was asked whether he had any comment to make on the details of the ledger accounts of Bishop Cannon's transactions, Senator Glass said:

"No, I have not. I have no familiarity with stock market processes. For example, nobody could have been more surprised than I that any man of moderate means, with an initial investment of $2,500, could trade in nearly $300,000 worth of stock or could get credit on the books of a stock broker of approximately $150,000. But I can see no reason why I should discuss this or any other feature of Bishop Cannon's stock market experience. It interests me no more than any current news matter of more than ordinary nature could be expected to interest the readers of any newspaper."

FOURTEEN HUNDRED AND NINE H STREET

4 Spanish Airmen Over Sea On Flight to Nova Scotia

Franco and Companions Take Off at Field Near Cartagena, Heading for Azores, Where Single Halt of Trip Will Be Made Early This Morning.

Cartagena, Spain, June 21 (A.P.).—Four Spanish aviators tonight were over the sea en route to the Azores on the first leg of a flight to America expected to bring them fresh honors. Their leader, Maj. Ramon Franco, in 1926 had crossed the South Atlantic in a similar twin-motored seaplane, the Ne Plus Ultra.

With him are Commandant Eduardo Gonzales Gallarza, Capt. Julio Ruiz de Alda and Mechanic Pedro Madariaga. Their Dornier-Wal monoplane has two Hispano-Suiza motors of 600 horsepower. The call letters are EDR 16, with a wave length of 900 meters for sending and 600 for receiving.

The aviators left Alcazares air field near here at 4:50 p. m. (10:50 a. m., Eastern standard time.) They notified the authorities at Fayal, Azores, after they were well on their way to expect them at 6:00 a. m. local time (2:00 a. m. Eastern standard time) Saturday.

Their stay there will be brief and Maj. Franco planned to continue on to New York at 6:00 p. m. Saturday. This leg will be without stop unless weather conditions force a halt at Halifax, N. S., the aviators intend to visit Washington and then to reverse their route in an effort to regain Spain within eight days of their start.

Maj. Franco distinguished himself and was wounded in the air service during the Moroccan campaign. Capt. Ruiz de Alda was with him on the flight to South America. Commandant Gallarza was the hero of a flight from Spain to the Philippines. Sergt. Madariaga, considere an expert mechanic, replaced another a short time before the take-off because the original mechanic was seriously ill.

The Infante Alfonso was among the crowd that watched the departure and cheered the aviators as they took the air. Intense interest was displayed throughout Spain. The aviation laurels recently gained by Capts. Jimines and Iglesias with their crossing of the South Atlantic and the following tour of Latin America were still fresh in the minds of the people.

Spain considers that her territory lies in a specially suitable position for aeronautical communication with the Americas.

The Spanish authorities took every precaution to avoid such an occurrence as the stowaway who endangered the safety of the French plane Yellow Bird on its recent take-off from Old Orchard, soldiers maintained constant and strict guard on the field up to the moment of the take-off.

The Spanish government some time ago asked for and received special permission for the aviators to land on the soil of the United States.

Just before the take-off Sergt. Madariaga was cut severely on the head while making a final inspection. An escort plane struck the transatlantic plane with considerable force. The latter was not damaged but a cut was opened in the head of the mechanic which required seven stitches to close. Nothing daunted, he insisted on being taken along as soon as he was bandaged. Maj. Franco himself was shaken up and received contusions in the accident.

The British steamer Darshiel, at sea, reported by radio that it had picked up a radio message from the plane saying that it had passed Cape San Vincent, the western extremity of Portugal, and had headed over the open sea for the Azores. The British ship Bridgepool relayed the same information.

HENRY FORD AND SON IMPERILED BY BLAST

Ten Others Hurt When Photo Powder Explodes on New York Pier.

EDSEL'S 2 BOYS SHAKEN

New York, June 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Henry Ford and his son, Edsel, narrowly missed being among the ten casualties today when a bottle of flashlight powder, ignited by a stray spark, exploded like a bomb and sent splinters of glass flying over the pier at West Fourteenth street, where the Cunard liner Berengaria had just docked.

The motor manufacturer was waiting at the Berengaria's gangway to greet Edsel, returning from Europe with Mrs. Edsel Ford and their two children, Henry 2d and Benson. When Edsel Ford stepped ashore and the father and son exchanged greetings they were asked by a group of waiting photographers to pose for a picture.

After some persuasion Mr. Ford and his son consented. Flashlights boomed on the pier as the pictures were made.

Finished with their posing, Henry and Edsel Ford turned to the family's baggage, placed under the letters "PZX" to expedite the customs examination. They stood barely 15 feet from the group of photographers.

Magnate Remains Unshaken.

Suddenly a roar sounded through the pier shed. Henry Ford barely turned toask. "What was that?" but others, including the two grandchildren, were shaken by the shock of the explosion.

One of the photographers, John Schutz, had accidentally exploded what amounted to a glass bomb. Most of the people standing near him were gashed by the splinters of glass that flew from the bottle which had contained flashlight powder. The blast, small as it was, by some freak, missed the entire Ford party, while others standing further away were cut.

In a moment Schutz and nine others were helped aboard the Berengaria, bleeding profusely. Most of those injured were cut about the face. Dr. J. D. Doherty, ship's surgeon, standing near the gangway when the explosion occurred, had medical assistance available almost as soon as the injured were aboard.

A section of a deck on the port side, away from the pier, was roped off and ship's nurses and stewards began to dress the wounds. An ambulance call was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital.

Inquiries About the Injured.

With their baggage examination nearly finished, Mrs. Ford calmed the fears of her two children and the party left the pier. Henry Ford stopped to inquire about the injured.

Schultz's hand was badly cut by the glass, which severed an artery, while his face was burned and cut. He was stooping to pick up an open bottle of flashlight powder which he had left standing near his feet, just before the explosion. The trigger of his flashlight "gun" either was pulled inadvertently, or a lingering spark tumbled into the bottle, causing the explosion.

Seven persons were sent to St. Vincent's Hospital for treatment. Besides Schultz, they were: Miss Zelda Gould, of this city, a visitor to the pier, who suffered cuts about the body; Miss Hilda Gleed, of Hartford, Conn., first-cabin passenger, who, with her brother, Arthur J. Gleed, meeting her, suffered cuts on the legs; Lewis Kelln, of this city; Miss Anne C. McCormick, of Mount Lebanon, Pa., and Edward J. Peters, of Marys Landing, N. J.

Col. Snyder Will Retire From Marines on July 6

The Listening Post

By CARLISLE BARGERON

THOSE commentators who are still harping on Dr. Hubert Work's flop as Republican national committee chairman, must have overlooked the fact that no monuments have been erected to any of his predecessors.

There are no bronze tablets commemorating the birthplace of John T. Adams, Will Hays, William M. Butler, or any of the rest of them. It is with difficulty that the name of the last Democratic chairman, Clem L. Shaver, out of Fairmount, W. Va., and now very probably glad to be back there, is even recalled.

The sightseeing buses go about Washington daily with thousands of visitors seeking the points of interest, but a ballyhoo man is yet to bend his finger and say: "There is where the national chairman lived."

Somehow the country has just not gotten around to setting aside a day to commemorate the anniversary of their birth or death, a day on which the Government clerks might get away from their desks.

NO, the gentlemen come and go every four years, unpraised and unsung. If the campaign which they conduct is won their heads are not immediately cut off, but only the best of them are able to keep from falling into obscurity. The movies saved Will Hays, as did, too, some of the collections he made for his campaign.

John W. Davis, a philosophical and able soul, is reported to have told Shaver after the Democratic debacle of 1924: "Clem, don't ever call the national committee together. They will fire you as sure as I am talking to you." And Shaver didn't call it together, either; that is, not until he could get them all around a harmony board and feed them. Even then it looked as though his wife would cost him his job right in the midst of the meal.

WILLIAM M. BUTLER was a most efficient and honorable man. He frowned upon any number of practices that had been countenanced in previous campaigns. The accurate and painstaking set of books that he kept was a caution. He was even known to have refused to hand out any more money to certain hangers-on, pensioners of the national committee for many years and who, instead, should have been in jail.

Yet Butler was always on the pan. He was forever "bungling," the politicians said. It was they, not he, who pulled Coolidge through in 1924. They were forever and eternally after his scalp. It was perhaps a tribute to his stubbornness that he hung on until the Hoover regime came in.

Verily, the task of national chairman is an ungrateful one. Only a Raskob can afford to stay on after defeat, and it is a question as to just how much of the Democratic party he is chairman of.

DR. WORK has been treated most illogically, it would seem. There have been observers who insisted that he had nothing to do with the running of the campaign, yet in the next breath asserted that some miscarriage had been brought about because of his bungling. It is hard to see just how a man can bungle if he is not doing anything.

National chairmen were not born to be heroes, to be acclaimed. They are introduced to the public usually, and always they serve during the Nation's most hectic periods. Their short public existence is bounded, surrounded on all sides, by the blazing furnaces of political intrigue, bitterness and hate; the rushing and hair-splitting of men seeking escape from the political fates or the wooing of them.

It is no wonder, then, that the appraisal of the chairmen is made through fiery and bloodshot eyes. And as a result none ever exactly satisfied.

GERMANY'S CABINET ACCEPTS DEBT PLAN

Withdrawal of Troops Now in Rhineland Demanded of Allied Nations.

BRITISH ALSO TO RATIFY

Berlin, June 21 (U.P.).—The German cabinet, after conferring with Dr. Gustav Stresemann, foreign minister, decided today to accept the Owen D. Young plan of reparations settlement as a basis for a projected conference between the governments involved.

The decision, which was unanimous, said that "the settlement of all questions left in suspense since the war necessarily must be effected in this connection." Primarily, this would mean withdrawal of allied troops from the Rhineland.

Dr. Stresemann, who discussed plans for the international conference, probably in Switzerland next month, with Premier Poincare of France, presided at the meeting, owing to the illness of Chancellor Hermann Mueller. The foreign minister reported on his meetings with Poincare and the French foreign minister, Aristide Briand.

London, June 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—The Labor cabinet held two sessions today and decided that Great Britain shall ratify the Young plan for a final reparations settlement, although some of the ministers objected to favors it extends to France. There were also remonstrances from the treasury concerning reduction of the British reparations share in percentages.

The cabinet decided to press for a London conference of the interested nations to put the Young plan into operation but French objections to this make possible the holding of the conference at some continental spa where Gustav Stresemann, Germany's foreign minister, whose health has been poor, could undergo a cure while attending. In this case, instead of Premier MacDonald presiding over the conference, Philip Snowden, chancellor of the exchequer, would head the British delegation.

The cabinet will await President Hoover's next move on naval disarmament. Meanwhile it decided today to ratify the optional clause of the general act of the League of Nations, thus committing Great Britain, though not the dominions, to compulsory arbitration.

The procedure to be adopted, whether through the Norwegian government or through the Soviet Embassy in Berlin, in resuming relations with Russia, also was discussed.

2 Washingtonians Left $41,504 by Will Terms

Two Washingtonians—Dr. Truman Abbe, of the Stoneleigh Courts Apartments, Connecticut avenue and L street northwest, and Mrs. Mary P. Abbe, of 102 East Underwood street Chevy Chase, are among the beneficiaries under the will of the late Dr. Robert Abbe filed yesterday in New York City, according to advices received here.

Dr. Abbe, a nephew, will receive $31,504, while Mrs. Abbe, a sister-in-law, will receive $10,000. Dr. Robert Abbe died March 7, 1928, in New York City, leaving an estate appraised at $409,473.

GIBSON TO PUT NAVY PLAN UP TO DAWES

had on Thursday discussed this question, in connection with a discussion of naval reduction, with Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, brought denials, including a denial from Secretary of State Stimson. Senator Borah declined to comment on the denials.

In view of the day's developments, the statement from Secretary Stimson served greatly to stress the very point which the Secretary obviously sought to minimize. The singling out of freedom of the seas in the Stimson statement attracted as much attention as the fact that the Secretary had deemed it necessary to issue an official communication with respect to a conference between Senator Borah and the British Ambassador. Despite Mr. Borah's reticence, it was generally assumed that the chairman of the foreign relations committee found it somewhat unusual for the Secretary of State apparently to assume that all conferences between foreign ambassadors and Senators must be conducted through the medium of the State Department.

Mr. Borah has never recognized that the State Department has the right to censor, regulate or control conferences which foreign Ambassadors desire to have with him.

The conference between Sir Esme Howard and Senator Borah was at the ambassador's request. The views which are entertained by the chairman of the foreign relations committee of the United States Senate are of particular interest at this time to Ramsay MacDonald and it is known that the British premier and Senator Borah have had correspondence on many phases of Anglo-American relationship and that the British premier has encouraged this contact.

From a technical standpoint, Secretary Stimson could object to this correspondence and admittedly could seek to invoke laws to discourage it. On this principle, Sir Esme Howard would be forbidden to discuss international matters with Senator Borah without first obtaining the permission of the American State Department. But this proceedure, which was at one time in vogue, has long fallen by the wayside so far as Senator Borah is concerned.

The power of the United States Senate to control policies of the State Department, to nullify policies of which it does not approve, has made it part of the duty of every diplomat to ascertain for his government information respecting the attitude of the Senate. This has been particularly true, it is explained, since the Senate practically controlled America's policy with respect to the Versailles treaty, the League of Nations and the World Court.

Those diplomats who relied exclusively on information from the permitted channels were hopelessly led astray in attempting to keep their governments informed, and those diplomats who ventured to establish contacts with the Senate made enviable reputations through their forecasts of America's attitude.

Borah is not the only senator with whom MacDonald has had contact. It developed yesterday that the British premier already has received or is shortly to receive the benefit of the views which Senator Walsh, of Montana, entertains with respect to freedom of the seas and its relationship to naval reduction. Mr. Walsh is coauthor with Senator Borah of the resolution in the last cruiser bill requesting the President to call a conference on freedom of the seas prior to the 1931 naval conference.

The senator from Montana believes that the freedom of the seas aspect promises a real solution and that the cruiser reduction program would adjust itself without difficulty if freedom of the seas were made subject to satisfactory agreement.

DIOCESAN LEADERS TO AID CRUSADERS

Catholic Students Impressed by Play and Movie With Mission Work Need.

SIGHTSEEING TOUR TODAY

The diocesan directors of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith met yesterday in connection with the sixth general convention of the Catholic Students' Mission Crusade at the Catholic University to work out a plan of cooperation between themselves and the crusaders. The plan had not been announced up to a late hour last night.

The evening session of the convention was given over to entertainment, consisting of a play, "The Cry of the Jungle," a story illustrating the need of missions in Africa; motion pictures of missions in China, and a concert by the boys' band of St. Mary's Industrial School of Baltimore.

Low masses were said in the various chapels of the university yesterday morning, with a pontifical military mass in the stadium of the university at 9 o'clock.

A general business session occupied the remainder of the day. A number of divisional meetings were held to determine a national policy for the organization of school groups for mission education and to solve mission problems.

Delegates, numbering more than 1,000, are to be taken for sightseeing tours of Washington this morning.

The convention will continue through today and until noon tomorrow.

Will Hays, Freed, Gets Son's Custody

"Czar" of Motion Pictures and Wife Divorced as Incompatible.

Sullivan, Ind., June 21 (A.P.).—Will H. Hays, "czar" of the motion-picture industry, has been granted a divorce from Helen Thomas Hays and given the custody of their 14-year-old son, William Harrison Hays, jr. The divorce was granted yesterday by Judge Arthur DeBaun, in the Sullivan Circuit Court, but it did not become known until today.

The petition, filed last April, said Mr. and Mrs. Hays were married in 1902, but separated because of the incompatibility of their temperaments and had not lived together for several years.

The action was not contested by Mrs. Hays. She did not appear in court, but was represented by Michael Foley, an Indianapolis attorney and an old friend of the family. Mr. Hays was represented by local counsel.

Hays was Republican national chairman in 1920 and Postmaster General in President Harding's Cabinet. Hays resigned the Cabinet post to become president of the Motion-Picture Producers and Distributors of America, the position he now holds. He formerly was Republican State chairman in Indiana.

SUDDEN STORM HITS; MUCH DAMAGE DONE

caused plaster on the second floor to fall. No one was injured. Firemen were called and aided the occupants in sweeping up the debris and arranging buckets under the leaks to prevent a repitition of the damage to the first floor.

The gas company reported that several of its mains were damaged by the storm. Leaks also were sprung in pipes in a number of houses.

Telegraph companies reported that their wires were damaged, but that service was not appreciable interrupted. Lightning struck several wires.

Electric lights were affected in several sections. Lights were extinguished in the southwest and northeast, while a section of Sixteenth street northwest, from Scott Circle northward was likewise affected. The Potomac Electric Power Co. reported that all its emergency crews were out repairing damage.

The telephone service also was affected.

A few minutes after the rain started, the 5100 block of Connecticut avenue northwest was flooded. Street cars and automobiles were forced to stop. The water reached to the fenders of automobiles, it was reported.

The apartment house at 1111 Columbia road suffered heavy damage when flood waters poured into the basement. The furnace, janitor's quarters and summer hot-water system were inundated, according to reports to the police.

During the height of the storm a water main in the Whyland Apartment, 1724 Seventeenth street northwest burst, flooding the basement.

The Dixon apartment house at 1018 Girard street northwest also reported a flooded cellar. Basements of houses at 3149 Mount Pleasant street northwest, 949 P street northwest and 707 Ninth street northeast also were flooded.

Street cars and automobiles were stalled by high water on Fourteenth street northwest between C and B streets. The same condition existed at Fourteenth and Spring road.

The Washington-Baltimore boulevard and Blandenburg road were flooded so deeply in several places that water-covered the floorboards of many automobiles. Traffic was practically disrupted.

At Fifteenth and H streets northeast the water was 3 feet deep.

The water made a mill race under the H street viaduct. Two street cars were stranded without lights as were a number of automobiles.

The storm was particularly severe in Prince Georges County. Electric lights went out shortly after the downpour began and remained out for a half hour. The cause was not learned, but it was understood to have been due to the storm.

Police were requested to rescue a party of automobilists stranded in an automobile in front of 4700 Arkansas avenue northwest.

Cellars were reported flooded at 736 G street northeast, 1507 Varnum street northwest, and R street northwest, between First and Second streets.

One man died of heat prostration yesterday, while a woman, whose death came from natural causes, is believed to have been weakened by the high temperature.

Mrs. Nina Viceroy, 45 years old, who has been living at the tourist camp in East Potomac Park with her husband, died at Emergency Hospital late yesterday afternoon of cardiac asthma which doctors said proved fatal because of a weakened condition, possibly due to the heat. She had been treated earlier in the day by a private physician and had seemed improved.

Alonzo Foster, 37 years old, colored, 14 O street northwest, who was overcome while working on a building at Forty-third and Elliott streets northwest at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon, died while being taken to Emergency Hospital.

A young crippled white man, identified as Harry Winslow by cards found in his pocket, was overcome by the heat at Fourth and F streets northwest late yesterday afternoon. He was taken to Casualty Hospital in serious condition.

Police are inclined to believe that heat may have affected Richard A. Miller, 42 years old, 420 M street southwest, who was sent to Gallinger Hospital for mental observation after charging Policeman H. D. Sechrest, a clerk at detective headquarters with attempting to kill him.

Miller and Sechrest rode downtown on the same Fourteenth street car when the former got off, he drew and that Sechrest and the motorman had tried to stick a gun in his mouth.

A. SAMUEL BURGESS DIES.

Takoma Park Resident Found Dead on Beach Near Annapolis.

A. Samuel Burgess, 51 years old, of 231 Takoma Park avenue, Takoma Park, proprietor of the Bay Ridge Inn, near Annapolis, Md., died suddenly last night, according to advices from Annapolis.

Mr. Burgess was found dead on the beach by his wife and a party of friends shortly after 10 o'clock. Dr. Louis M. Hopkins, acting coroner of Anne Arundel County, who examined the body, said death was due to a heart affection and decided no inquest was necessary. Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

COL. PERRIN L. SMITH DIES.

Second Army Corps Finance Officer Succumbs at Golf Club.

Col. Perrin L. Smith, finance officer of the Second Army Corps Area, died yesterday at St. Andrew's Golf Club, near Hastings, N. Y., according to advices received here by the War Department.

Col. Smith was widely known in Washington, having served for a number of years in the office of the chief of finance. He was assigned to the Second Corps post last year. He was a native of Illinois and entered the regular Army in 1898. His widow, Mrs. Janet C. I. Smith, survives.

RITES FOR MRS. M'DONNELL.

Funeral This Afternoon for Wife of U. of Md. Biological Chemist.

Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Barnett McDonnell, wife of Dr. H. B. McDonnell, biological chemist at the University of Maryland, who died Thursday at her home in College Park, Md., will be held at 3 o'clock this afternoon at St. Andrew's Episcopal Church at College Park. The Rev. Ronalds Taylor will officiate. Burial will be in the cemetery of St. John's Episcopal Church, Beltsville, Md.

Mrs. McDonnell was a member of a prominent old Maryland family and was the daughter of the late Dr. Archibald Magruder, for many years a prominent physician in Bladensburg, Md. She is survived by her husband, two daughters, Mrs. Forrest S. Holmes, principal of the College Park School, and Mrs. Levin B. Broughton, whose husband is head of the chemistry department at the university, and two sisters, Miss Susan Hilleary Magruder, of Washington, and Mrs. George Peter, of Kensington, Md.

Boy Is Injured by Automobile.

While playing in front of his home at 828 Twelfth street northeast, Mobile Garner, 5-year-old colored youth, was struck by an automobile driven by Wilder Deneane, of 823 Randolph street northwest, who carried him in his machine to Casualty Hospital, where the lad was treated for bruises on both legs. Garner was allowed to return to his home later.

15 OF 43 STILL FREE IN JAIL FARM BREAK

One Dead, Four Wounded and 23 Captured in Big Escape in Texas.

LEADERS FACE WHIPPING

Brazoria, Tex., June 21 (A.P.).—With 1 of the 43 convicts who escaped from the Clemens State Prison Farm early Thursday dead and 4 others wounded, search continued tonight for 15 men still at large.

Prison authorities announced that 28 of the convicts had been accounted for and severe punishment, probably whipping, would be dealt out to those responsible for the break.

Twenty-five armed guards were searching a dense woodland near Sweeney, where some of the remaining fugitives were believed to be hiding.

A body identified as that of S. W. Martin, sentenced at El Paso for forgery, was found in the San Bernard River near the farm. It was believed he drowned in attempting to swim the stream.

Lee Hailey and Tom Nichols were shot and recaptured by Joe Roaden, a guard. Roaden fired on the men with a shotgun and brought them down with serious wounds in the back when they ran from him. Two other convicts were slightly wounded by a rancher and returned to the farm.

Two trusties were being held in close confinement, blamed for engineering the break.

"I feel sure they are the ones who slipped pistols to Joe Williams and Robert Massey, ringleaders of the break," said Capt. W. M. Hickman, manager of the farm.

"We are going to the bottom of this break, and if we back up our suspicions I will see that the men are severely punished, either by whipping or solitary confinement."

$75,000 MISSING IN 2 U. S. POSTAL SACKS

Inspectors Seek to Unravel Mystery in Connecticut as Pouches Vanish.

MESSENGER IS GRILLED

Ansonia, Conn., June 21 (N.Y.W.N.S.).—Postal inspectors are seeking to unravel the mystery today of the disappearance of two mail pouches in this city, one containing between $50,000 and $75,000 in currency consigned to the Ansonia National Bank from the Federal Reserve Bank of Boston, and the other checks from the Ansonia Electric Co. to the Merchants National Bank of New Haven.

The two pouches vanished within half an hour of each other after 10 o'clock this morning between the Ansonia postoffice and the railroad station. The mail messenger, Esko Burgess, 37, of this city, has been questioned by Postal Inspectors T. P. Cronan and J. J. Breslin and denies receiving the Boston pouch from Railway Postal Clerk John Curry, of New Milford, for a train due here at 10:05 o'clock. Burgess asserts that the second pouch was placed on a Bridgeport train, which left here at 10:32 o'clock.

The investigators learned that the train, bearing the Federal Reserve currency, was eight minutes late and that four pouches were consigned to the Ansonia postoffice, but a check-up there revealed only three sacks.

Burgess arrived with the mail about 10:20 and left a few minutes later with the Bridgeport consignment. According to the inspectors, the messenger has been unable to trace his movements definitely between the postoffice and the train, but he is not being detained.

The theory that the pouches dropped from the carrier unnoticed was strengthened by the announcement that a substantial reward would be paid by the Government for the return of the mail matter.

Burgess has been engaged in carrying mail from the railroad station for eighteen months and has been regarded as a valuable employe of the postoffice.

TWO HOUSE MEMBERS ATTEND DE PRIEST SHOW AND RECEPTION

president of the local branch of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, by Mrs. Julia West Hamilton, assistant chairman of the citizens' committee. In the course of his remarks, Thomas said:

"It is my sincerest wish that American statesmanship would have recourse to their arithmetic and learn, once and for all time, that thirteen, fourteen and fifteen come before eighteen." This reference to amendments to the Constitution brought prolonged applause. James Weldon Johnson, executive secretary of the National Association for Advancement of Colored People, former consul to Nicaragua, and a lyricist of international note, was next introduced.

After acclaiming DePriest as the "man of the hour" working not only for advancement of the negro, but for advancement of all Americans, white and black, he outlined what he described as the duty of his organization—to save black America's body and white America's soul. "If we fail," he said, "democracy in America falls with us. America can never have more democracy than it is willing to give to its black citizens."

DePriest thanked the audience for cooperation, expressing his belief that the occasion was but the beginning of several similar entertainments here to provide the negro organization with defense funds. He paid tribute to Mrs. DePriest, which brought another outburst of applause. He also thanked Col. Harper for the use of the auditorium, the first time for such an occasion. Concerning matters of so-called social equality he emphasized that he had nothing to say, "too much having been said already."

The program was then turned over to Sherman H. Dudley, veteran colored comedian and theater owner, who served as master of ceremonies. Mrs. DePriest and Mrs. Morris Lewis were given flowers by Mrs. Hamilton on behalf of the citizens' committee. The representative's wife accepted them without addressing the audience. She wore a gown of capri blue chiffon caught at the neck with a diamond pin and a necklace of sapphires and diamonds. Mrs. Lewis was gowned similarly.

Dudley presented twelve girls of the Mabel Jones Studio of esthetic dancing, who offered a program of toe and ballet work. They were followed by the S. Coleridge Taylor Choral Society, led by Albert H. Johnson, director of music in schools of Divisions 10-13, who sang several numbers.

A fashion show under auspices of colored fraternal organizations, directed by Maj. George B. Hunt and Martha Hatcher, illustrated the correct wear for street, sports, afternoon and evening, as well as the beach. This was followed by the presentation of Adrienne Marshall's Franciscans in esthetic dances and skits. A number, "Which Is Which," by Carlyn Wilson and Mary and Martha Washington, was particularly well done.

The feature of the evening's entertainment closed with the singing of the negro national anthem by the audience standing.

A reception was held in the exhibition room, attended by those who had witnessed the program and another group which came to dance until morning. During the dance intermission Dudley presented various theatrical numbers from the programs of the Howard and Lincoln Theaters.

Moody Scores "Precedent."

Austin, Tex., June 21 (A.P.).—The "precedent" pleaded by R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas, under which Mrs. Hoover entertained the wife of Oscar De Priest, Chicago negro representative, is one that should have been broken, Gov. Dan Moody declared today in answer to the committeeman's request that the executive veto the Texas Legislature's resolution censuring the White House party.

"If the affair was the carrying out of a custom and precedent, then it appears to me, under present circumstances, the precedent was a bad one, and this was a good time to break it," Gov. Moody said.

"If the custom had been broken and the people of the Illinois district took offense they should have been told to elect a white man to Congress and his wife would have been accorded all the social privileges of the White House."

"KEEP THE HOME TOGETHER AND YOU'LL CLEAN OUT THE PRISONS"

Said RANDOLPH McADAMS

Inspector of Federal Prisons Under President Harding

In a Recent Address

Mr. McAdams also stated that a census of Leavenworth Prison for one of the years during his inspectorship divulged the fact that, of the 3,294 prisoners 2,382 never reached High Schools and 450 could neither read nor write.

Further Mr. McAdams said: "We can not hope to mend matters by PROSECUTION or REFORMATION—We must remove the cause."

The Cause Is

IGNORANCE and INDIFFERENCE

A proper and sufficient conception of the responsibilities of parenthood by the men and women of the United States of America is the one main agency that will deliver posterity from a condition that at this time is appalling.

When all parents make it their business to see that their children are educated mentally, spiritually and physically—then, and not until then, will conditions change.

In other words, make such a home that will in truth be a "Sweet Home"—Then you will have measured up to the parents' responsibility.

It is Time for Parents to Think!

SERVICES AT EPIPHANY

The Rev. Ralph B. Pomeroy, rector of the Church of the Holy Innocents, West Orange, N. J., will be the special preacher at the evensong service at the peace cross in Washington Cathedral Close at 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

The Rev. Edward S. Dunlop, canon of the cathedral, will preach at the celebration of Holy Communion at 11 o'clock in Bethlehem Chapel. The other services in Washington Cathedral tomorrow will be as follows: Holy Communion and morning prayer at 7:30 o'clock and litany at 10 o'clock.

The Rev. Dr. James W. Morris will conduct morning prayer and deliver the sermon at the Church of the Epiphany tomorrow morning. At the 8 o'clock evening service, the Rev. C. Harold Douglas will speak. Holy Communion will be celebrated at 8 o'clock in the morning, and the church school will assemble at 9:30 o'clock.

The young people of the parish will gather for their weekly meeting at 6 o'clock tomorrow evening. Holy Communion will also be administered at 7:30 o'clock and 11 o'clock Thursday morning.

The Rev. Clarence Prentice Parker will preach at the 11 o'clock service at St. John's Church. He will also be the celebrant at Holy Communion at 7:30 o'clock. Holy Communion will be celebrated Monday and Saturday in recognition of the feasts of St. John the Baptist and of St. Peter.

The church will hold its annual lawn fete from 5 o'clock to 10 o'clock next Thursday. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. Roy McMillan, chairman; Mrs. R. Hanson Weightman and Mrs. Paul Ryon. Mrs. Edward L. Stock will be in charge of the cafeteria supper. Dancing will be in progress from 5 o'clock until 8 o'clock.

BUSINESS MAN SURE TO BE ON FARM BOARD

ever, and there was no suggestion that the corporation had done them wrong.

It is such an organization as this, a big business organization, prepared to handle the country's crops as a big business concern handles its commodity, that Mr. Hoover believes will do the farmer more good than legislation.

It was for that reason that he wanted the legislation to stop with the mere authorization of the farm board. He did not want it encumbered with the debenture plan or any other prescribed remedies. The debenture plan was never intended to be any more than an alternative to which the board might resort in the event its other plans failed, but Mr. Hoover did not even want it in that wise.

As to whether the big business man or banker will be named chairman of the board remains to be seen.

Banker May Be Chairman.

The fact that Mr. Hoover wanted the question of the chairman's salary left to his discretion in order that he could obtain the services of a high caliber man carries some suggestion that he wants the chairman to be of the business or banker type. Certainly, the President will attach considerable importance to this member.

This will be a man not concerned with the growing of crops, having no knowledge of it necessarily, but one who knows how to dispose of them; and that is what the farmer wants.

It will probably be two weeks before the membership of the board is announced.

Colored groups are seeking representation on the board. Prof. Kelly Miller, of Howard University, has asked the President to name a colored man. "The negro's destiny in this country is rooted and grounded in the soil," he says.

brandt likes most to think of, you can find out in a jiffy. An amazing array of notables have confided in Chapple.

President Hoover's favorite, "The Fisherman," from Eddie Guest's "Just Folks," recites a conversation between two men who met "along a stream that raced and ran" in earshot of "the pipes o' pan" and admired each other's trout.

"Out here," he told, with a smile,
"Away from all the city's sham,
The strife for splendor and for style,
The ticker and the telegram,
I come for just a little while
To be exactly as I am."

The President's second favorite poem is "the fishing cure," a sequel to the first one.

The poems of Edgar A. Guest, author of President Hoover's favorite poem, appear daily in The Washington Post.

GRADUATING CLASS AT BROOKLAND SCHOOL

H. de Long.

Several Pastors Will Talk On Warm Weather Topics

Invitingly Cool Churches Also Planned by Some Ministers; Rev. J. R. Sizoo to Leave on Vacation After Services in New York Avenue Tomorrow.

Services apropos the present warm weather have been arranged for tomorrow at Protestant churches of Washington. Length of the services will be reduced considerably, and numerous pleasant features will be introduced for the purpose of helping congregations forget the uncomfortable weather.

The Rev. Franklin N. Parker, dean of the Candler School of Theology at Emory University, Atlanta, Ga., will preach at both services in the Mount Vernon Place Church. His morning subject will be "Waiting Upon God." In the evening he will preach on "Christ, the Savior."

Bruce Gannaway will speak to the junior congregation in the Sunday school auditorium at 11 o'clock on "Three Men." On Wednesday evening, at 7 o'clock, a banquet will be given by the A. B. Pugh Bible Class in honor of Eugene Black, the teacher, who is soon to return to Texas. The Workers' Council of the Sunday school will meet at 7 o'clock Thursday evening. The pastor, the Rev. W. A. Lambeth, will conduct the prayer meeting service at 8 o'clock Thursday evening. The church camp will open at Arlington Hall next Saturday.

The Rev. Joseph R. Sizoo will preach at both services of the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church. His subject for the morning service, at which the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered, will be "Conscripts of the Cross." At the evening service, at 8 o'clock, his subject will be "Growing Old." This will be Dr. Sizoo's last service in the church before he leaves for his summer vacation.

Cool Church Pastor's Object.

The Rev. E. Hez Swem, pastor of the Centennial Baptist Church, has announced that at the evening service tomorrow he will elaborate on "I Found Money! Don't You Wish You Had?" Dr. Swem says that during the summer months he is making a point in his services of "coolness, comfort and sermon shortness." His subject at the morning service will be "An Endurance Reason."

The Rev. Earle Wilfley, pastor of the Vermont Avenue Christian Church, will preach at the morning service on "What Makes a Christian?" At the evening service he will speak on "Rainbows."

"The Supremacy of the Spiritual" will be the subject of the Rev. Harold E. Beatty at the Georgetown Lutheran Church tomorrow morning. A children's day service will be held at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night.

At the morning service of the Albright Memorial Evangelical Church, the Rev. George E. Schnabel, the minister, will preach on "Just to Be Alive." At the evening service, at 8 o'clock, his subject will be "Confirm Your Faith."

Next Wednesday evening the men's club of the church will meet to plan its annual carnival. Next Saturday, the Sunday school will go to Pierce Mill, Rock Creek Park, for its annual picnic. Beginning next Monday, a daily vacation church school will be conducted, it has been announced.

Beginning tomorrow morning, All Souls Unitarian Church, the Mount Pleasant Congregational Church and the Universalist National Memorial Church will unite in a series of union services. The services will last until September 8. The first six services will be held in All Souls Church, Sixteenth and Harvard streets northwest, the last six in the Mount Pleasant Church, 1841 Irving street. At the first service at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning the Rev. John Van Schaick, editor of the Christian Leader, Boston, Mass., former pastor of the Universalist Church of Washington and former president of the Board of Education, will preach. The music will be furnished by Flora McGill Keefer, mezzo-contralto; Charles Trowbridge Tittmann, bass, and Lewis Atwater, organist.

The schedule of preachers for the entire series of union services follows: June 30, the Rev. Ulyssess G. B. Pierce; July 7 and 14, the same preacher; July 21, the Rev. George Lawrence Parker, pastor of the First Unitarian Church, Toledo, Ohio; July 28, the Rev. Frederic W. Perkins; August 4, the Rev. Robert Wood Coe, Brockton, Mass.; August 11, the Rev. Cornelius Greenway, Church of the Redemption, Boston; August 18, the same preacher; August 25, to be announced; September 1, the Rev. Charles Stanley Jones, of Detroit; and September 8 the Rev. Modes R. Lovell.

Vacation Service Scheduled.

A vacation service will be held tomorrow morning at the Fifth Baptist Church in honor of twenty recent graduates of the church school. The Rev. John E. Briggs, the pastor, will preach on "Following a Vision." At the evening service the Students League of Many Nations, of Binghamton, N. Y., will present a program that has been given 1,200 times in various churches of the country.

The Rev. Edward O. Clark, pastor of the Chevy Chase Baptist Church, will preach at the morning service on "Good and Evil." A story sermon for junior members of the church also will be given.

Beginning at 7 o'clock tomorrow evening, the Chevy Chase Church will unite with other churches of the community in union vesper services, to be held on the lawn of the Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church. The Rev. Henry Teller Cocke will be the preacher. The other churches of Chevy Chase which are cooperating in the services are All Saints Episcopal, First Methodist Episcopal and the Wesley Methodist Episcopal.

At the Takoma Park Baptist Church the Rev. William E. La Rue will preach at the morning service on "The Inescapable Jesus." At the evening service he will preach on "Spiritual Preparedness." At the morning service Dr. La Rue also will preach to the younger members of the church on "Seeing With Fingers."

The Rev. W. M. Michael, pastor of the Brightwood Park M. E. Church, will preach at the morning service on "Unobserved Sins," and in the evening on "The Curse of Uselessness."

A daily vacation Bible school for children from 4 to 11 years of age, regardless of church affiliation, will open at 9 o'clock Monday at the Brightwood Park Church. The school will be in charge of Miss Virginia Wolfe. The picnic of the Sunday school will be held next Wednesday in Rock Creek Park, near the reservoir. Dr. Michael has announced that a payment of $2,750 was made on the church debt this week.

The Rev. B. P. Robertson, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Hyattsville, will preach tomorrow morning on "Christian Patriotism" and at the 8 o'clock service on "The Value of Wisdom." The Sunday school will meet at 9:30 o'clock, and the B. Y. P. U. at 7 o'clock tomorrow night.

The Rev. C. B. Austin, pastor of the West Washington Baptist Church, will preach at the morning service on "New Things." His topic in the evening will be "Spiritual Athletes." Dr. Homer J. Councilor will lecture in the auditorium of the church at 8 o'clock Monday evening on "Jerusalem, the Golden."

"God's Interest in Our Lives" will be the subject of the Rev. John D. Gregory at the Church of the Covenent tomorrow morning. A series of brief studies of some of the significant prayers and lyric expressions of praise and reverence in the Old and New Testaments will be begun at 8 o'clock next Thursday.

Speakers in Bible Class Parley Are Announced

The eighth annual Organized Bible Class Conference will be held at Western Maryland College, Westminster, Md., on Friday, Saturday, Sunday, July 5-7, it was announced yesterday.

Dr. Charles L. Goodell, chairman of the Committee of Evangelism of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, will be the conference speaker. Addresses will also be delivered by the Rev. Joseph T. Herson, pastor of St. Mark's Methodist Church, Baltimore, Md.; the Rev. Mark Depp, pastor of the Calvary Methodist Church; the Rev. S. B. Daugherty, pastor of the Memorial United Brethren Church; Representative John C. Box, of Texas, and Dr. William Knowles Cooper, general secretary of the Y. M. C. A.

26 CHURCHES COOPERATE

The Rev. Dr. Homer J. Councilor, president of the Sunday School Council of Religious Education, will be the principal speaker at the first of a series of open-air services in Lincoln Park tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association and an interchurch committee.

The Sunday afternoon park services are held each summer in the northeast section with the cooperation of 26 northeast and southeast churches. The series is arranged under the direction of Page McK. Etchison, religious work director of the Y. M. C. A.

The service tomorrow will inaugurate the twenty-second consecutive season, according to Mr. Etchison. Dr. Councilor is director of religious education of Calvary Baptist Church and dean of the School of Religious Education of the District of Columbia College of the Y. M. C. A. A song program will be led by William R. Schmucker, assisted by C. M. Griest and Mrs. Margaret R. Moffat, organist.

The churches cooperating with the Y. M. C. A. in the series are Grace Baptist, Maryland Avenue Baptist, Metropolitan Baptist, Rosedale Methodist Episcopal, Second Baptist, Church of the Brethren, First Brethren, Fifteenth Street Christian, Ingram Memorial Congregational, Christ Episcopal, Church of the Good Shepherd, St. Mark's Episcopal, Keller Memorial Lutheran, St. Matthew's Lutheran, Church of the Reformation, Lutheran, Bruen Methodist Episcopal, Douglas Memorial Methodist Episcopal, Trinity Methodist Episcopal, Waugh Methodist Episcopal, Wilson Memorial Methodist Episcopal, Epworth Methodist Episcopal South, First Methodist Protestant, Eastern Presbyterian, and Metropolitan Presbyterian.

UNION TO CELEBRATE AT FAIRFAX CHURCH

Rev. W. Stuart Nelson Will Speak at Sunday School Session in Merrifield.

PLANS PARENTS' SERVICE

The Rev. W. Stuart Nelson, assistant to the president of Howard University, will address the Fairfax Central Baptist Sunday School Union at the First Baptist Church of Merrifield, Fairfax County, Va., tomorrow, it was announced yesterday.

The occasion will mark the thirty-ninth aniversary of the organization. The organization is composed of 20 Sunday schools and about 100 religious workers of Fairfax County. In addition to Dr. Nelson, a large number of Washington Sunday school workers are expected to be present.

At the Lincoln Congregational Temple tomorrow morning, the Rev. R. W. Brooks will speak from the subject, "The Understanding Heart."

The Rev. J. L. S. Holloman, pastor of the Second Baptist Church, will deliver the first of a series of sermons on "The Seven Seals" tomorrow morning. His subject will be "The Mighty Conqueror." At the evening service, Dr. Holloman will preach on "Is America a Lawless Nation?"

The Rev. A. F. Elmes will preach at the Peoples Congregational Church tomorrow morning on "The Overthrow of Evil."

The Rev. Dr. J. Milton Waldron, pastor of the Shiloh Baptist Institutional Church, will preach a special sermon to parents and their friends at the morning service. A brief program of music and recitations will be given by the Cradle Roll Department of the Sunday school. At the close of the sermon, Dr. Waldron will hold a special prayer service for infants and their parents. At the 8 o'clock service tomorrow evening, Dr. Waldron will preach the second of a series of sermons on Bible interrogatives. His subject will be, "Whom Do Men Say That I, the Son of Man, Am?" There will be special music at each service by the choir and male quartet.

"Heart Culture" will be the subject of the Rev. George O. Bullock tomorrow morning at the Third Baptist Church. His topic at the evening service at 8 o'clock will be, "Man Called to Reason With God."

Bishop Edward D. Jones will preach at the morning service of the New Bethel Baptist Church. The Rev. D. F. Rivers will preach at the evening service.

Dr. Collier Announces Tabernacle Sermons

The Rev. Harry L. Collier, pastor of the Full Gospel Tabernacle, North Capitol and K streets, will preach tomorrow morning on "Golden Keys to Heaven's Windows." At the popular evangelistic service tomorrow evening he will preach on "When Christ Visited Ashdod."

Dr. Collier announced that at the Tabernacle offering of last Sunday, $3,300 was collected, a sufficient sum to wipe out the second mortgage indebtedness on the building.

NO ROOM FOR TROTZKY.

Leon Trotzky is said to be putting out feelers for the purpose of entering the United States. He has been denied admission into Germany, and his application for admission into England is so strongly opposed that Prime Minister MacDonald may not admit him. The Soviet government of Russia certainly would not look with approval upon Trotzky's admission into England, where he could be depended upon to intrigue against the Soviet leaders. As Mr. MacDonald is anxious to establish cordial relations between his government and the Soviet, it does not seem likely that he will embarrass the situation by admitting Stalin's deadly enemy.

Trotzky is a terrorist communist of the reddest dye. Since reaching Constantinople he has reiterated his belief in communism of the Lenin brand, and has denounced the Soviet leaders for departing from the terrorist system. He can not meet the test applied to an alien seeking admission into the United States. The law specifically excludes communists. No discretion is allowed to the executive branch of the Government in applying this law. When the communist Saklatvala, a member of the British Parliament, sought admission, Secretary Kellogg called attention to this law.

No affidavit or other assurance by Trotzky that he had changed his views would be worth the paper upon which it was written. His true character is fixed and well known. The United States has no room for such aliens as Trotzky.

UNIONIZING THE MOVIES.

With the American Federation of Labor squarely behind the Actors' Equity Association in the campaign to unionize the movies, it seems inevitable that producers must go in for a closed shop. Two weeks ago, Equity announced its determination to unionize the movies. For some time its members had been deserting the legitimate stage for the talkies and the association found it difficult to enforce discipline in the legitimate theater with the highly lucrative fields of Hollywood beckoning all actors. Consequently, it announced that motion picture contracts could be made only on standard contract forms, and that no Equity member might appear in any picture the entire cast of which was not composed of Equity members. The producers ignored the threat. On Wednesday of this week the American Federation of Labor, through its president, William Green, put itself on record as supporting the Equity move.

It seems incredible that producers should try to fight. Practically all the artisans that labor on the Hollywood motion picture lots are members of unions affiliated with the federation. Musicians, stage hands, electricians, operators and others employed in the theaters of the country, are unionized. The federation's support of Equity means, in effect, that if Equity's demands are not met, work on every producing lot will be halted and the theaters of the country darkened. Equity will not hesitate to invoke a general strike if its end can be attained in no other way.

Movie producers are having trouble aplenty this summer. The French film controversy is far from solution, and at the present moment distributors of American films are preparing to withdraw from the French market. If they are forced to this extreme step, they will lose a valuable source of revenue. If the industry is unionized throughout, the producers believe that their production costs will be increased. What effect the loss of income, on one hand, and the increase in production costs, on the other, will have on the quality of pictures remains to be seen. Most people believe that profits in the past have been large enough to take care of both the possible loss of revenue and the prospective increased production cost.

WOMEN WORKERS' RIGHTS.

The movement to secure for women workers equal rights with men is apparently gaining ground. Those interested in the subject have been following the developments at the two international conventions of women in Berlin this week. The question has been particularly interesting because the women themselves have been divided into two groups with antagonistic viewpoints. Last year the International Women's Suffrage Alliance, meeting in Paris, went on record as decidedly favoring protective legislation for women in industry. Advocates of protection made a determined fight this week for continuation of that policy. But the convention wavered and decided that further study of the subject is needed. It was suggested that each country appoint two delegates, one for and the other opposed to protection, to make a detailed investigation before final action is taken at the next international congress in 1932.

On the other hand, the group which is fighting for repeal of all legislation which tends to give special privileges to working women appears to have materially strengthened its cause. What is known as the Open Door International was created during the Berlin convention. Its avowed purpose is to work for equality of the sexes in both work and pay without restrictions by reason of marriage or parenthood. Groups have been active in the United States and other countries in an attempt to "emancipate" women in industry, but their campaign now appears to be organized on an international scale.

It is notable also that the Suffrage Alliance, former foe of equal rights, passed a resolution urging equal pay for equal work by men and women, and deploring "the tendency in some countries to restrict the right of married women to engage in paid work."

The tenth anniversary of woman suffrage in America was recently celebrated by proposal of another amendment to the Federal Constitution, which would liberate women in industry from restrictive legislation. The issue directly concerns more than 8,000,000 feminine wage earners in the United States. It will be interesting to watch what effect creation of the new equal-rights organization and the investigation of the Suffrage Alliance will have on the movement in this country.

LIPTON VS. ADAMS—AND HURRY UP!

Great Britain has been no more conscious or proud of her sea traditions than has the United States. Through the centuries ships have borne stout-hearted Englishmen to the four corners of the earth and from the earliest days of the republic American skippers have gone down to the sea, asking no favors and depending upon their courage and skill to get their vessels safely back to port. Since steam replaced canvas as the motive power of vessels, the traditions of seamanship have found their expression generally in competition. For more than 50 years, the most important event has been the race for the America's Cup.

For a month or more, the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, in behalf of that indomitable old man of the sea, Sir Thomas Lipton, has been negotiating with the New York Yacht Club for a race for the famous cup, to be sailed in the fall of 1930. The New York club has accepted the challenge. The race will be sailed, best three out of five, off Newport, R. I., starting September 13, 1930. It will be open to yachts of 76-foot rating with no time allowance.

Several precedents will be broken in this race. For the first time a major event will be held off Newport, a course that is not as accessible to the general public as it might be, and for the first time in years the boats will be of equal rating, so that there will need be no handicap allowance. In many respects it is too bad that the race will be sailed over a course that is not readily accessible, but, on the other hand, the fewer sightseeing vessels there are the less chance there will be of interference with the racing vessels. The fact that there will be no time allowances for the vessels will be generally approved. Handicapping is at best a poor way of equalization, and a race loses interest when the first vessel to cross the finish line may or may not be the winner.

Yachting circles will have much of interest to watch from now on. Boats must be built on both sides of the Atlantic, and they must be thoroughly tested. Sir Thomas Lipton will sail the challenger, but a skipper for the American boat must be chosen. Several amateur sailors are available, any one of whom is capable of handling the defender, but it would seem peculiarly appropriate that this honor be conferred upon Charles Francis Adams, Secretary of the Navy. There is no better skipper in the United States than the old salt who rules the Navy.

NEW BASIS OF IMMIGRATION.

Immigration quotas under the national origins system have been officially announced by the State Department to become effective July 1. The Senate failed to repeal the national origins clause, which has been held in suspension since 1924, and since Congress is now in adjournment the last chance of changing the law has passed.

The squabble that arose over adoption of the national origins systems was hardly justified, in view of the minor changes it entails. The new quotas will allow 150,000 immigrants to enter this country annually, which is a reduction of approximately 11,000. The policy of restrictive immigration is thus strengthened. Opposition to the national origins plan arose chiefly because of the reallocation of immigrants from the various countries of Europe. Yet the character of immigration will be changed but little under the new quotas. The old arrangement under which quotas were based on the number of foreign born living in the United States in 1890, gave northwestern Europe a distinct advantage. The northwestern countries sent 85.6 per cent of the immigrants, and the southeastern 12.3 per cent. The new arrangement gives northwestern Europe 81.8 per cent of all immigration and 15.8 per cent to the southeast. Immigrants who are considered most assimilable continue to predominate.

Quotas of some northwestern countries, however, are changed considerably. Germany's quota is cut in half, and those of Norway, Sweden, Denmark and the Irish Free State are reduced. On the other hand the quotas of England and northern Ireland are materially increased. The difference is that, under the new system, immigration from any one country will be proportionate to its national strain already represented in the American population.

Aside from the opposition that has come from those countries whose quotas are reduced, the chief foes of the national origins clause have been those who believe that the new quotas are inaccurate. There is little opposition to the theory of basing immigration on the make-up of the entire people. It appears that the country is converted to this theory if a practical application of it can be made. In that event, there is little to be regretted in the fact that the national origins system becomes effective next month.

It is an extremely difficult task to determine the actual proportion to which each European country has been assimilated into the American. But if it can be done more accurately than it has been done in the present law, there is nothing to prevent corrections and improvements in the future. In the meantime the quotas which have been worked out will more accurately represent each element than the quotas based on the 1890 census. The chief opponents of the new law asked for its suspension until the new system could be perfected, rather than for its repeal. Now that the general policy of national origins has been accepted, the way is open for making the quotas as nearly accurate as possible.

THE GUGGENHEIM TEST.

Interest in the Guggenheim safety contest for aircraft, which opened this week at Mitchel Field, Long Island, has been somewhat overshadowed by the emergence of Col. and Mrs. Lindbergh from their honeymoon retreat. But during the coming four months these contests will bring to public attention many unsolved problems in connection with safety in the air. The competition will determine whether or not a "foolproof" plane has yet been developed; if so, the craft will win a prize of $100,000 for its owners.

A plane whose safety would not be absolutely dependent upon the judgment of the pilot would be a tremendous advance in air transportation. The first objective of the aircraft builders was an efficient mechanism which could be depended upon so long as it was intelligently managed by the pilot. But it is now known that a large percentage of the accidents in the air are caused by faulty judgment of pilots. If this type of crashes could be eliminated, the airplane would soon approach the safety records of the automobile and the railway. Such a promotion of safety would speed the adaptation of the airplane to commercial and passenger uses as nothing else could.

Demands for a "foolproof" plane may be expected to increase with every advance in the use of aircraft. If the airplane is to become popular, as is the automobile, it must be capable of being managed by persons who are not highly trained. If the safe operation of a plane can be reduced to the simplicity of driving an automobile, the possibilities of aircraft development are tremendous.

The participation of the autogiro as well as the conventional types of aircraft lends zest to the contest. The outcome, whatever it may be, will be highly interesting.

Two Washington inventors demonstrate a process that makes motion picture film less inflammable, but in view of the way the public likes its movies it is doubtful if there will be much demand for the invention.

JAPAN'S NAVAL VIEWS

By HUGH BYAS,
In Wireless Dispatch to the New York Times.

Tokyo, June 20.—Japan is watching the developments in President Hoover's disarmament efforts with the keenest interest, but with a certain passivity which reflects the country's actual situation as between Great Britain and the United States.

In conversation today a very high naval authority revealed, in an informal and noncommittal way, the navy's views at the present somewhat fluid stage of the proceedings.

"The navy," he said, "realizes that taxpayers everywhere are overburdened by the cost of armaments and we can not oppose any reasonable scheme for reduction. It is for the government to say what fleets the national policy requires.

"The professional feelings of naval men must not stand in the way of reduction of the burdens. Japan is willing to go to a conference and give her best cooperation."

Asked whether it was possible to make an agreed-upon yardstick for measuring naval strength, the officer said it was not impossible but it was not an easy task. He illustrated the point by recalling that the Washington Conference devised a new way of measuring the standard of displacement, but he said the measurement of fighting values was immensely more difficult because so many of the factors were themselves estimations.

The naval authority admitted that it was not necessary to take naval bases and other extraneous factors into account, but he thought that the measurement of the fighting strengths of the cruiser fleets too complex a task to be accomplished by arithmetical or algebraical formula. He implied that statesmen must finally take the responsibility of deciding what degree of relativity the countries could accept.

Asked whether the prospective conference could, like the Washington Conference, base its work on the status quo, he said that the great difficulty was in finding a status for cruisers.

"At Washington," he continued, "the delegates sat down before a fine big fish. It was a simple matter to slice off equal portions but when it came to dividing the bones and fragments, Washington found the task too difficult. So did Geneva. The hardest part of the work still faces us."

This high official was not clear, from the cabled reports of Gen. Dawes' speech, whether the experts were expected to devise yardsticks separately or jointly. A civilian authority to whom this point was put assumed that each country's experts would propose a formula and that their statesmen would reconcile the differences.

The foregoing may be taken as a frank statement of the Navy's view of the situation as at present. While consenting to speak his mind in the interest of general understanding, this officer said the less that naval officers said just now the better, as the question had not reached their sphere.

The question of a ratio was not touched upon in the interview but it must be added that opposition to the application of the 5-5-3 battleship ratio rigidly to all categories is firm here. Though Japan accepted the 5-5-3 ratio as a convenient formula for capital ships, she has never regarded it as a standard for all classes indiscriminately. Some flexibility on this point is necessary if it is desired to smooth Japan's way.

While Japan could be forced to accept the 5-5-3 ratio for cruisers, since the Japanese statesmen acknowledge the logic of facts and have no delusions regarding the relative strength of the United States themselves, yet it would facilitate success in this matter, it is felt, if it were frankly admitted that the 5-5-3 ratio has neither the sanctity of the Ten Commandments nor the force of the law of gravitation.

New Orleans Times-Picayune: "Mouette" means sea gull, which may account in two ways for Lindy's choice of that name for his honeymoon launch. The gull is a bird, and has the Eagle's regard, and it was by means of the craft that he so neatly gulled an expectant public all set for a swanky wedding ceremony with rice, old shoes and everything.

Golf's Democracy.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: Horton Smith discusses happily the democracy of golf, from which, as he observes, the last trace of snobbishness has disappeared. The Missouri wonder documents his essay with such instances as Hagan and the Prince of Wales in the fellowship of the links, the winning of the British amateur championship by one of the crowd and the status of the "pro" in club circles. Further and more dramatic data might have been levied upon. In golf, the captain of industry defers humbly to his caddy; the snooty highbrow "takes it on the chin" from the instructor without protest or demurrer; the proudest of patricians sob their hearts out in despair or coin sulphuric metaphors in an orgy of primitive unrestraint. One thing is certain. Pedigrees, purses and palaces mean nothing at all to that bland, serene and impish adversary, the golf ball. If you don't keep your eye on it you're a dub, and that goes for prince, proletarian, or the colonel's lady and Judy O'Grady. Moscow couldn't ask for more.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to a Flapper Daughter.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY DEAR LOUISE:

Yesterday I invaded your room in search of a book. I didn't find it, for the evidence of shipwreck made me forget my errand.

Your desk was littered; a score of miscellaneous possessions lay scattered on your dressing table; intimate garments lay sprawled on chairs; nothing seemed in order.

An untidy room seems a small matter, doesn't it? A day or two ago it was in apple-pie order, and an hour's work would make it spick and span again. Why worry?

I'll tell you why the thing is more important than it seems. Do you remember the little square house we pass on the way to the mountains—the one that was so long in building and still has rough four-by-fours for porch columns?

Well, the man who owns it intended to put up orthodox round columns and paint them to match the house. But he put off doing it and got accustomed to the rough timbers, and now the job never will be properly finished.

You can trick your own mind very easily. It thinks a certain job very important and urges you to do it, but you decide to wait until tomorrow and your mind says to itself: "I must have been mistaken. The job can't be important, else she would have attended to it. I'll just classify it as a No. 3 job and forget it." And that is precisely what happens.

Postponing any task lessens its importance in your own eyes, and after a few postponements you can live in an unfinished house or sleep in a littered room and never even notice the tasks you neglected.

And you mustn't think it a habit without significance. The one who does careless, slip-shod work develops a slip-shod character.

That sea captain who won fame last spring by making his second rescue of ship-wrecked unfortunates gave much of the credit to the men who manned the life boats. He said they were picked men, able to endure any hardship, capable of acting on their own initiative. He picked them because of their character, not their strength, and he judged their character by their work. The man who did his work neatly and thoroughly and kept himself tidy could be counted on to hold fast and do the right thing in an emergency.

You are just a bundle of habits, Honey, and habits make character. If you get the habit of postponing little duties, you will be content later to postpone big ones. If you get the habit of throwing things helter-skelter in your room, your mind will be the same kind of jumble and your life will be a tangled, purposeless affair of the same character.

You may not believe that, but didn't I hear you tell Constance her baby would be bowlegged if she made it walk too soon? If legs are that easily shaped, isn't it reasonable to believe that early influence shapes character, also?

If you don't arrange your own life, Chance will arrange it—and make a mess of it, maybe.

CHILDREN'S DAY.

That endless line of cars, funereally slow, dragging itself homeward at all approaches to the city, from Sunday afternoon till Monday, observes the New York Herald Tribune. But once upon a time • • •

Children's day came after apple blossom Sunday, in June when the peonies were out. They stood in tall vases on each side of the pulpit; dark red, old-fashioned kinds that scented the whole church within a little while after Mrs. Perkins had brought them in, well before service. During the long drive from her house, three miles away, she had supported them anxiously as they stood in a pail of water on the wagon bottom at her feet. Once when the horse shied the water splashed out over her pointed patent leather Sunday shoes. But hers were the finest "pinies" in the congregation.

It took some time to dress the altar for children's day. The ladies swished in early and consulted in whispers, rustling reverently about in ruffled white, carrying full vases from the pump in the yard. The font was filled with great wan water lilies, pulled by the boys from White Pond at sunrise. Ropes of daisies which the younger ladies had gathered and made with gentle excitement yesterday were festooned along the platform. A tumblerful of lilies-of-the-valley was placed beside the Bible. All done in a tense and fragrant silence, broken only by a bumble-bee that had followed the flowers in.

When the children marched in, all ribbons and needlework and big bows tied to curls, the church was quiet and sweet. Parents turned their heads to watch, but without unseemly commotion. Every one knew what the text would be, today; which the hymns. And then at last the program! The thrill of the presentation of Bibles, and next a pink posy of five summers, trembling but resolute, ascended the steps, turned and bowed • • • One must not fail, with God listening! In a solemn voice, yet remembering to put in every gesture, she declaimed "Heigh-ho, daisies and buttercups!" The others did just as beautifully, and afterward there was the delight of talking in the vestibule, the jogging drive home under parasols, the chicken potpie, and just a song and prayer service after tea. That was a strange Sunday, ending at evening. Peonies and stillness—and time.

MUNICIPAL ROSES.

In the municipal rose garden of Monterey, Calif., more than 1,200 rose bushes bloom at the same time, says the New York Herald Tribune. The garden was started by the City of Monterey a year ago, when a small part of the planting was done, but most of the roses have been planted this spring. The garden contains about 1,400 roses—more than 200 varieties of bush roses, over 60 varieties of climbing roses, twenty varieties of pillar roses and about an equal variety of standard or tree roses. Some of these latter are budded with three harmonizing colors on the stem.

A lily pool is in the center of the garden, ringed around by tree and baby roses. Surrounding this central feature are the mass plantings of red, pink, yellow and new-bud roses. One bed contains 50 of the new single Vesuvius rose, a deep flaming scarlet, which is now in full bloom. A unique feature is that the garden is within two blocks of the business center of the town. It adjoins historic Colton Hall, first State capitol of California.

Old and new roses are planted in adjoining beds.

Among the old roses are examples of many roses no longer in commerce, originations of centuries ago, such as the York and Lancaster, the old blush and several varieties of the old Norse roses. Oldest of all, and perhaps most interesting, are the two bushes of what is known as Ancient Rose—identically the same rose that grew in the days of Grece and Rome.

British Ambassador Corrects Erroneous Report as to a Discussion Between Himself and Senator Borah.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Your issue of today contained an article headed "Borah and Howard Talk Sea Freedom," in which it was stated that freedom of the seas was the subject of an informal discussion between Senator Borah and myself yesterday. Shade Trees Badly Infested With Caterpillar Worms.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I trust you will call the attention of the proper authority to the condition of shade trees in various parts of our city. They are infested with a vast number of worms of the caterpillar type.

The sidewalks, park seats, &c., are constantly littered with fragments of leaves, and with worms also. The destruction of the foliage may be of more than temporary injury to the trees.

Let Westerners in Congress Knock Out Some of the Fifty-three Profits Between the Farmer and the Consumer.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: An analysis of much of the effort in Congress to "help the farmer" gives us a boiled-down fact, which the farmer has come to realize, viz., Mr. Middle-West Congressman wants to remain in Congress and must have the farmer vote to do so. He therefore is shouting loudly for any scheme that looks like giving "the folks back home" bigger prices for what they produce and lower prices for what they have to buy, no matter what the general effect would be or whether there might be reaction in a short time that would produce conditions vastly worse than we now have.

Why does not a wheat belt Senator propose a measure that will prevent a bushel of wheat from being sold 84 times between the thresher and the dinner table? Who gets the 53 profits? Why should the man who puts in back-breaking toil of 14 hours a day to produce it get the profit on one sale only, while men who never put in a full eight-hour day at real muscular labor gather in all the rest of the final price?

Let them rise in their places and tell the "folks" why, in the cities, carload after carload of cabbage, melons, spinach, lettuce, etc., are sent to the incinerator or dumped on an outward tide to stabilize the price while the producer not only loses his crop but the freight charges from the farm to the supposed market, while those who have destroyed it report "no sale, market glutted!"

It is granted that there must be distributors, and they must be paid; but some way should be provided by which the producer can get a fair share of the profits of what is grown and sold. Put efficiency into marketing, and there will be no need of "debentures" for the farmers.

Suggestions for Better Procedure in the Extradition of Prisoners Among the States.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: A few months ago the Association of Grand Jurors of New York County made an investigation of the law governing the exchange of witnesses among the States, and recommended a number of improvements. Another investigation into the extradition of criminals has been completed, and the association has brought in recommendations for simplification and standardization of extradition procedure. They found New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey have no provision whereby a fugitive arrested within their borders can be removed to another State on signing a waiver. Formal application for extradition has to be sent to the governor and an official warrant issued, a process which adds to the difficulties of securing swift and certain justice.

At present the different States have varying rules regarding the preparation of extradition papers, which lead to confusion and delay. The Grand Jurors Association urges authorities of New York to take the lead in a movement to bring about a common understanding on this matter among the States. Its investigation and recommendations illustrate the service that can be performed by an association which is constantly alert to shortcomings in the administration of justice. Constructive suggestions are forthcoming from this group at frequent intervals. Its members are, no doubt, responsible, directly or indirectly, for many of the recent improvements in judicial practice. The New York Association of Grand Jurors is setting an example which is worthy of emulation in other communities.

LAWYER.

WEALTHY CANADA.

In a recent article written for a Toronto financial paper, James E. Boyle, professor of agricultural economics at Cornell University, states:

"Canada is a country of vast virgin resources. The United States is sometimes spoken of as the richest country in the world, due to the immense progress of both agriculture and industry in that country. The fact is, however, that Canada is a country of larger area, and of far greater wealth in natural resources per capita. With a balanced development of Canadian resources, coupled with an equally balanced growth of those two great arteries of economic life—transportation and banking—Canada is destined to be the wealthiest country in the world. Already her exports per capita have a value four times those of the United States."

Rio Prepares Gala Welcome For Delegates

Wife of 2 U. S. Envoys to Highway Conclave Will Go Along.

By JEAN ELIOT.

WHILE congressional junkets are "out of order" this summer, due to the extra session, there will be congressional participation in the South American tour arranged in connection with the second Pan-American highway conference to be held at Rio de Janeiro in August. For Senator Tasker L. Oddie, of Nevada, and Representative Cyrenus Cole, of Iowa, have been appointed by President Hoover to represent the legislative branch of the Government.

The chairman of the delegation is Mr. J. Walter Drake, of Detroit, one-time Assistant Secretary of Commerce. Mrs. Drake will accompany her husband. Mrs. Oddie also will go, and possibly there will be other ladies in the party. The other members of the American delegation are Mr. Thomas H. MacDonald, chief of the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads; Mr. Frank Sheets, of Illinois; Mr. C. M. Babcock, of Minnesota, and Mr. Frederick A. Riemer, president of the American Road Builders Association.

Congress having authorized its appointment by the President, the commission will be given an official welcome by the Brazilians. The conference will open on August 16 to continue ten days and is being held in the height of the season in Rio de Janeiro, one of the gayest capitals in the world. All sorts of spectacular festivities are being planned, in which many of the Brazilian officials and residents of Rio de Janeiro who entertained lavishly for the President and Mrs. Hoover on their visit to the capital of Brazil will participate.

After the close of the conference the American delegation will visit Uruguay, Argentina, Chile and Peru, and it will not return to the United States until early in November.

Mrs. Oddie Nurses Injured Ankle in Capital.

Senator Oddie has gone to his home in Nevada, to remain until shortly before the delegation sets sail. But Mrs. Oddie is remaining in Washington, nursing an injured ankle in the hope that it will be entirely well before her departure. Representative Cole has closed his apartment at the Wardman Park Hotel and has gone to Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The delegation will sail on July 27.

Mrs. Thomas C. Dawson, of Washington, and her daughter, Miss Lilita Dawson, will be in Rio de Janeiro while the Pan-American road conference is in progress and doubtless will be involved in many of the festivities in honor of the delegation, as well as in the gayeties of the "midwinter" season in that capital.

They will sail on July 6 for South America and are to visit Mrs. Dawson's mother, Senhora Guerra-Duval, and her brother and sister-in-law, Senhor and Senhora Fernando Guerra-Duval. The widow of an American foreign service official, Mrs. Dawson is a Brazilian by birth, but she has not been home for a visit in many years and this will be her daughter's first season in Rio de Janeiro. The day after Mrs. Dawson expects to land in Brazil, her mother will celebrate her seventy-sixth birthday.

Mrs. and Miss Dawson expect to return to Washington in September, but expect to remain only a few weeks, going shortly to Mexico City to visit Mr. Allan Dawson, who is secretary of the United States Embassy. Miss Dawson was her brother's guest in Mexico last spring, arriving just in time to share the excitement which followed the announcement of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's engagement to Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the United States Ambassador. She was the guest for a time of Ambassador and Mrs. Morrow at the embassy.

Ambassador of Italy Entertains at Dinner.

Miller, of San Diego, Calif. Miss Kitts is the daughter of the late Lieut. Col. William Penn Kitts and granddaughter of Mr. William A. Kitts, for many years business manager of the Army and Navy Journal. Lieut. Miller is a graduate of the Naval Academy, class of 1922. The wedding will take place July 15 at the Army War College Club.

Mrs. Frank Barrows Freyer, wife of Capt. Freyer, will sail July 6 for Europe, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Engracia Freyer, and her two young sons, Frank and John Critcher Freyer. She expects to return in October and will reopen her home on Massachusetts avenue preparatory to introducing her daughter to society.

Capt. Freyer will leave the city on June 28 to assume command of the U. S. S. Trenton, now docked at the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Miss Mildred Huston, Miss Alice Huston and Mrs. Warren Hendricksen have come from New York and are passing a few days at the Wardman Park Hotel.

Mrs. Clarence Crittenden Calhoun will entertain Thursday afternoon at the second of a series of summer bridge teas. She was hostess at the first of these weekly festivities last Thursday, the cool porches of Rossdhu lending themselves delightfully to entertaining in the hot weather. Mr. Calhoun will not leave town until August.

Mrs. James W. McNeill, formerly of Washington, now of Asheville, N. C., is visiting Mrs. Robert H. McNeill.

Woman's Party to Honor Editor at Garden Party.

A garden party will be given by the Woman's Party at its national headquarters on Capitol Hill tomorrow afternoon at 4 o'clock in honor of Senor Maximo Soto Hall, editor of La Prensa, Buenos Aires.

Members of the National Woman's Party honor Senor Hall because he introduced the resolution adopted by the fifth Pan-American conference in Santiago, Chile, in 1923, providing that the future program of the Pan-American Union include provision for abolishing all constitutional and legal incapacities of women. With this resolution as a basis, the Inter-American Commission of Women was created by the sixth Pan-American conference in Havana in 1928 to study the status of women in the 21 American republics.

Senor Hall will be accompanied by Senora Hall, who is in the United States with him on a good-will tour.

Hostesses at the garden party will be Miss Elsie Ross Shields, of Brazil, secretary of the Inter-American Commission; Miss Clara Gonzalez, of Panama, representative on the commission; Miss Rosalmira Colomo, Miss Janeiro Brooks, Miss Annie d'Armond Marchant, Miss Ruth Sedgwick, Mrs. Catherine G. Shields, Mrs. Jennie Berliner, Mrs. Richard Wainwright and Mrs. Harvey Wiley.

BAN ON FUNDS FROM JOBHOLDERS URGED

Brookhart Opposes Candidates Accepting Money From Federal Employes.

CITES KENTUCKIAN'S CASE

(Associated Press.)

After placing in the record letters to the effect that Representative Robsion (Republican), Kentucky, had solicited funds from a postmaster for his campaign, Chairman Brookhart, of the Senate patronage committee yesterday revealed he was considering the proposal of legislation to ban Federal officeholders from contributing to political funds.

The announcement came as result of the investigation of disposal of Federal appointments in Southern States and on the eve of the committee's departure for Texas in quest of further evidence.

Representative Robsion was accused by R. B. Waddle, postmaster at Somerset, Ky., of demanding funds to meet campaign expenses and then filling a statement showing "No expenditures were made."

Waddle added that he refused "certain illegal demands" of Robsion and was not reappointed at the expiration of his term.

Another letter filed with the committee came from Sidney F. Bailey, of Madisonville, Ky., and accused the postmaster in that place, whom he did not name, of having been "often drunk on duty."

The Iowan also placed in the record letters relating to the patronage situation in South Carolina and Arkansas.

With Senator McKellar (Democrat), Tennessee, concurring, the chairman declared legislation should be enacted that "would stop such methods of collecting from Federal employes" and placed in the record a statement by himself describing as "coercive" methods used in politics by R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman for Texas. At the same time he filed a letter by Creager denying the charges.

Mrs. Cassler and Her Son Are Indicted for Murder

Valparaiso, Ind., June 21 (A.P.).—Mrs. Catharine Cassler and her adopted son, Edward, were indicted for first-degree murder today by the Porter County grand jury.

They are accused of slaying Cameola Soutar, whose body was found in a swamp near Hebron, Ind.

BEHIND THE SCREENS

With NELSON B. BELL

There has come to my desk a mass of documentary evidence that seems to prove conclusively that the service rendered the motion picture industry by Will H. Hays lies not so much in the amount of czaring he is able to do as in his admirable capacity for constructive effort that seldom finds its way to public knowledge.

This spring the Roger W. Babson organization drew a seemingly unjustifiable and completely erroneous conclusion from statistics compiled by Dr. Frederick L. Hoffman, generally recognized as the world's leading authority on homicides, in a national survey of crime waves. This fantastically warped deduction from figures which said nothing of what was imputed to them, was accorded a wide circulation and drew an immediate and vehement remonstrance from the Hays organization.

The most impressive exhibit among the mass of papers before me is a voluminous letter written to Mr. Babson by former Gov. Carl E. Milliken, of Maine, now secretary of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, of which Mr. Hays is president, in which are set forth in compact and easily accessible form statistical compilations that make clear the comparative importance and economic value of the motion picture among a group of the foremost industries fostered in the United States.

Far too exhaustive for reproduction here, even in part, this brochure comprises one of the most valuable compendiums I have seen and will be treasured as a convenient reference work whenever testimony as to the worth of the cinema is needed.

It must have given Mr. Babson a bad afternoon, too.

The last issue of Variety publishes a list of 100, or more, players of the "legitimate" stage who have signed non-Equity contracts to appear in the films, all since June 5, despite the fact that they are Equity members.

This, I take it, is important, in view of the controversy that is raging in the matter of unionizing the movies, and only goes to show something or other, unless on the other hand—and there you are!

I gather from the fact that a capacity audience kept the former Chevy Chase Theater packed Thursday night while the name contest winners were being announced that it it now permissible to divulge the new name of the Connecticut avenue playhouse. It is now the Avalon Theater, and will be so known henceforth and forever—or at least until another prize contest for a new name is held.

The $100 prize money was divided into first, second and third awards—based on priority of the receipt of names submitted—and was won, in the order named, by Myrtle M. Heckert, 3407 Twenty-ninth street northwest; Gilbert L. Johnson, 1927 Jackson street northeast, and Ruth L. McCollum, 4600 Thirtieth street northwest. These lucky contestants received $60, $25 and $15, respectively. All, of course, submitted the name decided upon by the judges acting on behalf of the Stanley-Crandall Co., Miss Heckert being first to the mail box.

Maybe, after all, I spoke out of turn in reporting the current rumor concerning Wesley Eddy and his return to Washington, in Thursday's column. A friendly note from the versatile master of ceremonies, received this morning, runs something like this:

> Dear Nelson: Like the proverbial "bad penny," I persist in turning up; but just to say "hello" (Hortense, please put the remainder of this paragraph in the old lavender file!)
> I'm entering my fifth week in Pittsburgh, and while the theater is more than one could expect and the audiences just marvelous, my thoughts often wander to dear old Washington and my happy stay there.
> Rumor hath it that I am to return to Washington in the near future and that I'm looking forward to that return engagement is putting it mildly, for nothing would give me greater pleasure.
> Mrs. Eddy joins me in wishing you the best of everything, and trust you will have a most enjoyable summer. Cordially,
> (Signed) WESLEY.

Thanks, Wes, if I can just get the best of this heat, that will be good enough!

Tomorrow, Crandall's Metropolitan Theater will take its place among the downtown, first-run houses equipped with the latest type of refrigeration plant. Always one of the coolest houses in town by virtue of a ventilating system that really ventilated, the Met now steps out with a weather manufactory that is guaranteed to make icicles out of those dewy beads of perspiration just now so much in vogue.

Practically the entire basement area of the Metropolitan has been given over to the refrigerating tank in which are housed 2½ miles of coils. It is interesting to note in this connection that laid end to end, 2½ miles of coils would reach 2½ miles!

There is a great deal more than this to be said about the installation, but space is short and time is fleeting—and so is your old man.

More anon—or perhaps Tuesday.

In case you are having a tough time trying to make up your mind where to go this afternoon, the layout is this: Columbia, the Marx Brothers, with Mary Eaton—of the Washington Eatons—and Oscar Shaw in "The Cocoanuts," screen musical comedy; Metropolitan, Lois Wilson, H. B. Warner and Jason Robards in "The Gamblers," all talkie; Fox, Jack Holt and Mickey McBan in "Father and Son," sound and dialogue; Rialto, John Boles and Laura la Plante in "Scandal," dialogue and songs; Earle, Myrna Loy, Alice Joyce and Richard Tucker in "The Squall," all talkie; Palace, Conrad Nagel and Bessie Love in "The Idle Rich," talkie; Little, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Johnson in a return engagement of "Simba."

"Twenty degrees cooler than the street!" No kidding.

Big Chief Red Tomahawk, life-long friend of my office mate, Mr. Daly, since yesterday, was guest of honor at the 7:30 performance at the Fox Theater last evening. The aged chief of the Sioux Nation occupied the presidential box and was introduced to the audience by John Irving Fisher, master of ceremonies.

It wouldn't surprise me in the least now if the Foxettes all crashed F street in new war bonnets!

Yeah, I thought of that last night, but the top of our ice box is so small I couldn't get in it!

Brause Denies Wife Has Limited Divorce

Post Admits That Published Report of Suit Was in Error.

Dr. Jacob L. Brause, of the La Salle Apartments, well known Washington dentist, yesterday pointed out that The Post was in error Wednesday morning when it said in a new story regarding suit for absolute divorce filed by his wife, Mrs. Rose H. Brause, that "the wife already has a decree of limited divorce, granted her on cruelty charges last year by the court."

"These are not the facts," Dr. Brause said. "I have never had a hearing on any of the charges my wife has made against me. It is true she filed suit for limited divorce last year, but the case has never come to trial."

The Post acknowledges it was in error when it said Mrs. Brause had been given a decree of limited divorce. It regrets its misstatement.

LUXURY WAITS POST FOX TEST WINNERS

not entered The Washington Post-Fox Theater Screen Test Contest, which is nearing the close of its first week.

For such a life may be waiting just around the corner for one or more fortunate Washingtonians whose appearance in the screen tests offered by The Post and the Fox executives may attract the attention of the men who pick new faces and new types for motion pictures, day in day out, the year around.

It is so easy to obtain a film test that many have already qualified and are urging their friends to do likewise. Out of all the screen tests made, the ten best will be sent to the Fox Film Corporation, whose casting directors will look them over in search for the new talent for which producers have been shouting their head off.

Those who qualified for the screen test in the first week of the contest, which closes at 6 o'clock tonight, were required to secure only six subscriptions to The Sunday Washington Post. The number of subscriptions required for the second week, which begins immediately the first week ends, is eight, while the third week's quota is ten subscriptions. These are easy to get, and as soon as you have the right number your screen test will be made.

John E. Campbell, director-producer of the contest for The Post, will be glad to furnish information to all interested. He may be reached at his office on the fourth floor of The Post Building, or by calling Main 4205.

You do not need to "act" for a screen test. All the motion picture people want is a glimpse of "new" people. Many stars were discovered in this way, and you may be one of the future "greats." There is no age limit or any other condition to limit entrance into the contest. Get busy now and see your screen test on the silver sheet at the Fox Theater. And if you are one of the lucky ten, a six-month pass to that theater awaits you.

DR. E. O. CROSSMAN, 66, DIES SUDDENLY

ARLINGTON BURIAL LIKELY

Word was received yesterday by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, director of the United States Veterans' Bureau, of the death in Bedford, N. H., of Dr. Edgar O. Crossman, medical director of the bureau. Dr. Crossman had been ill only a short time. The body will be brought to Washington for burial in Arlington Cemetery. Detailed arrangements for the funeral have not yet been announced.

Dr. Crossman was born in Ludlow, Vt., December 15, 1864. He graduated from New Hampshire State College and studied medicine in postgraduate courses at the University of Vermont, New York Postgraduate Medical School, the medical school of Harvard, the University of Michigan, the Boston Psycopathic Hospital.

After many years of practical medical experience, he was appointed major in the Medical Corps, neuropsychiatric division, for service in the World War. He served from August, 1918, to February, 1919. In 1923 he was made district manager of the Veterans Bureau work in New England, and in 1924 named medical director and stationed at the central office in this city.

Dr. Crossman was a member of the American Medical Association, New Hampshire State Medical Society, of which he was past president; Hillsboro County Medical Society, the American Legion; Veterans of Foreign Wars, Army and Navy Club and American Psychiatric Association. He wrote several books on medical subjects.

RITES FOR E. M. DODSON.

Funeral This Afternoon for Insurance Official at Rockville.

Funeral services for Emmitt Mitchell Dodson, 54 years old, insurance official of Rockville, who died late Thursday night at his home in Rockville, will be held at the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Fort Lincoln Cemetery.

Mr. Dodson was born in Raleigh, N. C., and was a son of the late Judge John W. Dodson, of North Carolina. He formerly lived in Washington, but has resided in Rockville for the last seven years. He was general superintendent of the western Maryland division of the People's Life Insurance Co. of Washington, with headquarters in Rockville. He was a member of Washington Commandery, No. 1, and Columbia Lodge, No. 3, F. A. A. M., and of the Almas Temple of the Mystic Shrine of Washington. Masonic services will be conducted at the grave. Besides his widow, Mr. Dodson is survived by a son, E. Willard Dodson, of Frederick, Md.

Robert McKeever Is Elected Third Vice President at Louisville.

Robert L. McKeever, widely known Washington real estate and insurance man, was elected third vice president of Lions International yesterday at the annual convention in Louisville, Ky., according to Associated Press dispatches.

Ray L. Riley, of Sacramento, Calif., first vice president, was elected to the presidency. New directors are Joseph R. Adams, of Chicago; Roderick Beddow, of Birmingham, and A. William Yungstrom, of Elmira, N. Y.

Denver, Colo., was selected as the 1930 convention city, the dispatches stated.

Office Equipment Men Will Assist Exposition

Cooperation of office equipment firms in Washington has been pledged to the Chamber of Commerce for its fifth annual industrial exposition, to be held soon, and this feature of the exposition is expected to attract wide attention.

A business show on the first floor of the Washington Auditorium will be the contribution of the office equipment firms to the exposition and 3,000 feet of space has been reserved for this unit, one firm having reserved 400 feet of the space allotted.

Apartment House Sale Asked in Suit

Foreclosure of Fashionable Valley Vista Building Sought by Action.

Suit for appointment of a receiver and a foreclosure sale of the fashionable Valley Vista Apartment building at Belmont road and Ashmead place northwest was instituted yesterday in the District Supreme Court by Herman W. Van Senden, of the Colorado Building.

The Valley Vista Apartment House Co. and Robert Cummings, of 1519 K street northwest, and Andrew M. Hood, of 927 Fifteenth street northwest, trustees, were named defendants in the proceeding, filed through Attorney Webster Ballinger.

The plaintiff stated that on April 26, 1927, the land and apartment building were conveyed to Cummings and Hood to secure payment on 244 notes totaling $150,000. When certain of the notes matured, Van Senden, who held the notes, stated that he demanded payment, but his demand was ignored.

Van Senden asked the court for appointment of a receiver to take over operation of the building and to cite the trustees to show cause why foreclosure should not be instituted.

'Blues' and 'Reds' War in Air Today

Property Near Alexandria Will Be Attacked and Defended by Planes.

War is about to be declared between the "Blues," defending the A. R. Harrison property adjoining the Washington Air Junction five miles south of Alexandria, Va., and the "Reds," formed along the North Carolina-Virginia boundary.

To participate in this war two anti-aircraft batteries of the 260th Coast Artillery, N. C. National Guard, Battery A searchlights, commanded by Capt. Louis M. Gosorn, and Battery C guns, commanded by Capt. Robert T. Daly, this afternon will take their positions on the Harrison property prepared to repel the "Reds," who are being furnished with planes by Bolling Field.

Maj. Frank C. Scofield, regular Army instructor of the 260th Artillery, has prepared the problem which will be worked out by the two forces. It includes mobilizing of troops, equipping them for the field, putting rolling equipment in order, defending the area assigned and pitching camp.

Mrs. Hoover Talks to 4-H Clubs Today

30 Stations Will Broadcast Her Address at Encampment Here; Little Symphony Plays 3 Dances at 2:30 P. M.

Heavy and continuous bombardment of static practically cut Washington off from outside radio stations last night. Local stations, however, were not affected.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover will speak to the boys and girls of America tonight over a network of 30 stations of the National Broadcasting Co., including WRC. She will be present at a meeting in Washington of representatives of the 4-H Boys' and Girls' Clubs gathered from 40 States for a seven-day encampment on the grounds of the United States Department of Agriculture, and her talk will be a part of a special 4-H Club radio program. The 4-H Clubs are supervised by the extension service of the Department of Agriculture and the State agricultural colleges.

The program will be broadcast from 10 to 11 o'clock, Eastern standard time. Several Pacific Coast stations will join the network during the last half hour of the broadcast, during which Mrs. Hoover's speech will be heard.

Mrs. Hoover accepted the invitation of the Secretary of Agriculture to join in the National 4-H Club Radio Night because of her deep interest in boys and girls. The 4-H Clubs have a membership of more than 660,000 farm and town boys and girls, who learn in the clubs the scientific principles of home-making and farming.

Besides Mrs. Hoover's talk and the brief success stories of the representative 4-H boy and girl, the program will include greetings from the Middle West, delivered through the Chicago studios of the National Broadcasting Co. by Miss Isabel Bevier, professor emeritus of household science at the University of Illinois, and from the East delivered through the New York studios of the National Broadcasting Co. by Dean A. R. Mann, of the New York State College of Agriculture, Cornell University. Music for the program will be furnished by the United States Marine Band Orchestra and soloists.

Harry A. Guggenheim, financier, will be the speaker in the tenth nation-wide broadcast in the "Universal Safety Series" at 6:15 o'clock. "Safety in the Air" will be Mr. Guggenheim's subject.

The featured artists in the Cavalcade tonight are Beatrice Belkin, Rita Gould, Sue Baxter, Charles Harrison, the Ballad Singers, the Mediterraneans, a symphonic jazz orchestra under the direction of Hugo Mariani.

The General Electric Symphony Orchestra will be heard from 8 to 9 o'clock, followed by an hour of Lucky Strike dance music. Dudy Vallee and his orchestra will play from 11 to 11:20 o'clock, followed by Jack Albin and the Hotel Bossert Orchestra.

Three dances, played by the Little Symphony under the direction of Gustave Haenschen, : : the principal features of the RCA demonstration hour, which will be heard at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. "War Dance," by Skilton; "Chinese Dance," from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite," and "Dagger Dance," from Victor Herbert's "Natoma," are the featured orchestral offerings. Stars from NBC evening presentations, who will appear on this program, include Paul Oliver, tenor of the Palmolive Hour; Merle Johnston, saxophonist of the Cities Service Orchestra, and Frank Black and his Selberling Singing Violins.

Senator Samuel W. Shortridge, of California, will speak from WMAL at 9 o'clock during the National Radio Forum on "Making a Tariff Bill."

A solo played on the tubaphone, novelty instrument invented by Joe Green, will be the feature of the program that the Temple Hour will present at 8:30 o'clock. Old numbers to be heard by the marimba orchestra are "Whispering," "The Chocolate Soldier" and a novelty arrangement of the "St. Louis Blues." More recent selections include "This Is Heaven," "To Be in Love" and "I Love to Hear You Singing."

Station WOL will present the final "Amos 'n' Andy" period at 7:11 o'clock tonight. This will be followed by a short dance program and the Silver String Revelers.

A variety hour and request program will be among the morning features.

Ed Coffey and His Percolators will be a new attraction from WJSV at 7:30 o'clock, to be followed by Robert Johnston, jew's-harpist. The Shenandoah Ramblers, Pa Brown and the Little Browns, the Southern Troubadour and the Catskill Trio are among the evening offerings.

Costumes for Dude Ranch

The dude ranches in the great open spaces of the West, where men are men and women look like men, are claiming an increasing number of smart people in search of a novel holiday. Here, the feminine visitor from the East learns that a horse doesn't have to be something one sees or bestrides at United Hunts meets, nor are riding habits always to be ordered after the English manner. On the contrary, she adopts blue jeans and stout laced boots or picturesque woolly chaps and a yellow riding shirt before mounting ponies with Western saddles. She may even go more dudish with a beaded leather jacket and flaunt a belt and cuffs to match, to say nothing of gorgeous red leather boots with ferocious spurs. In truth, she may buy and wear anything that the other dudes and the natives are wearing, which gives her incredible latitude.

She will learn, too, that evening clothes may consist of a sweater and skirt, and on Sundays, she will dress up in the simple sports dress of an onlooker and add the touch of color essential to the surroundings by a brilliant scarf.

In the sketch we show a young dude just dismounted after an adventuresome trip. She wears leather chaps, a blue riding shirt and boots of red leather! Her belt is studded and her scarf is a bandanna handkerchief. Her friend has already dressed for dinner in a white flannel dress, a small felt hat and a colored scarf.

What Today Means to You

JUNE 22.

By MARY BLAKE.

"Gemini."

If June 22 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 4:30 a. m. to 7 a. m., from 3:50 p. m. to 5 p. m., and from 8 p. m. to 9 p. m. The danger periods are from 11:30 a. m. to 12:30 p. m., and from 10 p. m. to 11 p. m.

Procrastination will be the besetting sin of this day. A "what does it matter" attitude will prevail, and many important tasks will be sadly neglected. Precious moments of the day will be wasted in visions of the future.

The child born June 22 will be naturally neat and tidy, and will be very systematic about everything it does. It can not be hurried, but if left to its own devices, it will always come out on top. It will be one of nature's lovers, and will worship animals.

You have a superiority complex, which is no doubt one of your stepping stones to success. Others who say a thing can not be done, wake up to find it has been done by you, because you have had sufficient self-confidence to try. You are fearless when your wits and ability are at stake. Your assurance is infectious, and others have to believe in you. You are never self-conscious, and you have a good deal of poise.

You may not consciously find this trait a stumbling block in any way, but it is, at times, annoying to others. In your egotism, you may think that your judgment, your tastes, your standards, are impeachable; but it does not follow. The woman born June 22 will want to make her husband over if she marries—and her barrage of criticism must be overcome, if the fires of mutual love are to remain burning brightly. Those of both sexes, whose lives are colored by today's astrological influences, will be too proud and self-sufficient to take pointers, and they will resent any kindly suggestion of improvement from others. In this respect, they stand in their own light. Self-analysis in your case is not beneficial, as you are not a fair critic of self. You are fond of public life, and you would shine in the proper setting and environment.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

BI-FOCAL TROUBLE.

The wise optician smiled and said:
"The upper half to look ahead,
The lower half whereby to read,
And thus one pair is all you'll need.
Have patience. In a week or two
Bi-focals will not trouble you."

I muttered as I left the shop:
"For distance always use the top,
The bottom lenses you will need
When you sit down to write or read."
I raised my right foot high in air
To mount a step which wasn't there.

The level street became a hill,
I looked at people standing still,
And since I used the lower glass
There seemed no room for me to pass.
I turned a corner of the street
And knocked a woman from her feet.

And all that day throughout the town
My eyes kept looking up and down,
"That fellow's drunk," I heard men say
As I went reeling down the way.
With these bi-focals on my face
The town became a crazy place.

Bi-focal troubles curious are,
The far seems near, the near seems far.
You step for heights that don't exist
And jostle folks you should have missed.
Until man grows bi-focal wise
He finds he can't believe his eyes.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE OLD GRAD RETURNS.

Scene: Almost any modern university.

(The grad is returning for his first reunion. Completely amazed by the many changes, he has tottered to the information bureau for directions.)

Secretary—Something I can do for you?

Grad—Why, I can't just get my bearings here. There have been so many changes.

Secretary—How long have you been out of college?

Grad—Nearly six years.

Secretary—Oh, we've built a new college since your time.

Grad—So it seems. Where's old Totterby Hall, dear old Totterby?

Secretary—Totterby Hall? Let me think. * * * Oh, I remember now, they tore that down four winters ago. The new Douglass B. Slessingham Memorial Library is there now. Eighteen stories high.

Grad—And how will I find Havermeyer? I roomed there in my freshman year.

Secretary—That was one of sixteen dormitories razed to make room for the Prentice H. Moultrie 22-story Gymnasium, with swimming pools on every floor and a polo field in the basement.

Grad—Well, maybe you can tell me how to find the Thaddeus Twickett Chapel, the dear old chapel with its vine-covered walls. It was one of the loveliest old buildings on the campus, but I can't seem to locate it.

Secretary—There was such a chapel, I think. It was sold to a house-wrecking and junk company to make way for that new field stone and marble memorial museum over there. Some millionaire tub-butter magnate left it to the university.

Grad—Tell me, where I can find the historic Nathan Jennifer Hall? I roomed there during my last three years in college. I should like to see my old quarters again. It was practically a new building then. Surely it is still standing.

Secretary (as a steam whistle blows). There's what's left of it over there between that concrete mixer and those tracks filled with steel girders. One of those steam shovels is scooping up the last few pieces now. You'd better hurry.

(The old grad turns to hurry across the campus. He stops in front of a car full of building contractors and is knocked down. Rising, he starts across the campus again and is felled by a flailing beam. Four other grads pick him up and start for the infirmary. They fall into an excavation for a billion dollar music school. Curtain.)

THE STRANGER.

"FOUND—In my wagon house Saturday a. m. female dog with seven puppies, cross between police and hcund dog. Unknown to me. B. W. Barrett, Hopewell Junction."—Poughkeepsie Courier.

Maybe the community is getting too big for you, mister.

Ima Dodo has bought the stock of a phonograph company on information that it has landed a contract to supply all the needles required for "needle beer."

DO YOU REMEMBER?

Away back when a bathing suit would still be in style the second season?

And back when you had to tote a suitcase to transport "her" bathing equipment to the seashore?

TODAY'S WOMEN

By EARL MINDERMAN

June 22.

This is the birthday of three famous film stars, Patsy-Ruth Miller, Dorothy Devore and Marguerite de la Motte.

Patsy Ruth Miller, born this day, 1905, made her screen debut during a visit to Los Angeles, with Doraldina, the dancer. Before she was regularly employed, she also made a picture with Douglas MacLean. Finally she was offered a contract by Goldwyn and since then has starred in many films with great success. One of her best known pictures is "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" in which she supported Lon Chaney. She was educated in a convent and is the daughter of a St. Louis dramatic critic.

Marguerite de la Motte, star of "The Three Musketeers" and other screen successes, was born this day, 1903, in Duluth, Minn. The family moved to San Diego, Calif., while she was still a child and she was educated there. She began her professional career as a dancer in a Los Angeles theater. Douglas Fairbanks picked her as his leading lady in "The Mark of Zorro," in which she made a hit.

Dorothy Devore, the comedienne, was born this day, 1901, in Fort Worth, Tex. She began her screen career with Universal Comedies. Later she rose to prominence making comedies for Al Christie.

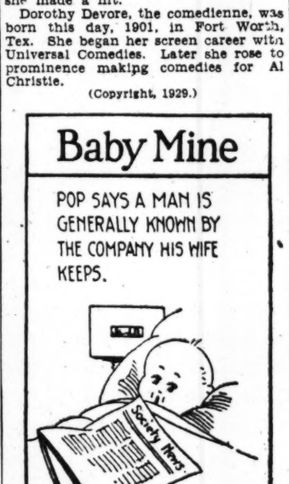
Baby Mine



Jane Interprets the Mode

A clever bloomer employing a manipulation of the material to achieve fullness without bunchiness. (A Dah-ray design.)

BLOOMERS, bloomers, bloomers! Yes, we certainly are what you might say insistent about them.

If you have ever stopped to think about it, you would be too. But, alas, no one thinks about it, and we, feeling the terrific responsibility for your loveliness as we do, have to keep reminding you!

Short skirts, winds that swoop and blow, deep comfortable chairs into which one sinks and slumps backward, all have their pitfalls. Bloomers absolutely solve a universal problem—flatteringly covering that space between stocking top and blowing skirt, and subconsciously giving one an assurance and poise that a sneaking knowledge of inadequate lingeries does not.

You are a woman, and you know exactly what I mean!

And realize that this has become such a problem that the Haute Couture itself has been designing special types of culottes and bloomers to be worn with different types of garments.

Even we have our contribution to feminine elegance and loveliness! To tell you the truth, we have been wearing them for years—sort of a family secret as it were—and finally decided that we just couldn't be selfish any longer and must tell you.

It's a bloomer of which we speak, in back of which is cut on the bias in such a way that there is all the fulness you need without any bunchiness.

And, for all of the average sizes, it takes just one yard of material to make a pair of bloomers!

Send your stamped, self-addressed envelope for this to the Dare Department of The Washington Post if you never sent for anything else in your life!

In Paris has appeared an entirely new sort of raincoat, made of material woven from the waste products of silk manufacturers, which does credit to the salvaging genius of a Henry Ford. The material, in dull white, has a rough corded surface like coarse and heavy pongee, and is highly decorative. It is rubberized inside by a special water-proofing process. With this particular type of raincoat goes a tiny hat and a medium-sized pocketbook of the same waterproof material.

You Can Make These, Too.

How to make two garments that can either be smart beach robes or bathrobes! Last day in which to send your stamped, self-addressed envelope for them!

Fashion French.

Daim (dam)—doeskin, buckskin.
Damas (dah-mah)—damask.
De (day)—thimble.

Yes, the Lovely Lady in the illustration is wearing the Dah-ray bloomer! Remember, you can send for the directions for making it.

By all means see Mme. Dare's weekly fashion letter appearing exclusively in Washington in The Sunday Post.

The New Vogue of Satin Evening Gowns

A satin called panne and as different from the satins of other seasons as the silhouettes into which Vionnet, Cheruit, and Augustabernard are fashioning it! Where's the debutante that wouldn't adore to step out in this heavenly orchid panne satin evening frock with a two-train drape and puckered seams!

Month's Trial Helped Her

"I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound when I was 14 years old to build me up. I had been frail and nervous. After taking three bottles I was in normal condition. Since then I occasionally have a run-down feeling which makes me weak, nervous and irritable. By taking two or three bottles of the Compound I am back to normal."—Mrs. Jerry C. Jarvis, R. F. D. Rail and Industrial Stocks Supplant Utilities as Market Leaders.

"MERGER" SHARES SAG

New York, June 21 A.P.).—Stock prices made further recovery in today's market, with the rails and industrials supplanting the public utilities as the leaders. While trading showed only a moderate expansion in volume, due to the uneasiness over the possibility of a money pinch next week, the demand for stocks was more varied than it has been at any time this week. Total sales fell just short of 3,200,000 shares, or slightly more than 400,000 above yesterday's total.

Inasmuch as about $400,000,000 in stock "rights" had to be taken up in the last ten days, the increase of $136,000,000 in Federal reserve brokers' loans was disregarded. Neither was any attention paid to the decline in the Federal Reserve Bank holdings of bill and Government securities, which apparently disproved rumors that there had been a relaxation in Federal reserve credit policy. Meanwhile, money rates were unchanged, call money holding steady at 7 per cent all day, although the undertone of the market was characterized as firmer.

The Chicago Federal Reserve Bank followed the action of the New York institution in announcing no change in the 5 per cent rediscount rate.

Profit-Taking in Utilities.

Public utilities, which had been in the forefront of the advance earlier in the week, ran into heavy profit-taking. Commonwealth Power dropped 4½ points, American Power & Light, Detroit Edison, Pacific Lighting and People's Gas dropped 2 to 3 points and Consolidated Gas, Public Service of New Jersey and several others yielded a point or more. Meanwhile, Brooklyn Union Gas and Columbia Gas & Electric moved into new high ground.

Announcement of a large food merger by the J. P. Morgan & Co. interests was hailed as a bullish development, but, curiously, Fleischmann and Royal Baking Powder, the stocks directly involved, lost ground, probably on "selling on the good news." There was little else in the day's news to influence the price movement. Weekly mercantile reviews continued optimistic in tone, stressing the impetus to summer goods trade given by the heat wave this week.

Speculative interest veered decidedly toward the rails in the late trading. Atchison ran up 6 points and retained most of its gain, Union Pacific and New York Central each advanced about 8 points, and a dozen others advanced 1 to 3 points, with New Haven and Norfolk & Western reaching new high ground for the year.

Steel and Anaconda Popular.

U. S. Steel common and Anaconda were two of the most popular standard industrials, the former closing 2¾ points higher at 180¾ after having closed 181, and the latter showing a net gain of 3¼ at 115¼, which contrasts with the low of 99 touched on the recent decline.

Wide gains were registered by some of the new high-priced specialties. Adams Express soared 39 points, Federal Mining & Smelting jumped 33 points on one sale, Allis-Chalmers retained all but a point of its 19-point gain and Allied Chemical closed 14 points higher at 306 after having sold 3 points above that figure. Air Reduction, Underwood-Elliott-Fisher, Childs Co., Mackay Co., and Youngstown Sheet & Tube reached new high ground.

Mexican Seaboard common and "rights" were heavily bought on the bringing in of another well on its Ketchemen's Hill property in California, and Pan-American B recovered more than 2 points of its recent loss, but the other oils continued sluggish.

Others Move Upward.

Baldwin, A. M. Byers, Commercial Investment Trust, Commercial Solvents, General Electric, Greene Cananea Copper, May Department Stores, United Air Transport common and preferred and Wright Aero all sold 4 to 10 points higher.

Commodity markets were mixed. Cotton declined about $1 a bale on selling influenced by excellent growing weather. An early gain of 1½ cents a bushel in wheat futures, based on a better export demand, was cancelled by subsequent liquidation inspired by favorable weather forecasts. Corn futures also lost ground after an early advance.

Foreign exchange trading was quiet, with price changes inconsequential.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, June 21 (A.P.).—The continued favorable average of weather and crop advices were reflected by further realising or liquidation in the cotton market, and after a comparatively quiet morning trading became more active in the late afternoon October contracts sold off from 18.70 to 18.50 and closed at that figure, with the general list closing barely steady at net declines of 17 to 23 points.

The opening was steady at a decline of 1 to 5 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool and a favorable view of the weather reports. Initial offerings were quite readily taken by some trade buying of near months and cover-ing in the later deliveries, but after selling within a point or two of yesterday's closing quotations the market weakened with fluctuations narrow and irregular during the middle of the day, but offerings increased later and prices reached the lowest points in the late trading.

No fresh news factor was mentioned in connection with the late decline, but the continuance of July liquidation seemed to have a rather unsettling effect on sentiment, while there may have been some selling on fears of labor disturbances in the cotton mills at Lancashire.

Accordingly favorable advices received here during the day, both spinning and weaving consumers have posted a month's notice of a reduction of 12.62 per cent in wages, which it is thought will be resisted by employes.

The main factor mentioned in the decline, however, was the recent more encouraging weather and crop reports, and there may have been some selling in anticipation of favorable private end-June condition figures.

A good part of the earlier trading consisted of further switching from July to later months, and at the close July was 40 points under October, compared with a difference of 36 points at the close of the previous day. July liquidation was attributed to expectations that a good many notices of intended delivery out of the local stocks will be issued Tuesday.

Private cables reported liquidation in Liverpool on the favorable weather reports from the South, and said that sales of cotton there were below production, with some increase of looms considered likely.

Reports today, 7,807, making 7,904,790 so far this season. Port receipts, 4,743. U. S. port stocks, 877,335.

CONVERTIBLE BONDS AGAIN LEAD TRADING

Nonspeculative Issues Ease Off Slightly—Federal Group Is Spotty.

TURNOVER RATHER LIGHT

New York, June 21 (A.P.).—Convertible rail and telephone obligations, advancing on the stocks, accounted for most of the activity on today's ragged bond market. Issues without a speculative flavor eased slightly, although the charge for long-term time loans dropped to 7⅛ per cent. It had ranged on Thursday between that figure and 8 per cent.

Railroad securities exchangeable for stocks showed considerable improvement. The largest gain was made by the Atchison 4½s, up 1⅜ on a large turnover. Erie convertible 4s mounted 1¼ and fractional advances were made by Baltimore & Ohio 4½s, Missouri Pacific 5½s and Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants.

American Telephone convertible 4½s moved within a range of more than 2 points, closing at 129½ for a net gain of 1⅝, while International Telephone 4½s climbed 2¾ to a new high at 133, closing a shade under its best price of the day. Public Service of New Jersey 4½s made a new 1929 high at 234, but reacted to 230, the previous close.

The remainder of the list, including the United States Government issues, was spotty. Although quotations tended toward the down side, changes were mostly insignificant and the volume of business continued light. Minor strength appeared in Consolidated Gas of New York debenture 5½s and in Pacific Telephone 5s, but North American Edison 5½s and 5s, which had been selling higher this week, met fractional declines.

In the rail section only the secondary and speculative issues, aside from the convertibles, traded to an appreciable extent. Fair attention was paid to the St. Paul 5s and the Seaboard bonds, the consolidated 6s of the latter line advancing ½ and the refunding 4s, 1½.

Several representative industrials met with selling, which carried American Beet Sugar 6s down 2 points to a new 1929 low. Armour Real Estate 4½s, Goodyear Tire & Rubber 5s and United States Rubber 5s declined fractionally. Walworth issues were strong, the 6½s climbing 2¼.

RUTH'S 2 HOMERS AID YANKS TO DIVIDE WITH MACKS

Mrs. Nicolson Retains City Golf Title

Defeats Mrs. Haynes on 18th Green in Close Struggle.

Latter Assumes Lead; Evens Match Later on 16th Green.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

MRS. DOROTHY WHITE NICOLSON, of the Washington Golf and Country Club, yesterday won the women's District golf championship for the fourth consecutive time, defeating Mrs. J. M. Haynes, Columbia, on the eighteenth green of the final round played yesterday morning on the course of the Columbia Country Club.

Three years ago the same contestants met in the final round, played on the course of the Congressional Country Club, when Mrs. Haynes was defeated on the nineteenth hole. In 1927 Mrs. Nicolson, then Miss White, won from Mrs. Alma von Steinner to gain the championship and last year she was victor over Miss Dorothy Hunter, daughter of the golf professional of the Indian Spring Club. Mrs. Haynes won the District championship in 1925 and was runner-up in 1926. In addition she was the medalist in the tournament which ended yesterday.

It was no wonder, therefore, that when the two contestants started yesterday morning on their battle for the championship title that they were followed by the largest gallery that ever assembled to witness a final women's round, and they were well repaid for their long walk under the hot sun by the brand of golf which both players exhibited. Mrs. Nicolson finished with a score of 84 as against Mrs. Haynes' 83, and all golfers will agree that these scores, made under pressure, were most creditable in every way.

No Phenomenal Strokes By Either Player.

These cards were negotiated, it must be remembered, without any phenomenal strokes—no chipping in from off the green and no long putts with the single exception of one long putt which Mrs. Haynes ran down from a distance of about 30 feet on the fifth green. In fact, many putts of from 12 to 15 feet were missed by both players.

Mrs. Haynes won the first hole in a par 4, Mrs. Nicolson encountering trouble with the traps after a fine drive. The second was halved in par 4s, and then Mrs. Haynes became 2 up on the third hole when Mrs. Nicolson's second shot was in a trap, but lost the fourth when Mrs. Nicolson, being on the green with her tee shot, holed out in a par 3.

The fifth was halved by virtue of Mrs. Haynes' long putt, and both secured par 4s on the sixth by approaching close to the cup and holing out with a single putt. Then Mrs. Nicolson won the seventh and eighth, each in par figures, Mrs. Haynes' tee shot being in a trap on the eighth, and with the ninth halved in 5s, Mrs. Nicolson was up at the turn.

Tenth and Eleventh Holes Are Halved.

After the tenth and the eleventh had been halved, Mrs. Haynes squared the match by winning the twelfth in a par 5, but lost the thirteenth when she hooked her tee shot into a trap and missed her second shot in the sand, taking 5 to hole out, Mrs. Nicolson becoming 1 up by running down a 4 after playing her second shot to the green from a lie near the fourteenth tee. Once again, however, the match was squared when Mrs. Nicolson played her second on the fourteenth into the right-hand trap while Mrs. Haynes, slightly over the green on her second, pitched dead to the cup for a 4. In see-saw fashion, Mrs. Nicolson became 1 up at the fifteenth, when Mrs. Haynes missed two shots in succession, but the latter's fine tee shot from the sixteenth tee, within 10 feet of the pin, while Mrs. Nicolson's drive was far to the right, once more made the match all even.

With the seventeenth halved in par 4s, both players driving to the flat over the ditch and pitching to the green on the second shot, the eighteenth became the crucial hole and there was every indication that once again

Tilden-Hunter to Play Van Ryn-Allison Today

London, June 21 (A.P.).—The familiar ending of many European tennis tournaments lately, an all-American final, will feature the play tomorrow in the final round of the London men's singles championship.

The roaming American aces, Bill Tilden and Francis T. Hunter, easily disposed of the opposition in the semifinal rounds today. Tilden defeated J. S. Oliff, 6—2, 6—2, and Hunter eliminated Y. Omta, of Japan, 6—3, 6—4.

The doubles final also will be all-American. Tilden and Hunter, who eliminated J. Caranjiva and S. M. Hadi today, 6—4, 6—4, will meet John Van Ryn and Wilmer Allison, two of the American Davis Cup team youngsters, the juniors defeated H. David and H. K. Lester, 6—1, 6—0.

Elizabeth Ryan, former Californian, gained the final round of the women's singles by defeating Joan Ridley, an English girl, 6—2, 6—2.

Pirates Regain Lead By Defeating Cubs, 14-3

Chicago, Ill., June 21 (A.P.).—Pittsburgh regained first place in the National League by defeating the Cubs, 14-3, today. Burleigh Grimes went the route for the winners, gaining his eleventh victory of the season.

The Pirates got off to a four-run start in the first inning when Wilson dropped a fly and Cvengros was hit hard. Jonnard stopped them until the seventh, when Grantham sent a home run into the right field bleachers, with the bases filled. Wilson hit a homer in the third, his seventeenth of the season.

Five Tied With 72s In New York Open Golf

Rye, N. Y., June 21 (A.P.).—Willie Klein, defending his New York State open golf title at the Westchester Biltmore Country Club today, turned in a 72 in the qualifying round, but found himself tied with four others. Joe Turnesa, Willie Burke, Herman Barron and Ted Beer, of Bakersfield, Calif., were also past the first 18 holes with 72s.

The State open, which acts this year as a warm-up for the national open at Winged Foot next week, attracted many of the country's leading golfers.

Two strokes below the early leaders with a 74 found such good golfers as Harry Cooper, of Buffalo; MacDonald Smith, George Voigt and Roland Hancock, the young professional who had the national open title within his grasp last year only to lose it on the final holes. The 75 group included Gene Sarazen and Mike Brady, while Johnny Farrell and Bobby Cruickshank took 76 each.

Cooney Weakens in 15th; Robins Beat Braves, 7 to 3

Boston, June 21 (A.P.).—Johnny Cooney weakened in the fifteenth inning here today, and the Robins scored four runs to win their first game of the season in Boston, 7 to 3. The Robins previously had been defeated six times at Braves Field. Rube Bressler's home run into the left field bleachers with two on base capped the winning rally.

Cooney should have won by 1 to 0 in union hours, but an error by Lester Bell permitted the Robins to score. The visitors got two in the twelfth, only to have the home team tie it up in the last half of the inning.

Giants Defeat Phils Fourth Straight, 11-5

Philadelphia, June 21 (A.P.).—The Giants made it four straight by defeating the Phillies here today, 11 to 5. Whitney and Fred Leach were the home run hitters today.

Bob McGraw, starting pitcher, was knocked out, and Elmer Miller, a new southpaw from Battle Creek, Mich., received a trial. After pitching smart ball for several rounds the youth weakened in the ninth, when four runs were scored against him. Miller passed six.

Bill Walker pitched good ball for the Giants.

Yale Conquers Harvard by 5 Lengths

Elis Increase Margin as Annual Boat Race Progresses.

Also Win in Freshman and Junior Varsity Encounters.

By ALLAN J. GOULD
(Sports Editor Associated Press).

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 21 (A. P.).—Propelling their slim racing craft for all the world like so many robots of rowing, Yale's oarsmen smashed the challenge of Harvard's gallant fleet today with exhibitions of skill and power that were as impressive to watch as they no doubt seemed invincible to the Crimson.

Morning and evening, it was mostly blue sky and all Blue victory as the ancient Thames River played host to the greatest and most colorful fleet of visiting craft in the regatta's history.

The Yale varsity rowing a front race all the way after the first quarter mile, brought the regatta to a climax with a one-sided triumph in the 4-mile pull upstream, measured by approximately five-eighths, after the Eli freshmen and junior varsity crews had raced to triumph in the preliminary events in the morning.

As a crowning gesture the brilliant Yale varsity, as if it had not had enough exercise in the long upstream pull, kept on rowing without the slightest let up until they reached the Harvard wharf.

Fifth Sweep for Yale In Seven Years.

The statistics of this regatta add remarkable luster to Yale's rowing prowess and the great record that the Elis have compiled particularly since the advent of Ed Leader as head coach. It was the fifth clean sweep of all the races for the Blue in seven years. It was the sixth time in that same period that the Elis captured both morning races and, as a final touch of supremacy, the eighth time in nine years that honors in the classic varsity race have gone to Yale's sweep swingers.

There was one just thrill for Harvard in the whole regatta, and it came in the first race of the day, for freshman crews. With barely a half mile of this two-mile event to go, the Crimson yearlings spurted into a lead and looked like winners, only to yield to a spectacular finish by the Eli cubs, who came on as though inspired in the last quarter mile to win by three-quarters of a length in the most exciting race of the regatta.

Yale Appeared to Win As It Pleased.

It was not even close in either of the other two races. Over the same two-mile course, midway in the varsity channels, Yale's junior varsity won easily by four lengths to complete the morning events. This evening the Eli big eight clinched the regatta with an even more impressive victory.

To those of the crowd of 60,000 spectators, it appeared that Yale's varsity won as it pleased with sufficient power in reserve to have put many more lengths between it and the struggling Crimson boatload had it desired. The margin of four and a half lengths represented a reduction of the approximate six-length margin that the Elis held after three miles had been covered. The difference was accounted for by Yale's apparent let-up as well as by the desperate effort of the Crimson to close as much of the big gap as possible. Its result was to make the defeat for Harvard, decisive though it was, considerably less crushing than last year, when the Blue finished ten lengths ahead.

Harvard Stuck Prow In Front at Start.

For barely the first 440 yards it appeared as though Harvard might do something about this Blue machine that has been grinding out victories by the wholesale. The Crimson was first to settle into racing stride and stick its prow in front, but that was all. As if to give their rivals a taste of what was to come the Yale oarsmen responded to the call of Coxswain E. B. Loomis, of Convent Station, N. J., and the powerful pacing of Stroke Art Palmer, of Glen Ellen, Ill., to shoot their shell in front. In less than a furlong Yale had a half length. Inside of a mile nearly a length separated the rival craft. Open water showed soon afterward. From then on it was just a procession. Two lengths at the mile and a half, three lengths at the 2-mile marker, four lengths at the 2½ point, five lengths at the 3-mile stake and fully six lengths in another half-mile—that was the way Yale's lead mounted. In the last half-mile Harvard actually cut six seconds off the Eli lead. Exactly 19 seconds separated them at the finish, but there was a bigger difference in rhythm and power. Like automatons, Yale's eight swept smoothly over the finish line, while Harvard's bulkier boatload splashed and strained.

Yale's time for the 4 miles was 21m. 20s., more than a minute behind the upstream record of 20m. 14s. set by the Elis themselves in 1926. Harvard's time was 21m. 39s. The times for the other races: Freshmen—Yale, 11m. 7s.; Harvard, 11m. 9 3-5s. Junior varsity—Yale, 11m.; Harvard, 11m. 12 4-5s.

HARVARD CREW —Loses Race But— KEEPS SHIRTS

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.

NEW LONDON, Conn., June 21.—The eigt young men of the Yale boat crew not only beat their friends from Harvard by half a dozen lengths of open water on the salty river Thames this evening, but served them as graceful and airy insult as the mind of a sportsman ever has devised. As Yale's stern slid across the line, the eight supple spines of the eight oarsmen bowing and recoiling in fluent motion after a 4-mile haul up river, and the coxswain jerking forward at every second beat of the oars the 8,000 people on the two observation trains naturally stood up to watch the boys collapse in their seats, according to the dramatic custom of such occasions.

But the Yale sweeps continued to sweep and the Yale boat slid along on its way, and it was still sliding along like an eight-legged water bug when the Harvard shell wallowed up, and moreover, it continued to slide until it vanished into the dark background of the river bank at the Yale boathouse, almost a mile farther upstream.

It is customary in these intercollegiate rowing races for the crews to wager their shirts, man for man, from stroke to bow, and to paddle about in the stream at the conclusion until the losers come alongside the victor to pass over their chemises.

Yale Boys Continued To Grab Water.

But either this prearrangement, or by some sudden inspiration of young Mr. Loomis, the Yale coxswain, which which would bespeak a remarkable gift of belittlement, the Yale athletes indicated that the Harvard chirts were trophies not worth collecting. As the Yale boys continued to grab water and shove it behind them in little whirlpools, it first seemed as though they were merely rowing on until Harvard should cross the line and impress upon the crowd the width of the gap between the Blue rudder post and Crimson bow. Then Harvard came up, 19 seconds late. The bow crossed the line between the marker buoys, and in three more splattering strokes of the paddles the stern went over.

The Harvard men let go their oars and their brown bodies, gleaming with perspiration, and, perhaps, with some wash from the oars, sagged loose in the shell. Tim Clark, No. 4 and captain, a football man, a polo man and the strongest and roughest athlete at Harvard, reached overside and grabbed a handful of brine out of the cool stream, which he sprayed on his face. The other boys splashed themselves after the manner of exhausted oarsmen, and everything in the scene was filling and traditional except the unconventional conduct of the Yale crew.

Harvard Saw Stern of Rival Boat Disappearing.

The Harvard eight, noted for their power, were not exactly in collapse, but they certainly were relaxing with great thoroughness and manifest relief. And when they had been at this for some time they looked about them for the Yale crew and saw the stern of their little splinter disappearing behind seven or eight million dollars worth of steam yachts and going fast. Ed Leader, the Yale coach, amazed to see his crew row on without diminishing the beat, set out after them in a motor launch and caught them at their boathouse. He told them they were hurting Harvard's feelings, whereat they came about in a circle, still stirring the water at a beat of 34 strokes, and rowed another mile to the Harvard boathouse. There they climbed on the float and gave Harvard a cheer. But the Harvard men were all indoors at their showers by then, so there seemed nothing for Yale to do but row back to their house again. When they finally left the shell they had rowed 6 miles at racing speed and another mile back at the same speed, but after a moment's rest.

Hertz Offers $100,000 For International Race

Chicago, June 21 (A.P.).—The American National Jockey Club has offered a $100,000 purse and a gold cup for a race between champion thoroughbreds of England, France and America at its racing plant here, Arlington Park, next summer.

John D. Hertz, whose Reigh Count finished second in the famous Ascot Gold Cup race in England yesterday, has carried the offer abroad, and reported a favorable reception among English and French turf owners.

If the foreign turf owners consent to run their horses in the race, Hertz said he would probably keep Reigh Count in training for another year. Otherwise he expects to retire him to the stud.

The American National Jockey Club is composed of a group of wealthy Chicago business men and civic leaders, including Mr. Hertz.

Nats, Outhit, Beat Boston By Rally

Pound Ruffing in 8th for 3 Runs to Wipe Out Sox Lead.

Final Score is 5 to 4; Fast Fielding Aids Nats Greatly.

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

THE Nationals won their bout with the Red Sox yesterday with the need of only two punches, although their defensive work, especially in the ninth inning, sent the fans home wondering which feature they enjoyed more. It was a bang-up game, with Boston appearing the probable winner until the Nats rallied in the eighth round finally to take the verdict, 5 to 4.

Charley Ruffing, who has lost many a well-pitched game this season, was invincible in the early frames, and it was not until the start of the sixth, when Buddy Myer pinch hit for Hayes and later replaced him at second, that the Nats could break into the hit column. Then Myer singled to center, Marberry walked, Judge sacrificed Myer to third while Marberry held first, and Rice doubled one runner home and propelled the other to third. The second tally came across on Goslin's useful out.

In the only other inning in which they were credited with hits, the eighth, the home gang packed away the ball game, although it took an error by Scarritt, who starred afield Thursday, to give them their winning margin.

Barnes' Walk Starts Nats On Way to Victory.

Johnson sent Red Barnes to the swinging block in Marberry's place as a starter, and he coaxed a walk, took second on Judge's single and scored on another off Rice's bat. Goslin then came through with a double, which scored Judge and sent Rice to third and the later was able to continue on to the plate with the winning run when Scarritt temporarily let the ball get away from him.

These five runs bettered the collection which the Sox had amassed one at a time off Fred arberry's slants. Their first resulted from Phil Todt's home-run clout over the right field fence opening the second round. A two-base error by Hayes and two helpful outs gave them another in the fourth. Run No. 3 came in the sixth as a result of Williams' opening double, Bigelow's nobby bunt and Regan's sacrifice fly, while Berry's topped one-baser down the third-base line, Gerber's suicide sacrifice, a walk to Reeves, and Scarritt's one-shot to right center, netted another in the seventh. Marberry was in quite a hole in this canto, for he walked Rothrock, filling the bases, but all were left when West camped under Bigelow's mile-high fly.

As already mentioned, aside from the late rally which gave the Nats the verdict, there was plenty of brilliant fielding action on the part of the natives. Three of these gems were crowded in the Sox's ninth. R. Barrett, first up, while representing Gerber at the plate, dropped a looper to right which had all the earmarks of being a hit until Capt. Joe Judge snared it at Grove Invincible in Opener But Pennock Fails to Last.

By FRANK GETTY
(United Press Sports Editor.)

YANKEE STADIUM, New York, June 21 (U.P.).—The Philadelphia Athletics had a baseball jinx apparently safely buried out here this afternoon, when along came Babe Ruth and brought the old fellow to life again.

Before a record crowd of 66,145 fans, the largest attendance a ball park ever encompassed in midseason, Connie Mack's hard-hitting, league-leading club had trampled upon three Yankee pitchers and won the opening game, 11 to 1.

But just when they were nursing a slim lead in the second contest, celebrating the smashing of the old belief that they couldn't win from the world's champions in a critical series, up came the Babe.

Two men were on base in the Yankee half of the seventh when Ruth advanced to the plate, and Connie Mack substituted Bill Shore for Ernie Barnshaw in the box.

Two strikes the Babe took and then there rang through the afternoon air the old familiar sound. Ruth smashed a home run out to his own particular fans in right field, touching off a pandemonium of cheers.

Babe Does It Again Before Game Is Over.

And before it was over, the Babe had done it again, hitting a second homer off Shores, again with two men on base, the final score of the second game standing at 8 to 3 in favor of New York and the American League pennant rivals standing very much where they did when the day's festivities started.

By dividing today's exciting two games, packed with all the thrills of a four-alarm fire, the Athletics and Yankees are no closer to a decision in what was to have been a decisive series in the current pennant race.

The Mackmen, still 7½ games in front, are better equipped with reserves for the remaining three games of the series, but the Yankees have Babe Ruth back again, and anything may happen.

Happy as a school boy when vacation time arrives, the Babe skylarked with his mates in the Yankee dugout after his second homer, which came in the eighth with Combs and Robertson prancing in ahead of him.

Ruth Quits Game to Escape a Mobbing.

"So I'm all through, am I?" growled the big fellow with a snort of delight. "Just for that, I won't play any more today, how about it, Hug?"

"O. K. by me, Babe," said Huggins, grinning with delight, and sent Cedric Durst out to play the last half inning, so that the Babe could escape a mobbing at the hands of his admirers when the game was over.

The dramatic return of Babe Ruth to the spotlight removed all the sting implanted by the first encounter, when the Mackmen hammered three Yankee hurlers for 16 hits and 11 runs.

Al Simmons and Lefty Grove were the outstanding performers in the opener, the former making five hits, including two home runs, and the tall southpaw setting down the world's champions with seven scattered safeties.

The Yanks were the first to score in the opener. Gehrig tripled to send Robertson home. Grove then struck out the next four batters to face him.

Macks Hop Pennock At Start of Game.

It didn't take the Mackmen long to find Pennock and they tied the score in the second and added two runs in the fourth. The A's added runs in the sixth and seventh, but were unable to drive Pennock to the showers until the eighth, when Huggins sent in pinch hitters for his battery. Sherid relieved Pennock and his stay was brief. Simmons singled, Foxx doubled and Miller scored them both with another single. Moore went in and Boley tripled for a third run.

Three more in the ninth served only to intensify the sting of defeat and sent many New York fans to the exits, disregarding even the second game.

After that first game, it appeared as

Bud Fisher's Colt Scores Easily

Beats Rasselas, the Favorite, 3 Lengths in Feature Race.

Martinque Hangs on to Win Four-Horse Race at Latonia.

AQUEDUCT RACE TRACK, N. Y., June 21 (A.P.).—Bud Fisher's Bob Shannon, quoted at 12 to 1, was an easy winner of the Canarsie Stakes which featured the program here today. Bob Shannon was neglected in the betting by the wise players, but the long-shot players supported him, according to the applause that greeted him on his return to the scales. Doc Cassidy's Rasselas was favorite and finished second, with Stellaris third and Partisan fourth. The race was worth $5,225 to the winner.

Bob Shannon jumped away to the lead and, showing excellent speed, opened a wide gap and won by three lengths over Rasselas, the latter three lengths before Stellaris. The five furlongs were run in 1:01 2-5.

Pascuma's Ride Aids Martinique To Score at Latonia.

Latonia Race Track, Ky., June 21 (A.P.).—The Fountain Square Hotel purse, the feature of the card today, was won by D. E. Stewart's 4-year-old filly Martinique. The Parkview Stable's 6-year-old Rhinock took the place, while Royal Julian, from the W. H. Whitehouse string, was third. Easter Stockings, the only other starter, was last.

Martinique, under a sterling ride by A. Pascuma, was sent into the lead at once and under steadying restraint shook off repeated challenges through the stretch run to win by half a length. Rhinock, away well, but outrun to the far turn, was shaken up and moved up steadily through the stretch to take the place by two lengths. Royal Julian, always well up, made a determined bid for the purse, but began tiring in the final drive to take the show money by a length and a half.

The purse was worth $1,150 to the Stewart Stable and Martinique rewarded her backers at $9.56 for a $2 ticket.

The program today was held under clear skies and on a fast track. Good fields characterized the racing.

Longridge Noses Out Ruane At Washington Park.

Washington Park Race Track, Ill., June 21 (A.P.).—The Longridge Stable's 4-year-old Longridge captured the Commonwealth purse, a gallop of a mile and 70 yards, the feature event on today's card. Ruane, from the Valley Lake Stable, was second and Devon, from the J. J. Greely string, was third. Six horses started.

Longridge, away well and showing high speed, was taken into the lead in the first quarter, which he increased to the turn into the stretch, but began tiring in the strech drive to take the purse by a nose. Hard urged, Ruane, away last and running sluggishly, was taken to the outside entering the stretch and finished with much speed to take the place by a length. Devon, away well was rated along in third place to the stretch and held on gamely in the final drive to take the small end of the purse by a neck.

The race was worth $1,150 to the Longridge Stable and Longridge paid $4.80 for a $2 ticket.

A feature of the afternoon sport was the riding of McCrossen, who brought home Nettie Belle a winner in the first number and Morsel in the fourth. Clear weather and a fast track were the racing conditions.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

LATONIA DERBY.

Down at the Millvale Course this afternoon the $25,000 Derby will be run and won. Overnight the entries appear a very ordinary lot even though they do include CLYDE VAN DUSEN, winner of the renewal of the Kentucky classic. AFRICAN, of course, is the logical contender and probable choice. As for the balance of the field they are only slightly above the plater variety. In this connection also I might add that CLYDE VAN DUSEN had a very rough and tedious trip from Chicago. However, if the Derby lacks class I have one that is supposed to be jerked forth from the old vat today in BAFFLING STAR, a first-time starter from the Daggy Smith (Bianchi) Stable. The son of Bunting has been engaged in all stakes and has shown wonderful work. Let your conscience be your guide.

Out at Washington Park the headliner is the rich Illinois Oaks, for which ten splendid fillies were named overnight. ROSE OF SHARON worked sensationally prior to being shipped from Latonia—mile and one quarter in 1:38—rules favorite, with LADY BROADCAST second choice. Trainer Gilmore, who brought the latter miss on from Fairmount and who developed In Memorian, told me "this is the finest piece of horseflesh I ever trained. I look upon her as a sure winner." I am sharing his enthusiasm; you have the answer in your lily white duke.

Oh, ho. Here comes the devil; SIR HARRY, from the Seagram Stable. He goes in the sixth, and I have positive information to the effect Toronto is loaded to the guards. CANAAN is the logical contender.

I look for COPPERSHINE to outrun his field in the closing dash—easily.

At Fairmount Park the program is the most evenly balanced of the entire meeting and some corking good races should result. The headliner, of course, is the Jefferson Hotel Handicap at five and one-half furlongs—for 2-year-old colts and geldings. TANNERY, for which they refused $30,000, is my choice, with SILVER CORD right bang up. This is a nice colt.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—GOLDEN COLNA, $20.42, $7.20, $5.14; JUNIOR C., $7.72, $5.34; RAINSTORM, $4.74.

GOLDEN COLNA, racing in best form and never far back, moved up steadily after reaching the turn and, holding on gamely, gradually wore leaders down in midstretch. JUNIOR C., hard ridden from start, worked way up to the stretch, but began tiring when put to a drive last eighth. RAINSTORM, in tight quarters most of the trip, closed strongest of all final sixteenth. BROOMSTER tired. VERA C., in close quarters first half mile, closed resolutely when clear through stretch. PURPLE LIGHT began tiring after reaching main stretch. WHISK WIN, fractious at gate, unseated rider.

SECOND RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200. For maiden 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:35. Off at 2:39. Winner, E. Guy Drake's ch. f. Two-dollar mutuels paid—JEANNE WACHS, $6.64, $6.32, $5.28; SWEEPING WILLOW, $9.78, $6.54; RUTH MAYES, $13.22.

JEANNE WACHS, away well and displaying good early foot, raced into a long lead on the turn and, continuing gamely to the wire, won with speed in reserve. SWEEPING WILLOW was taken off to the outside entering the stretch and finished with much speed to take the place by a length. Devon, away well was rated along in third place to the stretch and held on gamely in the final drive to take the small end of the purse by a neck.

THIRD RACE—One mile. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:03. Off at 3:04. Winner, Jack Howard's b. m. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MOLLIE MYHILL, $5.40, $2.94, $2.56; LITTLE SCOUT, $3.24, $2.62; JACK SAVAGE, $5.16.

MOLLIE MYHILL, racing suddenly improved, was hustled into a long lead first half mile and, continuing gamely to the wire, was being eased up last sixteenth. LITTLE SCOUT moved up strongly after first half mile, closed courageously while saving ground all through stretch, but could never menace leader. JACK SAVAGE worked way up with a loss of ground to far turn and, taken to inside, closed well to outfinish DANDY BRUSH. Latter, used up forcing early pace, had nothing left when the final test came. DEARBORN had no mishaps.

FOURTH RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 2-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:44. Off at 3:55. Winner, T. Hayes' blk. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—WINGO, $6.68, $4.40, $3.10; PERFECT ALIBI, $12.90, $8.66; SKY HIGH, $6.86.

WINGO, outrun and worked back soon after start, slipped through on inside entering stretch and, racing to the front midway of the stretch, drew out decisively near end. PERFECT ALIBI also suffered some early interference, came with a rush when clear through stretch and closed going strongly. SKY HIGH, a keen factor throughout, held on gamely to outstay PERFECT ALIBI. Latter weakened badly last eighth after showing most speed to head of main stretch. SAMBO BROWN was outpaced. NIM THE NYMPH stopped suddenly after going strongly to the stretch turn.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and seventy yards. Purse, $1,500. The Fountain Hotel Handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:12. Off at 4:13. Winner, D. E. Stewart's br. f. (4), by Blue Ensign—Petite. Marmite. Trained by owner. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $225; third, $125. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:47 2-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:37 2-5, 1:42 2-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—MARTINIQUE, $9.56, $5.12, out; RHINOCK, $7.24, out; ROYAL JULIAN, out.

MARTINIQUE was hustled into the lead at once, held her position under steadying restraint and, responding gamely through stretch, shook off repeated challenges from RHINOCK after turn. Once the far turn was made she steadily increased her lead, continuing well through stretch, held on stubbornly. ROYAL JULIAN also made a determined bid at winner, but began tiring last eighth. EASTER STOCKINGS had no mishaps and began weakening after five-eighths.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 4-year-olds and upward. Start bad. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:40. Off at 4:41. Winner, Audley Farm's ch. g. (5), by Sir Barton—Kiluna. Trained by K. Spence. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:24, 0:47, 1:12 3-5, 1:38 4-5, 1:45 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—CREEK INDIAN, $16.56, $5.86, $3.56; KENTUCKY ACE, $2.74, $2.36; ROYAL SON, $3.34.

CREEK INDIAN, benefitted by the start, raced into a good early lead, saved all possible ground and responded gamely through stretch to hold KENTUCKY ACE safe in a long, hard drive. LANCER, never far away, reserved behind the winner to the stretch and, coming gamely when hard urged, got on even terms with winner a sixteenth out, then faltered final few strides. ROYAL SON, forward from start, held on well through stretch, but could never threaten leaders. LANCER was always outrun. GEORGE McCRANN and SON were always poorly.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,200; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:11. Off at 5:13. Winner, M. H. Reed's ch. f. (4), by St. Rock—Throne. Trained by T. P. Hayes. Value to winner, $900; second, $200; third, $100. Time, 0:23 2-5, 0:48, 1:00 3-5, 1:07.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—HOLD FAST, $7.00, $3.36, $2.70; KEITH, $3.28, $2.62; DAN BURNHAM, $4.28.

HOLD FAST worked way up steadily after first quarter and responded gamely to urging when ready at head of the stretch and gradually wore leaders down near the end. KEITH, well up throughout and, when seemingly done for, came again near the end to outstay DAN BURNHAM. Latter set the pace under pressure and only began tiring final eighth. MOUNT LOGAN showed a good effort. ILLUSTRIOUS could never reach a contending position.

SHORE AND M'LEAN WIN WAY TO FINALS AT NORFOLK

D. C. Youths Play Today For Titles

Shore Defeats Baltimore in Junior Semifinals.

McLean to Encounter Morgan for Boys' M. A. Title.

Special to The Washington Post.

NORFOLK, Va., June 21.—Frank Shore and Jock McLean, the District of Columbia's junior and boy tennis champions, will compete for the Middle Atlantic championships of their respective groups here tomorrow, having advanced to the finals today by virtue of twin victories over the best talent sent forth from Richmond, Norfolk, Princeton (W. Va.), Baltimore and Washington.

Shore will clash with the sensational Henry Clabaugh, heralded as the best youngster on Baltimore's public courts, in the junior class final. McLean's opponent will be Jay Morgan, who hails from Virginia's Capital City.

Bernard Welsh, runner-up to Shore in the local eliminations, made a bold bid for honors, but fell before the swift play of Clabaugh, 8—6, 8—10, 8—6, in what was probably the most gruelling duel of the early rounds. Gilbert Hunt, runner-up to McLean here, fell a victim of the accurate placements of Morton Karmer, of Baltimore, 6—2, 6—3.

Shore Likely Favorite To Take Title.

The comparative ease with which Shore disposed of two outstanding opponents today will probably make him a favorite to win the boys' title, and the same might just as well be said of McLean, who won even more easily.

Shore's first victim was Morris Schwartzman, of Baltimore, 6—2, 7—5, and Sidney Hughes was next to fall before the Capital's junior titlist, 6—3, 7—5.

Young McLean disposed of Billy Baker, of Norfolk, 6—1, 6—3, and found Henry Barclay, jr., of Baltimore, but little stronger opposition winning, 6—2, 6—4.

Welsh's game bid for victory over Clabaugh proved the feature of the program for the large gallery in attendance.

JUNIOR DIVISION—Frank Shore, Washington, defeated Morris Schwartzman, Baltimore, 6—2, 7—5; Sidney Hughes, Norfolk, defeated Riddle, West Virginia, by default; Henry Clabaugh, Baltimore, defeated Bernard Welsh, Washington, 8—6, 8—10, 8—6; Billy Hobbs, Norfolk, defeated Marcus Lodin, West Virginia, 2—6, 12—10; 6—2.

SECOND ROUND—Shore defeated Hughes, 6—3, 7—5; Clabaugh defeated Hobbs, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3.

BOYS DIVISION—Henry Barclay, jr., Baltimore, defeated Forrest Brammer, West Virginia, 8—6, 6—1; Jock McLean, Washington, defeated Billy Baker, Norfolk, 6—1, 6—3; J. Morgan, Richmond, defeated H. Morgan, Norfolk, 6—1, 7—5; Morton Kramer, Baltimore, defeated Gilbert Hunt, Washington, 6—2, 6—4; Henry Barclay defeated Wellford Reed, Richmond, 6—2, 6—3.

SEMIFINALS — McLean defeated Barclay, 6—2, 6—4; Morgan defeated Kramer, 6—2, 2—6, 6—6.

Miss Wilson 8 Off Par In Sensational Round

Pittsburgh, June 21 (A.P.).—Shooting eight under par in the Allegheny Country Club women's invitation golf tournament today, Virginia Wilson, of Chicago, turned in what experts termed one of the most sensational rounds in the history of women's play.

Miss Wilson shot a 71 on the 5,996-yard eighteen holes against the par of 79. She registered ten birdies. The best previous women's mark, experts said, was a 72 by Joyce Wethered. Her card:

Par out	4	4	4	5	4	3	5	4	—37
Wilson out	5	4	3	3	4	4	3	5	—35
Par in	5	5	4	5	5	4	4	5	—42—79

Capital Trapshots Outshine Baltimore

Washington Gun Club shooters are maintaining their supremacy over the representatives of the Oriole Gun Club, of Baltimore, which has existed since the season of 1926-1927. So far this season the local gunners are leading in total singles and doubles scores, having an edge of 6,435 to 6,366 in singles, and 1,201 to 1,143 in doubles.

POWERS TOPS PRESS GOLF TOURNEY

His Gross Score of 78 Wins; Cobb Takes Low Net Prize.

IN the National Press Club Building tournament on the course of the Congressional Country Club yesterday, the prize for the low gross score was won by J. M. Powers with a card of 78 for the eighteen holes which were played. P. S. Ridsdale was runner-up with 82, with Paul Y. Anderson, whose card was 83, in third place. The low net prize was easily won by Harvey L. Cobb who, with a gross score of 90 and a handicap of 24, had a net 66, two strokes in the lead of Ralph Horne, whose score was 92—24—68. There was a triple tie for third place between James T. Corbin, 94—25—69; Walter Kilbourne, 95—26—69, and J. M. Powers, 78—9—69.

At a late hour last night the committee in charge of the event was still struggling with the scores of the 138 players who had turned in cards in order to determine who had won the prizes for low gross and low net on the first and second nines and for the greatest number of pars and birdies. They were, however, evidently satisfied that the prize for the best-dressed player should be awarded to N. N. Wallach, of 3933 Military road northwest. The cards turned in were as follows:

H. B. Robinson, 140—35—105; C. B. Allen, 92—12—80; J. W. Carter, 120—30—90; Maynard Burrell, 106—23—83; Richard D. Daniell, 102—18—84; Milton E. Morris, 99—24—75; M. E. Scarborough, 102—24—78; C. B. Shaeffer, 88—8—80; E. S. Liggett, 122—28—94; George F. Towers, 99—19—80; D. B. Shrubsole, 101—25—76; Howard Tompkins, 104—25—79; Earl F. Oakes, 102—21—81; Thomas F. Flaherty, 95—14—81; W. D. Redding, 151—30—121; C. L. Doggett, 90—20—70; Chevalier Junkin, 112—28—84; R. J. Rotteree, 114—22—92; Parker Luckett, 117—30—87; Vincent Callahan, 159—35—124; F. T. Eddingfield, 95—14—81; George P. Holmes, 85—12—73; Don C. O'Regan, 102—30—72; Harvey Cobb, 90—24—66.

Entries close at 6 o'clock tonight for the annual invitation golf tournament of the Congressional Country Club, and the pairings, to be made tomorrow, will be published on Monday morning. The field will be divided into two days of qualifications, next Tuesday and Wednesday, with eighteen holes to be played. Match play will follow next Thursday and Friday, with the final round on Friday afternoon.

Prizes will be awarded to the players making the two lowest gross scores in the qualification round, to the winner and runner-up in each sixteen, and to the winner of the defeated eight in each sixteen. The winner of the first sixteen will be awarded a replica of the President's Cup, and his name will be engraved upon the original.

The winner of the recent flag tournament at the Beaver Dam Club was F. M. Gerardi, handicap 22, whose ball came to rest on the twentieth green. He out-distanced all the other players, who were divided into two flights, handicaps 18 and under and handicaps over 18. The low gross and winner in the first flight was R. T. Roche, handicap 11, who holed out on the ineteenth green. William H. Krause, 18, whose final stroke landed his ball i nthe sand trap of the nineteenth hole, was runner-up in the first flight. P. Gerardi, whose flag was placed 150 yards from the nineteenth green, was runner-up in the second flight.

The Bannockburn Team will play the Beaver Dam Team on the course of the latter club tomorrow.

Announcement is made that the Greenbury Point Club, Annapolis, Md., will open its golf course next Saturday. Eighteen holes are nearing completion, with temporary greens in present use.

Perry and Lebourgeois In South's Golf Finals

Nashville, Tenn., June 21 (A.P.).—Sam Perry, city champion of Birmingham, defeated Alan Smith, of Asheville, N. C., one up in their semifinal match at Bellemeade this afternoon and went into the finals of the Southern golf championship tomorrow.

The other semifinals match was won by J. C. Lebourgeois, jr., of New Orleans, who administered a defeat to W. J. Tyne, the last Nashville entry, one up.

Perry won his way to the semifinals with a thrilling nineteen-hole victory over A. J. ("Hot") Wheeler, the Nashville hope, one up.

NATS TO USE SOUTHPAWS TODAY

Brown and Burke to Face Red Sox in Double-Header.

WITH his pitching staff battered and short-handed, Manager Walter Johnson is forced to depend upon his two young southpaws to do the twirling this afternoon in the double-header with the Red Sox, which will get under way at 1:30 o'clock. Bob Burke is slated to perform on the hill in one game and Lloyd Brown in the other. Johnson is particularly pleased with the latter's showing of late, as, while performing in relief roles, he has shown plenty of stuff and been fairly effective.

Manager Bill Carrigan is one of those managers who believes in keeping his likely pitchers a deep secret. However, he is expected to use Ed Morris and Bill (Beverly) Bayne.

Although Second Baseman Jack Hayes' fielding has been exceptionally good of late, despite the costly error he made yesterday, he has slumped at bat and is due a short rest, Manager Johnson stated last night. This means that Buddy Myer will be seen at the keystone sack this afternoon.

President Clark Griffith announced last night that Willard Hershberger, the Fullerton (Calif.) High School catcher and infielder who reported here for a tryout, is too green and will be sent home today or tomorrow.

LEGION NINES IN ACTION TODAY

Delano, G. W. Teams to Meet; Four Insect Teams Play.

WITH many new faces in their respective line-ups, the Delano and George Washington Post Nines will reopen the American Legion series today when they clash on South Ellipse diamond at 3 o'clock.

Both teams were materially hurt by the recent ruling which prohibits any team from drawing players from more than one high school. Each team lost about six regular players and the gaps left by their exit have been filled. Managers George Youngblood and Tom Suter have had little time to look over their newcomers and are uncertain as to the showing of their respective nines today.

The remainder of the legion title contenders will not see action until tomorrow.

Two Games Listed Today In Insect Section.

Four Insect section nines will also go into action today. The Lionels and Gallaghers are booked for battle on South Ellipse diamond at 3 o'clock and the Milans and Brookland Boys Club Teams are to clash at 1 o'clock on the same field. The Georgetown-Corinthian fray booked today has been postponed.

The remaining Insect class game listed this week will be played tomorrow on West Ellipse diamond at 11 o'clock. The Sam Wests and Eastern All-Stars will meet in this contest.

The Corinthian and Potomac junior section game tomorrow will be played at 11 o'clock on No. 3 diamond and not at 1 o'clock as published.

War Netmen Defeat Patent Office, 3 to 2

War Department netmen staged a strong finish yesterday to defeat Patent Office in a Departmental League match, 3 to 2, on the Monument Courts. Trailing by 2 to 1, War took the decision on victories by Boles-Obus and Clarkson-Terrell.

The summaries:

Hills and Hobbs (W) defeated Fowler and Byrne (P) 6—0, 12—10; Crews and Wallenstein (P) defeated Shedd and Watrous (W), 10—9, 6—4; Moncure and Pollard (P) defeated Colling and Walsh (W), 6—3, 6—2; Boles and Obus (W) defeated Arnold and Temelden (P), 6—3, 6—2; Clarkson and Terrell (W) defeated Vogeler and O'Brien (P), 6—1, 6—2.

TREMONTS PLAY.

The Tremont A. C. Unlimiteds will meet the Lanham A. C. Nine at Lanham, Md., today at 3 o'clock. All Tremont players are requested to report to Manager Ciango between 1 and 2 o'clock.

District Speed Boats Race On Potomac Course Today

MOTOR boat racing will make its debut of the year on the Washington Channel this afternoon with the Chesapeake and Potomac Power Boat Association staging a program of eight races among strictly local competitors. The first race will get under way at 1:45 o'clock.

More than 30 boats are expected to take the water and sixteen trophies will be placed in competition.

The course lies between the flood gates to the Tidal Basin and Haine Point. An unobstructed view is afforded spectators from both sides of the channel.

Owing to the fact that most of the owners who will enter have never raced before, no expression as to favorites has been voiced.

Piloting the 200-horsepower Baby Gar, owned by M. P. Parsons, former captain of the U. S. Park Police, will be the well-known driver, Monte del Vega, who has raced over practically every course in America and Europe. His efforts no doubt will be closely watched.

Commodore William C. Shalton, of the Chesapeake and Potomac Power Boat Association, will head the judges, using for his station the association's flagship, The Viking. A Coast Guard cutter will patrol the course to keep out other than competing craft.

All entrants must report at the floodgate boathouse at the head of Washington Channel at 1 o'clock.

District Canoeists In Philly Event Today

Although Karl Knight, because of illness, will be missing from the line-up for the first time in ten years, the Washington Canoe Club will get its first test of the season today when it competes in the East Falls business men's rowing and canoeing regatta at Philadelphia, Pa. All the events will be senior tests, and the Washington crews will be made up of juniors and seniors.

Harry "Pop" Knight, however, will be in the one-man double blade event. Others who will row for the Washington Canoe Club include Carlton Myers, one-man single blade; while Herman Vollmar and Bill Willoughby will team with Harry Knight and Carlton Myers in the fours single blade event.

The fours double blade event will include Ernest Shepherd, Herman Vollmar, Bill Willoughby and Harry Knight, and tilt, Bill Willoughby and Harry Knight. The tandem races are not on the program tomorrow. The crews will use Philadelphia Canoe Club boats. Paul Dilger, 22-year-old boy, who has shown excellent form in recent workouts, will take Karl Knight's place in the senior fours of the club single and double blade event. Harry Knight, Marc Fore and Ernest Shepherd, all experienced bladesmen, will round out these combinations.

7-Game Grid Schedule For G. W. Freshmen

A seven-game football schedule for the George Washington University freshmen was announced yesterday by Max Farrington, newly appointed assistant to Director of Athletics James E. Pixlee. Farrington, who arrived to assume his duties only the day before, closed negotiations for the last contest sought.

The yearling program calls for games with Georgetown freshmen, Catholic U. freshmen and Maryland junior varsity, among others. All games but the one listed with the Navy "B" squad will be staged on local gridirons.

October 11, Georgetown U. Freshmen, here; 19, Western Maryland U. Freshmen, here; 26, Maryland U. junior varsity, here.
November 2, Johns Hopkins U. Freshmen, here; 9, St. John's College (Annapolis) junior varsity, here; 16, Navy B squad at Annapolis.

ROAMERS HAVE FOE.

The Roamer and Hartford Senior Teams are to clash today at 3 o'clock on West Ellipse Diamond.

though the Mackmen not only had demonstrated their courage in a crucial test with their rivals, but an overwhelming superiority as well.

They started right in after the second game, Bishop opening up with a double off Waite Hoyt and counting on Cochrane's single to right center.

Earnshaw Fans Ruth With Bases Loaded.

Earnshaw was wobbly at the start. Combs walked, Robertson singled and Gehrig walked, filling the bases. Here was a stage setting worthy of the Babe's artistry, but the big fellow missed his cue. He struck out. Ernie got the side out without a score.

The A's added two in the third on a pass, a single and a double by Simmons, who continued to enjoy a field day at bat, making eight hits in nine trips to the plate, a fair afternoon's work.

The Yankees didn't score until the fifth, when Bishop's error gave two runners life with a double play in sight. Little Leo Durocher, who made up for some sloppy fielding by some aggressive work at bat, counted on Robertson's infield out, and Ruth bounced a single to right, scoring Waite Hoyt, who had been a most unwilling baserunner up to that time.

The seventh brought the climax, the return of Ruth to the hearts of his countrymen.

There were some who hooted when the Babe, heretofore so largely unsuccessful, came to bat with Robertson and Gehrig on base.

But their hoots turned to howls of delight when Ruth, after fouling one and swinging hard at a wide pitch, met the ball squarely with that old familiar smack.

Bang went the ball, and bang went the ball game. The eighth may have been anticlimatic to some folks, but another homer followed from the Babe's big black bat and once again delirium ensued.

No returning prodigal ever won himself such a welcome as that record crowd accorded the Bambino. Even the Philadelphians could scarce restrain a cheer.

the two contestants would continue the battle to the nineteenth. Mrs. Nicolson, with a drive slightly behind the ball driven by Mrs. Haynes, played straight up the fairway.

Mrs. Haynes Hooks to Rough on Last Hole.

Mrs. Haynes, on the contrary, evidently pressed to reach the green and as a result hooked her ball far to the left of the fairway, in the rough behind a hill. She then played strongly over the green in 3, while Mrs. Nicholson, playing a fine approach, laid her ball dead to the cup for a certain 4. This left Mrs. Haynes, whose ball was on the far side of the right-hand trap, a desperate chance to hole out and still halve the match. Her pitch to the pin was so cleverly executed that the ball nearly dropped into the cup. When it ran a few inches past she did not ask her competitor to hole out, but conceded the match and shook her hand in cordial fashion, amid the applause of the gallery. The cards:

The consolation in the first sixteen was won by Mrs. Y. E. Booker, Washington, who defeated Mrs. E. R. Tilley, Indian Spring, on the seventeenth green, 2 and 1. At the conclusion of the tournament the prizes were presented by Secretary Davis, of the Department of Labor, who was introduced by Mrs. W. S. Corby, the president of the Women's District Golf Association, in the presence of several hundred women golfers. Secretary Davis' address was heartily applauded.

The Return Of OLD KING BRADY

THE TRAIL OF THE FAKIR OF 'FRISCO.

CHAPTER SEVEN.

The Bradys Join Forces Again.

Old King Brady did not hurry himself the morning after his adventure on the roof of the Chinese opium joint. He decided Mrs. Fairchild would hardly be out early. Descending to the office, he looked over the register. He noted that the Viscount Dalwise had arrived. He had already made up his mind to have a talk with the viscount, thinking to warn him of the plot concocted against him by the 'Frisco fakir. So he went again to the manager and took him into his confidence.

"Yes, the viscount and his Chinese valet arrived last night. So that is their game, eh? Mrs. Fairchild was out again last night and got in about 6 this morning."

"Is it known that there is an opium joint run in behind Wing's store?" the old detective asked.

"Of course," replied Mr. Norton.

"Don't you think we had better see the viscount? He ought to know that his valet is the notorious fakir."

"We can settle the question of the fakir through our house detective. He knows all that cattle perfectly."

"Call him in by all means," agreed Old King Brady.

The manager rang a bell and instructed the boy who answered it to call Mr. Dowd."

In a few minutes he arrived—a sedate old gentleman whom one would never for one minute suspect of being a detective.

Mr. Norton introduced the two men and they shook hands. Old King Brady said, "Now, Mr. Dowd, I'm sorry that I can't give you my full confidence in this case, but it is strictly confidential. I want your help though."

"Anything Mr. Brady wants he gets," said Mr. Norton.

Dowd bowed, and Old King Brady added, "Were you around last night when the Viscount Dalwise arrived?"

"I was."

"Do you know his Chinese valet?"

"Yes; he is a notorious gambler from San Francisco who has long been under the eye of the police. The fellow passes under the name of Prince Hi-Ti-Li."

"You were right, Mr. Brady" said Mr. Norton.

"I see I was. Now, Mr. Dowd, I want to get a private interview with this Englishman. Will you let me know when the valet is not around?"

"Well, now will be your time then, for Hi went out a half hour ago. Probably the Englishman is in his room alone now."

"I will go right up," said Old King Brady. "I look to you to keep the Chink from following me in case he comes in." And the old detective went upstairs.

"Great Scott!" exclaimed Old King Brady when he caught sight of Harry.

"Here I am, Governor," Young King Brady replied. "You see, the Englishman is dead and I have taken his place. You see I have succeeded in playing into your hands. It was great luck to find you here."

"Hurry up and tell me all about it and we will compare notes."

The Bradys then told each other what had happened.

"After all, what we want is to get the girl back to New York and I have no idea that she will want to. But we must make an effort any way," said Old King Brady.

"The prince will introduce me to Mrs. Fairchild. She will do the rest."

"Has he seen her?"

"Yes. But she is in bed until the afternoon. You know what is the matter with her—she eats hasheesh as well as smokes it. After she got in she took a couple of pills and will be all right later in the day."

"Did the prince see her?"

"He saw his wife—poor soul! He was telling me about her. She smokes hasheesh and I'm afraid she is a goner. We can land the prince in jail, but I don't know how it will help us."

"We shall have to wait until evening to do anything. I shall keep out of the way. I should like you to meet Mr. Dowd, the house detective. You may need his help." Old King Brady called him on the house phone and the old gentleman came upstairs and was introduced to Harry.

Now Old King Brady decided he would take Mr. Dowd into his confidence. So he told him the whole story.

"It is just like Hi," said the hotel detective. "He is good for any kind of a scheme. That wife of his has helped him fool many a young fellow. I doubt if she is worth saving"

"That is neither here nor there," answered Old King Brady. "We are here to get her at any rate."

"Well, if you need me, I'm here," said the house detective. He and Old King Brady then left.

Harry's rooms were on the same corridor with his own, and as they neared the door of the latter suite the door across the hall opened and the "Princess" came out. She was dressed in a red walking costume and appeared to be just starting out.

"I think I'll do a little shadowing," whispered Old King Brady to Dowd, and he got on the elevator with the girl. He thus had a chance to study her face for a minute. "She is given to hasheesh all right," he concluded. "She hasn't a bad face and I don't believe it is too late to rescue her."

Old King Brady followed her down the street and saw her enter Wang's place. He followed her right in. The store was a public place and he saw no reason why he should not go in. The princess was standing talking to Wang. He was answering her in a low tone and the expression that came over his face now and then was fiendish.

"He looks like a lunatic—what shall I do?" thought Old King Brady. It did not appear that he could do anything just then. So he made a few purchases and hurried away.

"If she is there for a smoke she has to have it, I suppose. If she has gone there to meet her huband, what can any one do?" thought Old King Brady as he turned into the hotel again.

Conclusion.

Prince Hi-Ti-Li continued to be away from the hotel so long that it puzzled both the Bradys. He had intended returning in half an hour when he left. The Bradys talked it over. "If you could have seen that Chink's face you would feel as I do that he is not to be trusted. For all we know he may have quarreled with the prince and done him up."

"Do you think we ought to make a move, Governor?"

"I do. But suppose we wait until after dinner and then decide."

And so the Bradys dined. Old King Brady at one end of the big room and Harry at the other, so there was no chance for talk then. Mrs. Fairchild did not appear. Right after dinner Old King Brady went to Harry's room.

"Well, he hasn't shown up, and I am going down there," he said. "The girl hasn't returned either."

"You mustn't go alone, Governor."

"We will arrange it this way: I will go in first. You can disguise and remain on the outside. If I don't come out in half an hour you can act."

Harry arranged to do this, mentally deciding there would be no half hour's wait. He agreed to take Mr. Dowd with him. "I'll give the Governor just fifteen minutes and then I'll break in," he decided.

At half-past 2 Old King Brady hurried to the grocery store, and entering found Wang seated there alone. The strange expression was still on his face. It was the look a man had from hasheesh. Old King Brady felt sure of it. He knew all about the effects of the drug. He was aware that at any instant such a person is liable to break out in a murderous fury. And so Old King Brady ought to have been prepared.

"Lood here!" he said sternly, "I am a detective from the Hotel del Monte. I want to know what has become of that young woman in the red dress who came here several hours ago."

Wang's expression changed to one perfectly bland. "Oh, what about it? The lady want see friend. She came here to get him."

"Is she here now?" Old King Brady asked. "I want to see her at once."

"Very well," replied Wang. "I'll tell her—but she is asleep."

"Take me to her," said Old King Brady in his reckless fashion.

"All right. Come." Wang pushed aside the red curtain and Old King Brady followed him into the back room. He pointed to a door across the room. "She is in there. You can go in and see her now."

And sure enough, there she was. Stretched upon a couch quite unconscious. Beside her upon the stool was a hasheesh layout. Old King Brady said, "That girl must come out of here."

He was going to say more, but the door shut with a bang, and a most diabolical laugh floated to him from the other side. He made a rush for the door—but it was locked. "I shall have to depend upon Harry."

Meanwhile he undertook to revive the girl. He gave her a tablet of caffeine and stood back to watch its effect. Then he notice a tiny thread of smoke rising through the crevices of the floor. "Great Scott! It is charcoal smoke! That fiend is trying to smother us both!"

The minutes passed, the smoke grew thicker and thicker, until Old King Brady sank unconscious to the floor.

If Harry had followed orders the old chief would have been dead, but he followed close on the old detective's heels. He and Dowd entered the store. Wang was standing in the middle of the floor.

"Look here!" cried Harry. "Where is the old man who came in here a few minutes ago?"

"In the smoking room talking with a lady. Come—I show you." Wang caught up two wet towels and, throwing one to Harry, tied the other over his mouth and nostrils. Harry followed suit. Wang crossed the room and opened the door. Harry saw the girl on the couch and Old King Brady on the floor. Without an instant's hesitation Harry sprang toward him and bent over the old detective. Wang quietly shut the door behind him. At the same instant a fiendish yell was heard outside. A scuffle followed and then a shot was fired. A second later Detective Dowd opened the door. "Get out, quick!" he shouted. "That yellow fiend tried to put a knife in me! He has a burning charcoal furnace under this floor!"

Old King Brady was taken out, and then the girl. An ambulance was called and they were both taken to a hospital. Here Old King Brady soon revived to hear from Harry that Prince Hi-Ti-Li had been found in another room, shot through the heart. It was the result of a quarrel with Wang.

Days passed before the life of Inez Van Gordon was beyond danger. Meanwhile Mrs. Fairchild disappeared. Old King Brady was in constant attendance at the hospital and he finally persuaded the unfortunate girl to return to her father, which she did.

Inez subsequently became a respectable member of society, although her mother never forgave her.

The detectives were treated most liberally, for Van Gordon was most grateful to them for the service they had rendered him. And Old King Brady saw that Detective Dowd was fully paid for his efficient work, but for which there might have been a very different ending in the case of the Prince Hi-Ti-Li and the Bradys.

TRAINING IN BANKING URGED BY FLEMING

District Association Head Addresses Delegates at Montauk Beach.

CARE IN CREDIT STRESSED

By THOMAS M. CAHILL

Montauk Manor, Montauk Beach, N. Y., June 21.—Advisability of Washington banks encouraging attendance by junior employes at American Institute of Banking courses was stressed by President Robert V. Fleming, District of Columbia Bankers' Association, at the second day's session of its convention here. Training is essential for the attainment of higher banking positions, he emphasized.

His advice followed the annual report of Washington Chapter of the Institute, presented by Past President James A. Soper, Lincoln National Bank, which, while showing a record attendance, also revealed 300 students dropping from courses. This resulted from courses having nothing more to offer them and discouragement, Mr. Soper said.

In the belief of President Fleming, speaking on "Finance and Discount Committees," the day of the one-man institution, whether that institution be engaged in banking, railroading, an industrial corporation, or a public utility company, has passed. The corporation of today, particularly with the many consolidations which have taken place, has become so large that it is beyond the possibility of one individual to keep in touch with all phases of the activities of his organization, he said. This has led to the formation of committees to handle various branches of business, and it is particularly true with respect to banking.

Poole Speaks on "Credit File."

In presenting what was described as one of the most notable contributions to the literature of bank management in years, John Poole, president, Federal-American National Bank, speaking on the "Credit File," told the members that the banker had a large responsibility to his community in the matter of sizing up people, helping those who are industrious and well-meaning, and protecting his institution against the unreliable and unscrupulous.

"It is my belief," he said, "that no amount of training or naturally keen insight will enable the banker to render his community this service unless he is vitally interested in securing a safe foundation for his decisions of currently compiled, consistently and accurately recorded and carefully studied credit information."

The crime situation is not a periodic cycle from which the public will eventually be relieved, but is is here to stay, Rome C. Stephenson, South Bend, Ind., second vice president of the American Bankers Association, told the assemblage in his address on "Watch Your Step." A career of crime has been so successfully pursued by so many criminals, he said, that new recruits are constantly being added to the gangs of the underworld and the number of crooks now operating in this country, making a specialty of robbing and defrauding banks, is appalling.

Miss Krieg Reads Essay.

The essay of Miss Catherine M. Krieg, Riggs National Bank, which won first prize in the association's contest on "Methods by Which a Bank Can Best Protect Itself Against Fraud," was read by her at the meeting. Principal suggestions offered by her were a campaign of eternal vigilance by the personnel of the bank, closer cooperation between national, State and local protective organizations, and educating the customer in fraud prevention. Miss Esther R. Lau, Riggs National Bank, second winner, read her paper, and John R. Keener, also of Riggs National Bank, will read his third prize essay later.

The report of the fiduciaries section, delivered by Frederick P. H. Siddons, American Security & Trust Co., committee chairman, stated that as the committee on taxation had recommended that an intensive study be made of the intangible tax law in Washington in order to secure some change in the law, this would perhaps be best done through the trust taxation committee, working in conjunction with the regular law and legislation committee. For such cause it was further recommended that the chairman of the trust law and legislation committee, the taxation committee and the standardization committee be, by virtue of their office, in the future, made members of the various association committees. A complete study of a community trust foundation was also recommended.

Election of the executive council of the fiduciaries section resulted as follows: David N. Houston, American Security & Trust Co.; Kenneth F. Brooks, Riggs National Bank; Erskine Gordon, Federal American National Bank; William H. Baden, Washington Loan & Trust Co.; and Barnum L. Colton, District National Bank. Chairman W. W. Hoxton, board of the Fifth Federal Reserve Bank, and E. C. Graham, director of that institution, commended the work of the association.

The I. A. "Pop" Fleming golf tournament was won by President Robert V. Fleming, Riggs National Bank.

Woman Slays Man To Save Father, 70

Daughter, 24, Kills Guest Who Refuses to Leave Her Parent's Home.

Starkville, Miss., June 21 (A.P.).—Miss Grace Noblin, 24, who killed an unwelcome guest at her home when she said the man attacked her father, had special accommodations in the courthouse tonight awaiting a hearing tomorrow.

No charges have been filed against her.

The shooting occurred at Maben, Miss., last night after the guest, Alter Bush, 45, the father of four children, had declined to leave at the invitation of J. F. Noblin, 70, the young woman's father.

"Mr. Bush, whom I do not know very well, although he is a neighbor, kept telling father he knew we were giving an ice cream supper," Miss Noblin said on her arrival here today. "Father said there was not to be any super, and finally asked Mr. Bush to leave, as we wanted to go to bed.

"Then Mr. Bush struck father, then he got the ax, and I ran indoors for a gun and shot him. He caught my hand and lifted the ax, and I shot him the second time. I am sorry I had to kill Mr. Bush."

Ford to Build 200,000 Cars at English Plant

New York, June 21 (A.P.).—Edsel Ford, president of the Ford Motor Co., returning today after a six weeks' inspection of the company's foreign activities, said that from present indications the English Ford concern would produce nearly 50,000 cars this year and that it was expected the total would reach 200,000 in another year.

Demand throughout Europe, he asserted, was increasing steadily.

UTILITIES SECURITIES RECEDE SOMEWHAT

One of Dullest Days in Month Marks Washington Stock Exchange Trading.

BANKS TO PAY DIVIDENDS

A slight recession in prices of public utilities shares yesterday marked trading on the Washington Stock Exchange in one of the dullest days of the month. Seventy listed shares and 10 unlisted shares changed hands in six transactions, while in the bond division trading in five $1,000 lots comprised the day's activities.

One lot of Potomac Electric Construction 5s sold half a point off at 100½, and two Washington Gas 5s went at a fractional recession at 99¼. Capital Traction 5s dropped an eighth of a point to 97⅞, while two 10-share blocks of the traction company's stock sold a quarter of a point off at 91¾.

Washington Railway & Electric 4s were steady, one lot changing hands at the last previous price of 85.

Fifty shares of Mergenthaler were sold in three blocks at Thursday's price, 104¾. The only other transaction was the transfer of 10 shares of Chapin Sacks 8 per cent preferred, in the unlisted division, at 107½, against a previous bid of 106 and an asked price of 110.

Banks Declare Dividends.

The announcement that dividends had been declared by the board of directors of three Washington banks, the American Security & Trust Co., the Liberty National Bank and the National Capital Bank, was made yesterday. The American Security & Trust Co. has declared the regular quarterly dividend of 3 per cent due at this time, and an extra of 1 per cent. Both are payable on July 10 to stockholders of record at the close of business on June 30. The transfer books will be closed from July 1 to 10, inclusive.

The usual semiannual dividend of 5 per cent and an extra dividend of 1 per cent, payable June 30, was declared by the directors of the National Capital Bank. Books for the transfer of stock will be closed from Monday until June 30, inclusive.

At a meeting of the board of directors of the Liberty National Bank yesterday the following resolution was passed: "That a dividend of $3.50 per share out of the earnings of the bank for the six months ending June 30, 1929, be declared, payable June 29, 1929, to stockholders of record at the close of business June 25, 1929; books not to be closed."

The transfer books of the Merchants Bank & Trust Co. closed yesterday until after the payment on June 30 of the dividend declared early this month.

Officers Are Reelected.

The entire administrative personnel of the American Fire Insurance Co. of the District of Columbia, 511 Seventh street northwest, was reelected at the annual meeting of the stockholders, it was announced yesterday following the trustees' meeting. The trustees are Charles Schafer, president; Francis A. Blundon, vice president; H. H. Bergmann, treasurer; George M. Emmerich, secretary; Victor B. Deyber, Max Walton, Harry M. Packard, Carl J. Bergmann and A. F. Jorss.

The company was organized in 1873. H. H. Bergmann, the treasurer, has been connected with it 52 years, while Mr. Emmerich has served 46 years with the company.

Bank Bandit Slain In Trap of Guards

Second May Die of Wounds Suffered When Holdup Attempt Fails.

Oklahoma City, June 21 (A.P.).—One bank robber was killed and another probably fatally wounded today in an attempt to rob the State Bank of Moore, a town eleven miles south of Oklahoma City.

The two robbers had been driving about town in a motor car arousing suspicions of bank officials, who posted an armed guard in a back room. Early this afternoon the men entered the bank and ordered Otto Haves, bookkeeper, to hold up his hands.

Hayes knocked one man down and the guard opened fire, shooting both men before they could get out of the building.

The dead man later was identified as Robert L. Von, of Altoona, Pa., and the injured man as Arlington C. Heatley, of St. Albans, Long Island, N. Y.

FOREIGN MONEY MARKET.

Paris, June 21 (A.P.).—Prices were steady on the bourse today.

Three per cent rentes, 75 francs; 5 per cent loan, 102 francs; exchange on London, 123 francs 99½ centimes. The dollar was quoted at 25 francs 57¼ centimes.

London, June 21 (A.P.).—Bar silver, 24⅝d per ounce; money, 4½ per cent; discount rates, short bills, 5⅛ per cent; three months, 5⅜ per cent.

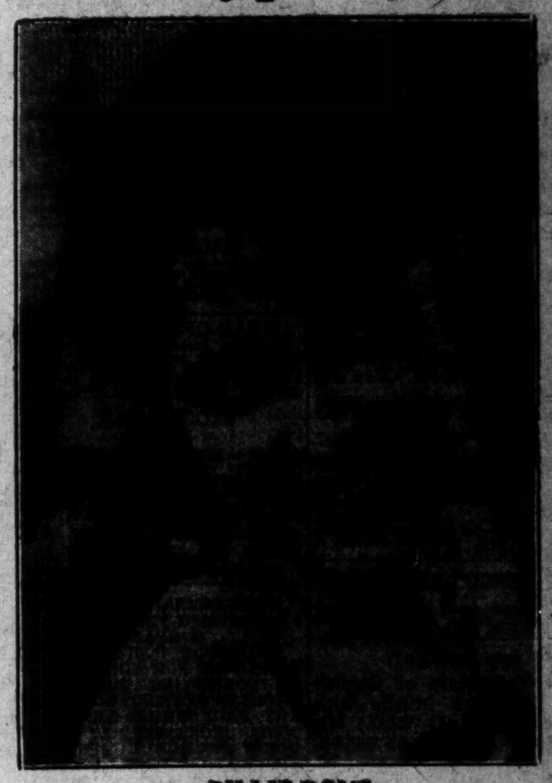
Why Go to Hollywood?

Master showmen—the producers and directors of the Fox Film Corporation will review the ten winners in

The Washington Post Fox Theater

Movie Type Quest

A trip to Hollywood, long hours of waiting in the casting room, months as an extra with never a chance for a close-up—all these barriers to a movie career are set aside for you by this unique contest, the first of its kind ever staged in Washington.



BILLIE DOVE

Dancing ability won her screen tests and the attention of movie producers.

Have You Personality?

That is what the greatest movie producers of today are looking for in their new stars. These producers look to pageants, civic celebrations and contests of this kind to bring to light new types suitable for the movies. Every city in the United States has talent simply awaiting discovery. The Washington Post hopes through the medium of this contest to discover talent in Washington suitable for Film Stardom.

An Individual Movie Test

Is offered every boy—girl—man—woman or child in Washington

THIS IS YOUR OPPORTUNITY FOR FILM FAME

MICKEY BENNETT

His acting was so intensely realistic that he literally ran away with the picture when his opportunity came in "The Dummy."

No producer could possibly personally interview the thousands of people in Washington who feel they possess movie talent. The only way to choose among these is through the medium of a film test. The Washington Post has as its producing director a professional camera man with wide experience in all angles of motion picture work. Contestants qualifying will be given a camera test equal to that of any given in Hollywood.

These films will be shown for an entire week at the Fox Theater, together with the regular program. A competent board of judges will then choose from among the tests the ten which show, in their opinion, the most screen talent and are the best types for motion picture work. These may be men, women, children, boys or girls—every one has an equal chance.

The ten films judged to be best will be forwarded to the Fox Film Corporation in New York, where they will receive the personal attention of the casting directors and producers. In addition these winners will each receive a six months' complimentary ticket to the Fox Theater.

How to Secure a Screen Test

Fill out the registration blank below in detail and secure one new yearly Sunday subscription to The Washington Post. This registers you as a contestant. Bring or mail the blank and subscription to Room 33, The Washington Post. Additional subscription blanks can be secured from the Film Test Manager. There is a sliding scale of subscriptions necessary to qualify.

Six subscriptions brought in during the first week qualifies you for the screen test. Eight subscriptions are necessary if you qualify during the second week, and ten subscriptions will be required if you wait until the last week. All subscriptions secured must conform to rules.

When required number of subscriptions have been turned in to the Film Test Manager and have been verified, you will be notified by our Production Director and an appointment will be made for your INDIVIDUAL SCREEN TEST.

RULES GOVERNING SUBSCRIPTIONS

MURDER FUGITIVE HUNTED IN SLAYING OF POLICE OFFICER

Man, Who Escaped Sheriff in Virginia, Is Sought by Armed Posses.

ALEXANDRIA OFFICIALS SEIZE EIGHT SUSPECTS

Fund for Widow and Five Children of Victim Is Begun by Citizens.

William "Kid" Lilly, alleged colored murderer of a North Carolina policeman, is sought in a rapidly broadening man-hunt as the slayer of Sergt. Charles R. McClary, of the Alexandria police force, in the Virginia city early Thursday night.

Police tentatively hung the crime on Lilly when they learned that he had been in Alexandria this week following his arrest there on June 8 by Sergt. McClary, Policeman Lawrence Padgett and Detective Sergt. Edgar Sims on charges of having wounded a colored woman in Pittsylvania County, Va., in 1925.

Lilly made a sensational and successful break for freedom the following day at Danville from a bus in which he was being taken to Pittsylvania County by Sheriff Charles A. Murphy. At the same time came word from Wilson, N. C., that the escaped prisoner was wanted there in the murder of a policeman.

Police Capt. W. W. Campbell tallied the meager description of Sergt. McClary's assailant with that of Lilly and at once linked the man with the slaying on the motive that Lilly recognized the sergeant and apparently believed McClary was seeking him.

Washington authorities, cooperating in the search, were given the description that Lilly is 5 feet 9 inches tall, weighs 160 pounds and has thick lips and gold teeth. He was wearing a dark suit and cap when last seen.

Contributions totaling $340 were received by a committee of Alexandria business men, formed under direction of the Chamber of Commerce, toward a fund to be given the widow and five children left by the slain officer. The committee, which plans to divide the city into zones for an intensive campaign for contributions, is under the chairmanship of Harry F. Kennedy and consists of Mrs. Mary W. Troth, vice chairman; James T. Preston, secretary; and Charles C. Carlin, treasurer.

McClary was mortally wounded while he and Detective Sergt. Sims were investigating a report that liquor was concealed at 525 North Patrick street. While Sims was standing at one end of the narrow alley alongside the house McClary accosted a colored man in the semidarkness of the front yard. The man suddenly wheeled and fired several shots. The sergeant died from a .32-caliber steel-jacket bullet wound in his neck.

More than twoscore colored residents of Alexandria were grilled by police immediately after the slaying, but only eight have been kept in custody for further investigation. These include Eugene and Mary Price, occupants of the house where the shooting occurred; Thebe Reynolds, an eyewitness, who observed the murder from her home across the street; Clyde ("Crip") Nelson, who recently was released from serving a jail sentence in Alexandria, and Francis Coolidge, Oliver Palmer, Allen Roy and Richard Keith, who, police believe, know more than they have told.

Funeral services for the officer are to be held at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon from the home of a sister at 427 Queen street, Alexandria, with interment in Bethel Cemetery. The American Legion and the I. O. O. F., of which he was a member, are expected to participate.

AUTO CRASH KILLS ONE, INJURES FIVE OTHERS

One man was killed and five persons were injured in this accident on the Defense Highway yesterday. Inset shows William Herman Davie, 20, 2106 First street northwest, who was seated in the rear seat of the touring car on the right. Davie died several hours later.

MAN KILLED, 5 HURT IN MARYLAND CRASH

Defense Highway Is Scene of Double Collision; Dead Man From Capital.

TWO WOMEN ARE INJURED

One man was killed and five persons injured in a double accident early yesterday morning on the Defense Highway. The dead man is William Herman Davie, 20 years old, 2106 First street northwest, a Western Union telegraph operator. The injured were taken to Casualty Hospital by the Prince Georges County Rescue Squad.

Davie died at 10:30 o'clock yesterday morning at Casualty Hospital. His skull and right leg had been fractured and he had internal injuries.

Davie was a passenger in a car driven by Francis Cogland, 1315 Massachusetts avenue northwest, in which there were five passengers. They had left work at midnight and started for a ride to cool off. According to Cogland, he had turned out of a side road into Defense Highway, about 250 yards above where the Landover road joins the highway. He saw a sudden gleam of bright lights and remembered nothing more until he was being taken into the hospital.

The other car, driven by Paul E. Goodrich, 21 years old, 1902 Naylor road southeast, collided with the right rear wheel of Cogland's car.

The Goodrich car overturned. As Goodrich climbed from the machine, a third auto, which is unidentified, crashed into the wreck and injured Goodrich, who says he was not hurt until after the second crash.

Constable Andrew Gasch, of Bladensburg, who was passing by, extricated the injured and called the Prince Georges Rescue Squad, which is housed about a mile below the scene of the accident.

Two young women, Miss Catherine Gleason, 18 years old, 1133 Fifth street northeast, and Miss Helen Nix, 19, of 1321 West Virginia avenue northeast, were placed in a car belonging to E. J. Waters, of Berwyn Heights, and taken to the Casualty Hospital by Constable George Wiseman. Miss Gleason suffered lacerations of the scalp, nose, eye and ear, and of the left arm. Five stitches were taken in her nose. Miss Nix's ankle was bruised. They were riding in the Goodrich auto.

The other injured persons were taken to the hospital in the rescue squad ambulance. Gilbert Wright, 237 Twelfth place northeast, a passenger in the Cogland car, was bruised and cut on the head. Two of his fellow passengers escaped injury. Their names were not taken by police.

Goodrich was found to have a possible fracture of the skull and of the right rib, but his condition is said to be not serious by the hospital authorities. Martin Alexander, 135 South Carolina avenue southeast, a passenger in the Goodrich car, was cut on the arm.

Goodrich is being held by hospital authorities for Maryland police and Cogland was taken to the Ninth Precinct Police Station to be held for action of the Maryland authorities. An inquest probably will be held today.

Davie lived with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Davie, at the First street address. His home is near Hickman, Ky., where his father, Jonah Davie, is a farmer. He is survived by his parents, a sister and three brothers, all of Kentucky; the aunt and uncle with whom he lived; another aunt, Mrs. Pearl Cooper, of Ballston, Va., and Miss Zora Davie, another aunt, of Washington. The body will be returned to Hickman as soon as it is released by the authorities. The youth's parents have been notified.

Woman Reports Purse Stolen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Wright, 1807 Kenyon street northwest, reported to police last night that her purse containing $20 and a membership card to the Women's City Club had been stolen from her apartment.

Pratt in Sweeping Order Forbids July 4 Fireworks

A safe and sane Fourth of July and no foolin'.

That's the goal of Maj. H. G. Pratt, superintendent of police, and woe be unto the mischievous Independence Day reveler who sells, delivers, discharges or sets off "firecrackers of any kind; torpedoes, Roman candles, skyrockets; devil chasers, son-of-a-gun bombs."

Merrymakers, howevr, may make whoopee with nonprohimited sparklers, torches, box fire, fountains, dip sticks, nonpoisonous snakes, colored lights, automatic and friction toy pistols.

His order directed that "where you find young children violating this regulation, take them to their parents, but persons of older years should be taken to the station and charged with violation of this section."

Committee Plans Fourth Activities

Band Concert, Parade and Fireworks Display to Feature Day.

Fourth of July will be appropriately celebrated in Washington this year if plans of the citizens' committee in charge of arrangements work out and if the weather does not interfere with the program arranged. The grounds around the Washington Monument will be the scene of the official celebration, which will be held in the evening.

A band concert by the United States Marine Band at 7:30 o'clock in the Sylvan Theater is scheduled to open the ceremony. This will be followed by a parade around the Monument, in which patriotic organizations will participate. The grand finale of the day will be a display of fireworks.

The following honorary committee has been named: Commissioners Proctor L. Dougherty, Sidney P. Taliaferro and William B. Ladue; Superintendent of Schools Dr. Frank W. Ballou; Charles F. Carusi, president of the Board of Education; Lieut. Col. U. S. Grant 3d; Admiral Charles F. Hughes, U. S. N.; Maj. Gen. Edgar Jadwin, U. S. A.; Maj. Gen. Wendell C. Neville and Gen. Charles P. Summerall.

Railroad Laborer Is Killed by Train

Fellow Workman Hurt as Two Dodge Engine to Be Hit by Another.

One colored railroad laborer was killed and another suffered injuries when a Pennsylvania passenger train struck them while they were working with a gang on the track about one-half mile north of Ardwick Station, Md., at 7:10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The dead man is James Hinson, 30, of Glendale, Md., while the injured man is John White, 36 years old, of Ardwick, who sustained a fracture of the right arm, contusions to the head and abrasions about the left leg. He was given medical aid at Emergency Hospital and later was removed to his home. His condition was reported as not serious.

According to the reports to police, the accident occurred while the two men were working with a gang of six others at a pneumatic machine packing ballast under the railroad ties. The noise of the packer was said to have prevented them from hearing the approach of a train on the same track until it was close by. Hinson and White ran to an adjoining track and were struck by a train approaching from the opposite direction.

POLICEMAN ORDERED TO BACK UP CHARGES

J. W. Anderson May Be Cited Before Trial Board for Graft Accusation.

SEEK BOOTLEGGER'S WIFE

Policeman James W. Anderson, of the Third Precinct, must submit today to Lieut. Joseph Morgan whatever additional evidence he may have in support of his charge of graft-taking by a brother officer.

Anderson made his charge of graft before a recent Police Trial Board, blurting out that the reason he could not pay his debts was because he was "an honest man" and did not take graft as did other policemen. Inspector Louis J. Stoll called the statement to the attention of Maj. Henry G. Pratt, superintendent of police, who assigned Lieut. Morgan to investigate Anderson's charges.

Called on for evidence in support of his charge, Anderson produced a colored chambermaid now employed in one of the large hotels, who said that she had heard the wife of a bootlegger, by whom she was formerly employed, say that a precinct detective had told her husband that he must increase his weekly payments from $25 to $50 a week, or he would be raided.

Search has been made, Lieut. Morgan said, for the wife of the alleged bootlegger to get a statement from her, but she has not been found. Anderson has been told to go ahead and produce whatever other evidence he could find to support his charges and Lieut. Morgan yesterday told him that he must submit the additional matter, if he has any, today. It is possible that Anderson will be cited before the Trial Board if he is unable to show good cause for his charge of graft.

Man Failed to Provide For Child, Wife Charges

Edward S. Handiboe, real estate salesman, was accused of failing to keep an agreement in a suit for maintenance for his child filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Mrs. Nellie C. Handiboe, of 1823 Kilbourne place northwest.

The parties were married at Wilmington, Del., on July 8, 1903, and marital difficulties, arising last September, caused an estrangement, according to the petition. In December the husband and wife entered into a written agreement, providing the wife was to have sole custody of their child and maintenance of $40 a month. Through Attorney Jean M. Bordman, the plaintiff alleged Handiboe failed to keep the agreement concerning the child's maintenance.

Marine Injured as Auto Strikes Telephone Pole

Private Guy F. Toplin, attached to Marine Corps Headquarters here, was injured early yesterday morning near Culpeper, Va., when the automobile in which he was riding sideswiped a telephone pole after hitting an obstruction in the road.

Toplin was brought to the Naval Hospital here and treated for a lacerated arm. He was returning from the President's camp on the Rapidan River, where he had gone with Private C. L. Deem, of Marine Corps Headquarters, to take supplies to the camp guards. Deem was said to have been driving the car at the time of the accident.

Park Board Urges Center Park Plan

Discusses Scheme to Get Legislation by Next Congress.

The National Capital Park and Planning Commission adopted at its monthly meeting yesterday a plan for the Sixteenth street portal subject to the approval of the Commissioners of the District. The plan calls for a center park from the District line to a large circle 1,000 feet within the District. This center park would connect with the upper valley of Rock Creek Park and the park development into Maryland.

The commission also discussed the legislative program that it will push at the regular session of Congress this December. Among those projects that will receive the indorsement of the commission are the three bills that failed to pass at the seventieth Congress, namely, the Cramptor bill, the Shipstead bill and the bill authorizing the closure of a number of streets that have been dedicated but never opened.

The commission further authorized its executive officer to appoint a committee to make a survey of the source of water supply for the District and nearby Maryland and Virginia so that the commission may have it for future proceedings.

KLOTZ SUMMARILY OUSTED FROM POST BY UTILITIES BOARD

Commission Takes Immediate Action After Letter Urging Car Fare Raise.

GEN. PATRICK APPROVES HARTMAN STAND IN CASE

Letter, Called Prejudicial to Body's Standing, Not Yet Delivered to Fleharty.

Resignation of Capt. R. G. Klotz as engineer of the Public Utilities Commission was demanded by the commission yesterday.

Klotz was told to submit his resignation effective June 30 and to leave the commission offices immediately, taking the remaining nine days of the month as annual leave.

Klotz was dismissed because of an unsolicited letter which he wrote to Ralph B. Fleharty, people's counsel, declaring that the street car companies must be given higher fares. Klotz proposed a fare on 10 cents cash with three tokens for 25 cents and intercompany transfers.

Klotz made his letter public Thursday afternoon, before it had been sent to Fleharty, and its publication caused a furore.

Ouster Comes Quickly.

Harleigh H. Hartman, acting chairman of the commission, immediately sought to call a meeting of the commission. Unable to do so Thursday afternoon, Hartman met with Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer and Utilities Commissioner, at 9 o'clock yesterday morning. It was agreed to ask Klotz for his resignation.

Formal demand on Klotz, however, was withheld while Hartman communicated by telephone with Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, commission chairman, who is absent from the city. "I'll be ——!" said Patrick when informed of the Klotz letter, and immediately gave his approval to the action of his colleagues.

Klotz readily agreed to resign when asked to do so by Hartman, and said that he would supplement his oral resignation with a written one. He returned to his desk, smiling and seemingly happy rather than perturbed, gathered together personal belongings and left the commission offices in the early afternoon.

Dismissal of Klotz was made necessary because the Utilities Commission could not be put in the light of giving tacit approval to the statements of the engineer regarding the street car fare raise, which is formally before the commission, Hartman said in announcing the speedy and sharp action which had been taken.

No Taboo on Free Speech.

Neither, Hartman said, was it to be interpreted as a proscription of the right of commission employes to free speech. "Capt. Klotz can appear before the commission at the public hearings and testify under oath, and consideration will be given his testimony," Hartman said. "Any other employe of the commission is free to do the same thing.

"But the impropriety of what Klotz did can not be questioned. As a member of the technical staff of the commission, he was in duty bound to keep an open mind on all pending cases and give to the commission the benefit of his technical knowledge, something which he could not do if he first closed his mind and adopted a partisan attitude on a case about which the facts have not even been presented to the commission.

"The Public Utilities Commission is in no way bound by the statements contained in Capt. Klotz's letter. The commission has not and will not prejudge the case.

"We feel that it is extremely unfortunate that any employe should prejudge a case when he does not know what evidence the public will present or how the figures formerly submitted by the street car companies may change. It is extremely unfortunate, too, that any employe should act in such a manner as to prejudice the commission before the public and that any such action im[illegible]ally ends the usefulness of that employe, especially with reference to a pending case."

Letter Not Yet Delivered.

Klotz's letter has not yet gone forward to Fleharty, so far as can be learned. It was written in long hand Thursday afternoon and turned over to commission stenographers to copy on commission stationery. It was signed by Klotz as engineer of the commission. Immediately Hartman became aware of the letter he forbade its being copied, except as a memorandum for members of the commission, and ordered the original letter returned to Capt. Klotz, telling him that he was, of course, free to send it to Fleharty.

Klotz yesterday had no statement for publication, although he intimated he might have considerable to say later on, though just what about was not made clear. Neither did he throw any light on reports that he had planned soon to resign and take a position with a company connected with local utilities. One report was that he was interested in the development of a modern motorbus terminal in the downtown district.

Who will be appointed to succeed him has not been determined. Acting Chairman Hartman has begun the study of applications for appointment made to the commission in the past, but commission members said they had no special individual in mind. The new commission is anxious to get a man especially qualified for its work to fill the vacancy left by Klotz, and it has been suggested that such an engineer as is needed might be found among the technical staff of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Man Bitten by His Dog Trying to Stop Fight

Eugene F. Sullivan, 28 years old, 2015 Nineteenth street northwest, took his dog and went out for a stroll last night. He walked along Florida avenue near his home when suddenly his dog and a strange dog started a fight.

Anxious to save his pet from injury, Sullivan jumped to the rescue. But the role of peacemaker proved dangerous, for Sullivan's dog resented the interference in the scrap and bit his master on the right hand. Sullivan was treated for the bite at Emergency Hospital. No report has as yet been made regarding the disposition of the dog.

MRS. HOOVER REWARDS FARM GIRL

Harris & Ewing.

Mrs. Herbert Hoover yesterday presented Miss Helen Drinker, of Virginia, with the Secretary of Agriculture Farm Trophy, presented annually to the girl best typifying 4-H Club work.

MRS. HOOVER AWARDS 4-H CLUBS' TROPHIES

Virginia Girl and Louisiana Boy Are Given Prizes at National Camp.

GRAND BANQUET TONIGHT

Mrs. Herbert Hoover yesterday presented trophies for agricultural work to members of the 4-H Club at the third national club camp on the grounds of the Department of Agriculture. Addresses were made to the club by Mrs. Hoover, Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, and Representative Ruth Bryan Owen, of Florida.

The boy's trophy was won by John C. Jackson, of Louisiana, for distinction in pig, calf, potato, forestry, poultry, garden, cabbage and bees projects, for winning numerous trips to fairs and short courses, and for serving as club leaders for four seasons in all major projects. Helen Drinker, of Virginia, won the girl's trophy for outstanding work in live stock, bread, clothing, room improvement, canning, and garden projects, as well as unusual leadership in her district club camps and community club. Her premiums alone have paid her expenses through college last year and part of this year, it was announced.

Yesterday afternoon the club members were the guests of the Washington baseball organization. They returned the compliment by making Walter Johnson, manager of the team, an honorary member of the 4-H clubs. Last evening, the club held training in recreation on the camp quadrangle. Afterward, they visited the Library of Congress.

Today's activities will begin with an address by Sir Esme Howard and Assistant Secretary Dunlap at 9 o'clock in the auditorium of the New National Museum. The afternoon events will consist of a tour of the greenhouses of the Department of Agriculture and a visit to Mount Vernon, where the club members will place a wreath on the tomb of George Washington.

The grand banquet of the present meeting will take place at 7:30 o'clock tonight at the National Press Club, and will be followed by a radio program at which Mrs. Hoover will talk. The radio program will be given in the Press Club auditorium.

Army Band Due Back From Spain Wednesday

The United States Army Band is now on its return trip from the Ibero-American Exposition at Seville, Spain. The band is expected to land in New York next Wednesday.

Upon its arrival, officials will begin making preparations for the band's third fall public concert tour, which will take it to Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Missouri, Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Texas, New Mexico, Louisiana, Mississippi, Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee, South Carolina, North Carolina and Virginia.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE REGISTRATION TOLD

Dr. Fowler Tells Plan Which May Bring Practitioners Under License Law.

FIGHT POSSIBILITY SEEN

A determined fight over the authority of the Commission on Licensure to Practice the Healing Arts to require registration of Christian Science practitioners and other types of religious healers loomed as a possibility yesterday when Dr. William C. Fowler, District health officer and secretary-treasurer of the commission on licensure, announced that the commission had formally called on Christian Science practitioners to register.

The action of the commission, Fowler said, was taken after considerable discussion and it is probable that the ruling on Christian Science practitioners will be extended to include others.

A fee of $1 will be charged for each registration, Fowler said, but declared that there was to be no effort made to determine the fitness of the practitioners by examinations or to control them by licensing at this time.

The licensing law specifically exempts from control by the commission "persons treating human ailments by prayer or spiritual means, as an exercise or acknowledgement of religious freedom." Whether this exempts Christian Science practictioners has been the subject of debate among commission members. The doubt was resolved in favor of calling on them to register, apparently leaving it up to the Christian Scientists to determine whether they will accept or fight the commission's demand.

As secretary of the commission Fowler sent letters to the Parent and Mother Churches of Christian Science in the District asking them to furnish the commission the names of all authorized practitioners and telling them to register for a $1 fee. The Parent Church has accepted the ruling but the matter still is under consideration by the Mother Church, which is the larger of the two branches of Christian Science here. Some of the leaders of the church have declared their belief that the law exempts them but said that the matter will be formally acted on in the next few days.

Two Women Are Injured In Automobile Crash

Mrs. Antonia Eveare, 76 years old, of 1108 Buchanan street, and Mrs. Jennie Kiewicz, 49 years old, of 1109 Buchanan street, each received a fracture of the arm in an automobile accident at 12:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon on Monroe street, between Twentieth and Twenty-second streets northeast.

They were injured when the car in which they were riding with Mary C. Eveare, of 1108 Buchanan street, was in collision with a truck driven by Joseph Kushner, of 3500 Eighteenth street northeast. They were given medical aid at Emergency Hospital.

POLICEMAN, GIRL, 4, SERIOUSLY INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

Former Hit While Directing Traffic at Auditorium; Latter Also Struck.

DRIVER AND 3 OTHERS SLIGHTLY HURT IN CRASH

Man, Thrown to Pavement, Escapes Death; Treated for Contusions.

A policeman and a girl, 4 years old, were injured seriously and four other persons, one man and three women, were slightly hurt in a series of traffic accidents yesterday afternoon and evening.

Elizabeth Goulder, daughter of Rufus Goulder, of the 1100 block of Second street southeast, received a fractured skull and paralysis of the right side of her face when she was struck by an automobile when she dashed across the street near her home to greet her father about 9:30 last night.

John Emory Adams, 21 years old, 816 Potomac avenue southeast, is said by police to have been driving the car which struck the little girl. After an examination of the brakes of his car, Adams was released by the police. Witnesses said the child ran out from behind a parked automobile directly in front of Adams' machine.

Girl's Condition Held Critical.

The girl was taken to Casualty Hospital, where her condition was said to be critical.

Acting Sergt. Clarence Creel, 55 years old, of 617 Keefer place northwest, attached to the Third Precinct, was injured when struck by a taxicab while directing traffic on New York avenue between Nineteenth and Twentieth streets northwest last night, where guests of Representative Oscar De Priest, colored member of Congress from Illinois, were entering the Washington Auditorium.

At Emergency Hospital, where Creel was taken following the accident, it was said he had suffered a fractured right knee, contusions of the head and possibly a fractured skull. He was conscious, however, and his general condition was reported good. An X-ray will be taken this morning to determine the extent of his injuries.

Police reported that the cab which struck Creel was operated by Irving Denenberg, 3214 Warder street northwest. The cab is said to belong to the Diamond Cab Co. Denenberg was not held.

Man and Three Women Hurt.

Earl Nicholson, 26 years old, 1355 Calvert street northwest, and three women who were riding with him in his automobile were injured yesterday afternoon in a collision at Seventeenth and L streets northwest, in which Nicholson's car was practically demolished.

Police reported the other machine was driven by Marjorie B. McClellan, 35 years old, staying at the Mayflower Hotel, whose home is at Twin Oaks, Bluemont, Va.

Nicholson was at first believed to be seriously injured, as he was thrown out of the car, but after treatment at Emergency Hospital for contusions of the chest and abdomen he left the hospital. Catherine McCune, 19 years old, 1620 R street northwest, was treated for abrasions; Opal Siegrist, 26 years old, same address, for brush burns on the face and neck, and Theresa Milane, 28 years old, also of the R street address, for lacerations of the fingers and arm.

Truck Driver Is Haled Before Three Judges

Because of alleged disregard for a barricade on Canal road northwest during construction work, Admiral D. Cooper, colored, appeared before three judges in Police Court yesterday. He was fined $10 by Judge Gus A. Schuldt for disorderly conduct, demanded a jury trial on a threats charge before Judge John P. McMahon, and was granted a continuance of a traffic charge by Judge Isaac R. Hitt.

Operating a large motor truck, Cooper is said to have driven through a barrel barricade into a street under repair on Canal road. When O. D. Liming and Harold G. McCartney, foremen of the construction work, objected to his action, the negro is said to have threatened them. Policeman G. L. Aiken, of the Seventh Precinct, who was summoned and arrested Cooper, declared he was disorderly.

Youth Held on Charge Of Stealing Automobile

Fred D. Nickens, colored, 20 years old, of West Falls Church, Va., was locked up yesterday on a charge of taking an automobile belonging to the Rev. Walter G. Summers, of Georgetown University, and going joyriding.

The car was recovered yesterday at West Falls Church, Va., near Nickens' home after he had been arrested in Alexandria, Va., with a car said by police to have been stolen from the Sanders Motor Co., 3206 M street northwest. Nickens was on his way to North Carolina when taken into custody, it was said. Detectives Jacob Wolf and Eugene Davis of Police Headquarters investigated the case.

Soldier Blames Liquor In Larceny of Camera

Ernest K. Dodson, 28 years old, a soldier stationed at 1800 C street northwest, was arrested yesterday on a charge of having stolen a camera belonging to Max J. Horn from room 1127 Munitions Building.

The camera was recovered from a pawn shop in Rosslyn, Va. Dodson admitted taking the camera, Detective James E. Kane, who investigated the case, stated, but blamed his act on drinking. Dodson has been in the Army for nine years.

Stock Salesman Held On Charge of Larceny

Vernon F. Daley, 35 years old, salesman living at the Chastleton Hotel, was arrested yesterday on a warrant sworn out by Mrs. Annette T. Walker, of the Wardman Park Hotel, charging him with the larceny after trust of $2,000.

Daley surrendered himself at detective headquarters and was released on $500 bond. Mrs. Walker alleges that Daley sold her some stock of a New York City theater with a promise that the value of the stocks would increase 40 points. Detective Howard Ogle, of headquarters, is making an investigation of the charges.

South Carolina Man Sought Here.

Washington police were asked last night by the chief of police of Sumter, S. C., to locate Blanding Upshur, who is believed to be in Washington, as his father died suddenly.

Presbyterians to Start Vacation Bible School

The annual vacation Bible School of the Central Presbyterian Church will start Tuesday for a period of about four weeks. The school is open to children from kindergarten age up to 16.

Classes have been arranged for primary, junior and intermediate ages. Courses will also be given in Bible history and hymn singing, basket making, sewing and carpentry.

The following committee is in charge: Miss Mary E. Colt, chairman; Mrs. T. G. Carr, Mrs. W. L. Fulton, Mrs. H. B. Gauss, Mrs. O. A. Price, Mrs. P. H. Tamplet and Mrs. W. W. Warwick.

The Rev. James H. Taylor, the pastor of the church, is attending the Pan-Presbyterian Council in Boston. During his absence the Rev. W. W. Shaw, of Baltimore, will preach.

Man Is Robbed of $35 While Walking in Street

Two armed colored men held up and robbed Jack Watts, of 311 Pennsylvania avenue northwest, of $35 in cash about 2:30 o'clock yesterday morning while he was walking home alone in front of 220 C street northwest.

Ed Frank, of 3108 M street northwest, reported to police that on Thursday night the window of his store at this address was smashed with a rock and that four small diamond rings valued at about $75 and a wedding ring valued at $30 were stolen.

Among a series of other minor thefts was the reported loss of a platinum wrist watch valued at $100 by Roy C. Redman from his residence at 3110 M street northwest about midnight Thursday.

Captain at Dunbar High Gets Efficiency Award

Capt. George L. Handy, H Company, Dunbar High School Cadets, yesterday was awarded the York-Newman medal for "captain's efficiency" in the Twenty-fourth Regiment of the Ninth Brigade. He had received during a previous year the medal for "sergeant's efficiency" as the best noncommissioned officer of the regiment.

He is the son of J. A. Handy, 77 R street northwest. He has planed to enter Rutgers University, New Brunswick, N. J., and continue training in the Reserve Officers' Training Corps with a view to an Army career.

Circus to Aid Asylum And U. S. Employes

Contracts have been signed with the John W. Berry Attractions of New York for a circus to be presented in Washington the first week in August under the auspices of the League of the American Civil Service, with the American Children's Aid Society to benefit from a portion of the proceeds.

Fifteen acts will be offered in a one-ring circus. The Civil Service League will use its share of the proceeds in the interest of legislation now pending to aid Government employes, while the Children's Aid Society will use its funds to repair the home it recently purchased.

Bystander Rescues Boy, 8, From Rock Creek Park Ford

Child, Wading in Stream as Mother Watches, Tries to Swim and Is Taken With Cramps; Norfolk Man Hero.

Jimmy Jones, 8 years old, 1369 Irving street northwest, narrowly escaped drowning yesterday afternoon while in wading in the ford in Rock Creek Park north of the Connecticut Avenue Bridge when he was seized with cramps.

Attracted by the child's struggles, J. W. White, of Norfolk, Va., who was standing nearby, jumped into the water and pulled him out after he had gone down twice. Mrs. O. B. Jones, the boy's mother, was sitting on the bank of the ford watching him and a large number of other children who were wading.

Mrs. Jones said, after the accident, that she and Jimmy had gone to the park because of the heat, taking their lunch with them. For a while the child waded about the ford, but gained confidence in a short while and decided to show some of the other children that he could swim.

He was immediately seized with cramps. White was standing on the bank talking to Park Policeman C. T. Gillespie, who had his motorcycle. Before Gillespie could get his motorcycle on the stand White had jumped in the water and rescued the child, who was none the worse for his experience.
